TODAY CHICAGO REJOICES—'LET FREEDOM RING'

Thousands Will Fete July 4 Holiday.

Chicago will celebrate the 163d anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence with a monster patriotic fête tonight in Soldiers' field. Smaller celebrations of the same kind will be held in Dyche stadium, Evanston, and in other communities of the city and suburbs.

The motive for most of these celebrations is to have a safe and sane Fourth, with stress laid on patriotism rather than on pop-pop-pop of fireworks. All will conclude with elaborate displays of fireworks, but the displays will be handled by pryotechnic experts.

Police to Be Vigilant.

Sporadic outbursts of contraband fireworks have peppered the air since Friday, injuring several persons. Police have been ordered to be vigilant today in finding violators of the ordinance banning the sale, possession, or shooting of fireworks.

Last July 4 Chicago had a casualty toll of 176, of which all were injuries. In the war that followed the signing of the Declaration of Independence 4,044 fighters for independence lost their lives and 6,004 were permanently disabled. Yet, from 1900 to 1930, 4,290 Americans lost their lives celebrating Independence day. Ninety-six thousand more were maimed, crippled, or blinded.

In Chicago today civic groups are seeking to substitute well rounded programs of entertainment and patriotic displays for tetanus, blindness, and death.

Fireworks in Soldiers' Field.

Thus, in Soldiers' field battleships will flame in the sky, the white crosses of Flanders field will gleam against a background of red poppies, and airplanes will zoom through the sky, all from fireworks handled by experts. Preceding them will be a three hour program of circus acts, pageantry and music, as well as a public naturalization ceremony in which 100 foreign born Chicagoans will receive their final citizenship papers.

The event is sponsored by the Cook county council of the American Legion. Sixty thousand persons are expected to attend.

Thousands of Chicagoanz streamed out of the city for the four day holiday which ends tonight. Other thousands streamed in. They, with the many millions still in Cook county, have boundless opportunity for a day of inexpensive pleasure provided by Chicagoland's far flung recreational facilities.

37 Beaches, 44 Pools.

They may swim or sun at the thirty-seven beaches stretched along Chicago's shoreline. They may splash in the forty-four pools scattered through Chicago's parks, visit the park flower displays now in bloom or play on many of the recreational fields. They may wander through the miles of wooded forest preserves, picnic, play baseball or dance. All of these are safe, sane and free.

They may roam through the galleries of the Art institute, stand in awe in the Hall of Man at the Field museum of natural history, follow the magical trail of the stars in the Adler planetarium, rhapsodize at the exotic colorings of the tropical fish in the Shedd aquarium. All of these are safe, sane and free.

They may gaze in wonder at the animals in the Lincoln park or Brookfield zoos. Both of these, too, are safe, sane, and free.

PLAN DU PAGE COUNTY FETE

A sham battle between infantry, machine gun companies, light tanks and fighting planes will feature an elaborate Fourth of July celebration this afternoon and tonight in Du Page county. Thousands are expected to witness the maneuvers which will be held in the Maple Grove forest preserve, west of Downers Grove on Naperville road.

The day has been proclaimed as Veteran's day. The celebration is part of the Du Page county centennial observance. The county was created by the state legislature in 1839.

Col. McCormick to Speak.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the guest of Du Page county authorities at the celebration. Col. McCormick will address the large audience during the afternoon.

The program will start at 2 p. m.

SMITH STARTED ON HIS WAY BACK TO BATON ROUGE

Declares He'll Fight Theft Charges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Syracuse, N. Y., July 3.—Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, and his wife were brought back to the United States tonight by Louisiana officers who are returning the educator to Baton Rouge to face charges of embezzling $100,000 of university funds.

Murphy Roden.

The couple who had been the object of a nationwide search was delivered to the Louisiana officers by Brockville, Ont., police to whom Dr. Smith had surrendered Saturday.

On their arrival at Brockville Louisiana officers seized the day by day diary of the educator's financial troubles which Mrs. Smith said she had written and 100 pages of manuscript which Dr. Smith had written about his life and difficulties at the university. The writings and baggage of the Smiths had been guarded by the Canadian officers.

Writings May Cause Stir.

The documents, which are expected to cause a stir in Louisiana political and L. S. U. circles, are in possession of Murphy Roden, arsistant superintendent of the Louisiana state police, and Bryan Clemmons, a special investigator from Baton Rouge. Neither officer would reveal what was in the documents, but it is expected they will be made public by the officers when they return to Louisiana.

The automobile bearing the Smiths was driven by Roden. Clemmons also was in the car. The party left Brockville late today, crossed the St. Lawrence river over the Wells Island bridge and arrived in Syracuse a few hours later where they will spend the night.

Before leaving Brockville Dr. Smith protested his innocence and declared he is ready to fight an indictment charging him with embezzling university funds. There had been speculation whether he would assume the blame for a shortage of university moneys or implicate others.

Smith Insists He's Innocent.

"I never in my life took a nickel belonging to any one," the educator asserted. "I am entirely innocent of any wrongdoing. Nothing has taken place which I cannot satisfactorily explain."

The former president said he was interested in getting back as soon as possible so he could "straighten out this affair, or at least to help straighten it out."

A development that attracted considerable attention was the announcement by Corp. Jet Smaridge of the royal Canadian mounted police at Brockville that he had inspected the baggage of the couple and found they contained no money or securities.

Believed He Had $40,000.

Smith had $315 in his wallet when he surrendered to Brockville police Saturday night, but Mrs. Smith said there was additional money in one of their six bags. Louisiana authorities had said Smith left there with $40,000.

The departure of the couple from Brockville was delayed by Dr. Smith's refusal to waive extradition unless he was assured he would not be separated from his wife. It had been planned to take the educator back by plane and send his wife by train.

The deadlock was not broken until Dr. Smith won his point. He and his wife then signed extradition waivers and hurried to their car and were driven away.

IT COSTS PEGGY $1.27 TO PAY A 5 CENT BET WHEN MILDRED WEDS

Kingsport, Tenn., July 3.—(AP)—Miss Mildred Hodge got her man, Miss Peggy Hudgens paid a 5 cent bet, and a telegraph company got $1.22 like this: Miss Hudgens bet her Sullins college classmate that the latter wouldn't marry Douglas Bean in 1939. Bean and Miss Hodge were married last Friday and Miss Hudgens, touring in the west, paid off by telegram—at a cost of $1.27.

PHYSICIAN DIES FROM CLAWING BY POLAR BEARS

CHARLESBOURG, Que., July 3.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph Germain of Rimouski, Que., was attacked and killed by two polar bears in the Quebec zoölogical gardens tonight while two of his children looked on unable to save him.

The physician was feeding the bears peanuts when one suddenly reached a paw through the cage bars and sank his claws in one of the physician's shoulders. Dr. Germain attempted to push himself away but the second bear reached through and caught his other shoulder.

The animals held him tightly against the bars, tearing his arms and lacerating his thigh. Then the bears released him and he fell away, dying within a few minutes. He was on a visit with a daughter and a small son.

Uncle Sam Tries to Collect Duty on Some 1695 Imports

Miami, Fla., July 3.—(AP)—Uncle Sam wants to collect duty on some imports that have been in American waters since before Sam's birth. Miami treasure hunters recently salvaged 32 cannon from H. M. S. Winchester, sunk by a hurricane in 1695. The valuable pieces are subject to duty because they came from a British man-o'-war, say the customs men, but the salvagers insist they aren't liable because the guns came here before there was any American nation.

Couple Celebrates a New Independence—Off Relief

Cleveland, O., July 3. — (AP) — Five years ago a young couple was forced to seek relief for themselves and their two children for a few months. Today they have a receipt for $237, which the wife laid on the relief office desk with the comment "I would like to pay you back for your help." Now the husband has a job and it will be a rosy Fourth, the wife said.

Refusal to Vote Anti-Red Splits Youth Parley

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The ranks of the American Youth congress were split late today when 23 of the 135 organizations in the convention walked out of the meeting because the congress voted against a resolution condemning communism.

The insurgent delegates left the hall after William Ball of Cleveland, O., representing the Young Americanist league, called on "all patriots" to walk out. Ball had introduced a resolution proposing the inclusion of communism with the congress' annual denunciation of Fascism and Nazism.

Immediately after the walkout Alfred M. Lilienthal, president of the First Voters league of New York, announced that his organization and the 22 others were "through with the American Youth congress." He declared that Dictators Hitler and Mussolini frequently had been attacked on the floor of the congress, but that neither Joseph Stalin nor communism had been criticized.

Denies Extent of Defection.

The extent of the defection was minimized later by Robert Spivack, a member of the national council, who declared only seven persons on Lilienthal's list of the insurgent organizations represented genuine youth organizations.

Ball's defeated resolution was in the form of an amendment to the creed of the congress which was adopted by its senate last night. When the 2,000 delegates in the hall were called on to vote on Ball's resolution a majority shouted "No." The delegates then voted to accept the creed itself without the amendment, and the bolt of the 23 organizations followed.

Mrs. Roosevelt Speaks.

In a speech before the congress tonight, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt indorsed the creed against which the professed anti-communist delegates had protested.

Ball's amendment read in part:

"We specifically condemn communism in America because it is opposed to the principles of a belief in God, the inviolability of human rights, private ownership of property, and internal peace." The resolution then went on to condemn Fascism and Nazism.

In presenting the amendment, Ball declared suspicion had been cast on the congress because it had not made clear its stand on communism.

PAIR OF WHITE MICE MAKE GREAT SUCCESS OF THEIR PARENTHOOD

Milwaukee, Wis., July 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Alma Mueller a year ago bought a pair of pet white mice for her children. In a short time they gnawed out of their trap and disappeared. A few months later agents of the humane society were called and they removed fifty white mice from nests within the walls. After several weeks the agents made a second call and removed approximately fifty more and a third visit was made Saturday, when two dozen white mice were found.

TWO REFORMED PIRATES FORSAKE BOUNDING MAIN

Two of the pirates slept the sleep of the just last night. They had explained to the police. The third doubtless tossed in his bed and wondered whether police were after him.

The pirates were climbing into a rowboat at the foot of 14th street yesterday when Policeman James Keneally guessed that it wasn't theirs and went aboard. One pirate said he was Anthony Volpa, 9 years old, that he lived at 1114 South Hermitage avenue, and that he was scared to death of boats. Another said he was Millio Salerno, 10, of 1026 South Hermitage avenue, and that the third pirate, a year older, had forced them into the expedition.

The policeman was about to put the third one in irons, or the brig, or wherever it is you put seafaring men who've been bad, when he began running like anything.

Delinquent Youth Escapes While on Way to St. Charles

Dwight, Ill., July 3.—[Special.]—Norman Mizer, 15 years old, who was being taken from Mount Vernon, Jefferson county, to the St. Charles School for Boys near Chicago, escaped here tonight. The boy was in custody of Sheriff Owens of Mount Vernon. As they were leaving Dwight, Norman asked permission to go to a rest room. While the sheriff waited outside the boy removed a window screen from the rest room, and climbed out. It was reported he had previously escaped from St. Charles school.

Swims River 288 Miles for the Fun of It

Glendive, Mont., July 3.—[Special.]—Munching candy bars and letting the Yellowstone river's swift current do the work, Clarence Giles floated into town tonight after a 288 mile swim downstream from Billings. The trip took him 77½ hours. The only thing he had to worry about was steering himself, and he responded readily to his helm.

Giles claimed a new world's record for fresh water swimming marathons. The old one, 281 miles down the Parana river in South America, was established in 1933 by Pedra Candiotti.

Stops to Wait for Auto.

Giles didn't exactly make a nonstop trip. He sat on the bank at Forsyth for ten minutes Saturday night, but only because the automobile in which his wife was accompanying him with supplies had broken down and he was afraid it might never catch up.

He was averaging almost four miles an hour, a speed he maintained throughout the journey, although the world's record for a mile swim is 20 minutes 57 seconds. The Yellowstone's current made the difference.

Despite the automobile's failure Giles said he does not believe swimming will replace motoring as a means of long distance travel.

Giles plunged into the river at Billings at 2:30 p. m. Chicago time last Friday in a pair of black trunks and a coating of grease. He said he was going to swim to Glendive for fun and experience, with neither a loving cup nor money as incentive.

Friends Ride in Boat.

Three friends paddled along with him in a boat, serving him candy bars, fruit juice, sandwiches, hot chocolate, and lumps of sugar. They frequently regreased him, and found it ticklish business indeed leaning out of the boat to put new grease on an already greasy man in the water. Eventually they ran out of the special grease they had brought along and had to get new supplies from shore.

During the ten minutes Giles sat on the bank at Forsyth he had sandwiches and milk that picnickers gave him.

His passage through the treacherous Buffalo rapids near Zero left him so battered and weak that he could no longer use his overhead crawl. And so he drifted all of today, guiding himself with a paddling motion.

Refuses to Give Up.

When his friends in the boat begged him to give up he told them, "I'll swim it or drown."

A cheering crowd of 4,000 lined the bank at 8 o'clock tonight when he deftly guided himself to shore here. Giles, an auctioneer who lives at Glendive, was placed on a stretcher and taker in an ambulance to the home of a friend.

The swimmer, who weighed 220 pounds when he started, had lost eleven pounds. Although tired, he was in relatively good physical condition.

'MIDDLE CLASS' WILL SET UP ITS OFFICE IN OHIO

Elyria, O., July 3.—(AP)—Walter B. Pitkin's "league of the middle class" is going to have national headquarters here, the author said today.

Pitkin, who last Thursday night launched the league, which he said is designed to help the middle class protect itself against the "predatory rich and predatory poor," said he would rent headquarters in this town of 35,000.

The Columbia university professor, author of "Life Begins at Forty," planned to leave late today for New York and return later this week.

GERMANY OUSTS GOVERNMENTS IN 5 CZECH CITIES

Nazis Avenge Action of 20 Years Ago.

PRAGUE, July 3.—(AP)—Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Germany's protector of Bohemia and Moravia, decreed tonight the removal of five city governments to "make amends for measures taken twenty years ago by the Czech régime."

The governments of the cities of Budweis, Brunn, Iglau, Ostrava, and Olmutz were dissolved. Government commissioners were appointed to take charge.

Czech quarters said the decree was designed to reëstablish the prewar status of four of the cities, then in the Austro-Hungarian empire. All save Budweis were controled by Germans, because votes were alloted according to the amount of taxes each voter paid.

Blow Up Defense Lines.

In 1918, when the Czechs joined the Slovaks to establish their republic, they took control of the cities by introducing a democratic system of voting. According to the last census only 20 per cent of the population of the five cities was German.

Prague's third line of defense, a chain of sunken fortresses encircling the city twenty-five miles from its boundaries, has been destroyed by the German military. During the last few days German soldiers have blown up many of the fortresses despite damage to crops.

DANZIG TO DRAFT LABOR

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 3.—(AP)—Danzig took two steps today to protect its interests in the crisis growing out of the quarrel between Germany and Poland over the free city and Pomorze [the Polish corridor.]

The Nazi-dominated senate decreed that all the city's workers may be conscripted for national defense labor service "vital to the state" in the event of an emergency.

The Bank of Danzig announced that henceforth it would pay interest and amortization charges on foreign loans to the free city only in blocked gulden—like Germany's dealings with blocked marks.

Pledge Fealty to Nazis.

These moves coincided with a report in Polish quarters that Danzig customs officials were taking a new oath of office pledging loyalty to "the National Socialist [Nazi] leadership of the state."

The senate's labor decree, it was stated, primarily seeks to protect Danzig's labor resources. It provides for the drafting of women as well as men for emergency service.

Foreign observers expressed the opinion that the Bank of Danzig was influenced somewhat in its decision on loan payments by the Nazi campaign to unite the free city politically with Germany.

The bank announced that the loans affected by the decision totaled 120,000,000 gold gulden—something over $30,000,000.

Certificates for Investors.

The blocked gulden in which loan payments will be made may not be converted into foreign currency or taken out of Danzig territory. Investors will receive certificates on Danzig devisen [exchange] banks for the amount due to them.

The decision affected largely American, British and Netherlands investors.

[American investors hold the 1927 Danzig harbor board loan. Wall street circles estimated there probably were not more than about $3,500,000, face value, of these bonds outstanding in America.]

Bank officials insisted there was no discrimination against foreign lenders, pointing out that interest payments to domestic investors had been subject to limitations since last April.

The bank said the chief reason for the new limitation was economic reverses suffered by Danzig since the new Polish harbor of Gdynia started serious competition. Gdynia lies at the head of the Polish corridor, near Danzig.

Charges Polish Boycott.

It was said that Polish initiative in developing Gdynia was a severe economic blow. The bank also contended that a Polish boycott of Danzig enterprises was a contributory cause.

The report that customs men were acknowledging Nazi leadership aroused uneasiness in the offices of the Polish Danzig commission, but the question of a formal protest was referred to Warsaw.

The free city lies within the Polish customs administration and customs control long has been subject of dispute.

Danzig Nazis, vigorously protesting that "the western democracies are trying to make an artificial crisis," challenged so-called British propagandists to prove that a German putsch had been planned for last week-end.

Admits Defense Preparation.

"Where is this sudden German or Nazi surprise action about which the world was being warned by London?" a high official of the Danzig senate asked.

"We are making modest preparations against a possible surprise from the Polish border," he added.

Organization of a "heimwehr" [home guard] comprised of men volunteering for emergency service was acknowledged.

Danzig's Hitler troops were kept on an emergency basis, with many men in barracks ready for instant action, but a competent source said there were not more than 3,000 such men on duty in Danzig in addition to police.

Regulations of the league of nations, under whose protection Danzig exists as a free city, provide that the city may not have military organizations.

WAR SCARE SUBSIDES

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, July 3.—The population of the Polish capital breathed more easily today as the conviction spread that war, if it comes, is at least some weeks away.

The main cause of the easing of tension, according to political circles, is a growing belief that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's advisers finally have made it clear to him that a raid on Danzig would be the signal for a general European war.

Emphasis is placed here on last Saturday's interview in Paris between Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister, and Count Johannes von Welczeck, German ambassador to France. Polish leaders assume that Bonnet stressed that Great Britain and France would go to Poland's assistance if the Warsaw government considered it necessary to intervene in Danzig.

The inhabitants of Warsaw, who yesterday were informed that Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering of Germany would visit Danzig some time this month, today were told that Hitler would visit the city between July 20 and 30. Although political circles express the belief that the visit, if it ever takes place, will be the climax of the tension, they say it is unlikely there will be any dramatic move before that date.

HUNT POLICEMAN OF WHITE HOUSE WHO VANISHED

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—Acting Captain Herbert L. Marcey of the White House police broadcast a general lookout today for Patrolman Walter M. Haywood, 46 years old, who disappeared Thursday wearing a White House policeman's badge and uniform.

Marcey said Haywood had not been seen since 8:15 a. m. Thursday when he left the Coast Guard pistol range here where he had been practicing. He was wearing White House police badge No. 28.

The acting captain described Haywood as 6 feet tall and weighing about 175 pounds. His black hair is graying slightly, his eyes are brown, he is smooth shaven, and carries himself erectly, Marcey added.

BRITAIN WATCHES DANZIG MOVES, PREMIER WARNS

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—Great Britain, France and Poland kept the wires busy today seeking to determine at just what point and exactly how to resist Nazi activity in Danzig.

As the problem was being debated, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons he had "reliable reports" which "indicate that intensive measures of a military character are being carried out in the Free City."

"A large and increasing number of German nationals," he said, "have recently arrived in the Free City, ostensibly as 'tourists,' and a local defense corps is being formed under the name of 'heimwehr.' [Home Guard]. The government is maintaining contact with the Polish and French governments regarding developments in Danzig."

Will Resist Any Change.

Britain, France and Poland already have agreed they would resist any change in the status of Danzig either from within or without, informed quarters said, and the question now has become one of determining when and how resistance would be applied.

Chamberlain's statement was regarded as significant in view of the fact that article five of the Danzig constitution specifically prohibits any militarization of the Free City without the consent of the league of nations, under whose protection Danzig exists as a free city, and considering that Britain and France, with Poland, are members of a league committee of three on Danzig.

One of the questions under consideration by the three is use of league machinery to halt Nazi activity in the free city. If the league should establish that this activity is a menace to Danzig, Poland could be summoned either alone or with other league powers to give the city military protection.

CONFERS WITH ENVOYS

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 3.—Intense diplomatic activity continued in London today even though the European situation appeared calmer. Prime Minister Chamberlain conferred with Sir Howard Kennard, British ambassador to Warsaw who flew to London on Friday to report on the Danzig situation. Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax attended the conference.

Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London who has just returned after consulting with Paris officials, also called at the foreign office.

Halifax and Count Edward Raczynski, Polish ambassador, had a long talk on the projected British loan and raw material supplies for Poland. The Anglo-Polish trade and financial negotiations which opened in London two weeks ago have struck a snag.

Envoy Home from Berlin.

There were indications tonight that the Poles are annoyed by the British government's delay in deciding how many Polish divisions it will arm with the help of credit or what form the proposed loan will take. Col. Adam Koc, leader of the Polish mission to London, returned to Warsaw for new instructions, and Ambassador Raczynski is flying back tomorrow for a conference with Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister. The ambassador expects to return to London on Friday.

The sudden arrival of Ambassador Sir Nevile Henderson by plane from Berlin tonight revived suspicions in opposition quarter here that despite the warnings which Britain has hurled at Germany and the repeated assurances of support for the Poles, Chamberlain is seeking to induce the Polish government to open direct conversations with Hitler over Danzig.

BRITISH DISCOVER FOURTH OF JULY; FORGIVE OLD FOE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 3.—British hands across the sea propagandists today discovered the Fourth of July. The date, the Evening Star said, "seems suddenly to have slipped into the English calendar and American commemoration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is viewed with the same sympathetic understanding that marked the day King George VI. of England placed a wreath on George Washington's tomb."

The presence of the duke of Kent at an Independence day banquet of the American Society here tomorrow is called "another happy link in the new chain of Anglo-American friendship forged by the king and queen during their visit."

The British Broadcasting corporation will do its bit to prove that the American rebels are forgiven by broadcasting a Fourth of July play which is announced as being based on "historical evidence and facts."

British Get Soviet Reply to Alliance Proposals

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 3.—The Russian reply to the most recent British formula for a British-French-soviet pact, which is said to involve concessions to the soviet viewpoint, reached London tonight. Details were not disclosed, but it was understood there was only partial acceptance. Copies of the reply were handed to the British and French ambassadors in Moscow today.

HITLER STRIVES TO GET BULGARIA ON GERMAN SIDE

Premier of Balkan Nation to Be Feted in Berlin.

BERLIN, July 3.—(AP)—Nazidom went out of its way tonight to reassure the world that Adolf Hitler had no intention of forcing the issue with Poland as the Fuehrer suddenly returned to Berlin to cultivate Germany's influence in the Balkans.

Officials and the press made sport over those who predicted a Nazi putsch in Danzig yesterday. Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop prepared to welcome Premier George Klosseivanoff of Bulgaria with assurances that they are in full sympathy with Bulgaria's desires for revision of the treaty of Neuilly.

[Under the treaty, signed in November, 1919, Bulgaria ceded small portions of territory on her western frontier to Jugo-Slavia, and gave up larger sections to Rumania and Greece.]

Premier's Visit Called Important.

Hitler's unexpected return—the first since he went to his Berchtesgaden summer home June 7—indicated the importance which German leaders attached to receiving the Bulgarian premier. The latter is scheduled to arrive Wednesday.

One Nazi said the visit was "an indication that more and more it is being recognized that political hopes—not to mention economic ones—can only be realized through collaboration with Germany."

The Bulgarian premier, due for a three day stay, will be fêted as an important state visitor and will be housed in Bellevue castle, the new Nazi guest house. Hitler will give a state banquet Wednesday night.

Germany now takes about 60 per cent of Bulgaria's exports and delivers 75 per cent of her imports. The Nazis hope through expressions of sympathy for Bulgaria's treaty revision aspirations and through developing trade to prevent the country from entering the British-French front.

Says Chamberlain Errs.

Meanwhile, a government spokesman, in one of the clearest utterances any official has given since recent tension over Danzig, said: "Germany has no intention of forcing the issue. We have no desire to go against the territorial integrity of Poland. If we had wanted to let the matter come to military action we could have done so any day."

The spokesman took exception to Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement in the house of commons today that Germans were entering Danzig. He said the prime minister erred in several statements.

"There are no German soldiers going into Danzig with tourist skirts on," he said.

Japanese Halt Milk Supply to Tientsin British Concession

SHANGHAI, July 4.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Japanese blockading the British and French concessions at Tientsin were reported today to have cut off, in effect, virtually all milk supplies for the foreign areas in which more than 189,000 persons reside.

Tientsin's Russian dairymen refused to bring in any milk, save that for the British military hospital. They reported Japanese guards detained some of them at the blockade barriers yesterday for as long as five hours. In that time the milk spoiled and the Japanese, according to dispatches from Tientsin, dumped it as worthless. The supply of milk had been curtailed, along with other food, in the blockade which started June 14.

Charge Briton with Insults.

Japanese police in Tientsin arrested and held Edward Theodore Griffiths, second officer on the British coastal steamer Yochow, who was accused of using insulting language toward Japanese soldiers.

The Japanese controled river pilots' guild added to the inconveniences imposed on the British by refusing to pilot British vessels up the Hai river from Tangku, Tientsin's seaport, between 6 p. m. and 4 a. m. British shipping officials said this would mean a twenty-four hour delay in some cases.

The stiffening attitude of the Japanese military in North China was regarded as intended to strengthen the hand of Japanese negotiators at a conference which may start today in Tokio to settle the controversy. [The chief Japanese negotiator, Sotomatsu Kato, yesterday was appointed Japanese minister-at-large in China.]

Establish Zone at Foochow.

Meanwhile Japanese authorities announced establishment of a "provisional refuge zone" on Nantal island, opposite Foochow, South China seaport, which is the target of an impending Japanese offensive. A Japanese force landed 50 miles from Foochow on Sunday and it was believed capture would be attempted soon.

A "mid-China government" was established yesterday at Hankow under Japanese auspices, Dr. Jermyn Lynn becoming minister of justice. Thus far he was the only official of the regime, designed to control Hupeh, Hunan and Kiangsi provinces.

Dissolve Shipping Firm.

HONGKONG, July 3.—(AP)—The Supreme court of this British crown colony today ordered liquidation of the Hongkong office of a Chinese shipping concern, the Ching Kee company, forestalling Japanese control of six small ships in refuge here.

By its decision the court upheld a Chinese wartime law providing punishment for Chinese trafficking with the enemy.

TAVERN OWNER VICTIM OF GIRL'S MYSTERY SHOTS

Antony Marino, 36 years old, owner of the Green Lantern tavern at 1655 North Damen avenue, was the victim of a mysterious shooting early today. A comely brunette, known only as "Leona," about 25 years old, shot at him five times, without apparent reason, and he was wounded in the left side and leg. He went to St. Elizabeth's hospital, where he first told police he had been shot in resisting a holdup.

A different story was told when Miss Gladys Sieben, 23, 1510 North Talman avenue, "26 girl" at the Green Lantern, and Philip Kline, 40, 858 North Wood street, appeared at the North avenue police station. Miss Sieben told Detective Kevin Ryan that after the tavern closed, she, Marino, Robinson, and Leona got in Marino's car to go to their homes.

In front of 1304 North Leavitt street the car stopped and Leona alighted. She said to Marino: "I want to talk to you a minute." As he got out of the car she fired the five shots and fled. Police believed she lives in the vicinity of the shooting and are seeking her. The condition of Marino, who is 36 and lives at 2070 Polk street, is not serious.

CONGRESS READY TO QUIT; PERILS SPENDING PLANS

Action on Neutrality Also Appears Doomed.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—An early adjournment of congress, which would necessitate sidetracking President Roosevelt's 3 billion 860 million dollar spending-lending scheme and the administration's war policy program, was predicted in well informed congressional quarters today. Most leaders believe the session will be ended between July 15 and 20.

The huge spending-lending scheme has met rebuffs since President Roosevelt proposed it to congress almost two weeks ago. The proposed legislation has not been introduced and some of the administration's own leaders are distinctly hostile toward it.

The administration's last hope of revising the existing neutrality act for the purpose of taking sides with England and France in Europe's next war was believed to have gone out the window Friday night when the house of representatives inserted a modified arms embargo in the state department bill. This was an administration upset, as the prime object of revising the existing neutrality act was to repeal the arms embargo.

Outlaws Trade in Arms.

The present law prohibits the shipment of arms, ammunition, and implements of war to belligerents, while the bill passed by the house would outlaw trade in arms and ammunition. Presumably it still would permit the shipment of airplanes to belligerents.

The senate foreign relations committee will meet Wednesday to consider the house bill and various other pending proposals to amend the neutrality act. The Roosevelt internationalists and interventionists are opposed to the modified arms embargo of the house bill, while the nationalists do not believe it goes far enough. They want an absolute arms embargo, taking the position that any change in the present law at this time, in contemplation of a particular situation in Europe, would be unneutral and provocative in effect and ultimately would involve the United States in war.

Agreement Appears Doubtful.

Thus it appears extremely doubtful that the foreign relations committee will be able to agree on any kind of bill. There were predictions in many quarters that the subject of neutrality act revision would never reach the senate floor at this session.

Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho], leader of the nationalists, declared: "The action of the house has made it practically impossible, in my judgment, for the senate to agree upon any program."

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], also a member of the foreign relations committee, was another who predicted that there would be no legislation on the subject of neutrality at this session.

Work on Monetary Powers.

Administration leaders were concentrating their efforts on legislation to revive the President's dictatorial monetary powers, which died at midnight Friday when a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats blocked a senate vote on the legislation. While conceding that the powers expired by statutory limitation, the administration has been advised by Attorney General Frank Murphy that adoption of the extension legislation at any time will resurrect them.

The senate will vote at 5 p. m. Wednesday on the conference agreement, which the house approved eight hours before the Friday night deadline. The conference agreement on the monetary powers bill extends for two years the President's power to devalue the dollar from 59.06 to 50 per cent of its former value, extends the 2 billion dollar stabilization fund for two years, continues the administration's foreign silver purchase program, and fixes a mandatory price of 71 cents an ounce for newly mined domestic silver.

Close Vote Is Expected.

It is conceded on both sides that the vote on the conference report will be extremely close. Some of the shrewdest observers in the senate refused to predict the outcome. Administration leaders claim they have the votes to adopt the conference report, but opposition leaders question their claims.

If the senate should vote down the conference report, it would constitute an even greater repudiation of the administration's tactics than the refusal of the senate to permit extension of the monetary powers last Friday night. If the senate should adopt the conference report, the President's powers could be exercised only under a cloud of doubtful legality, and the controversy would go to the courts and into the 1940 presidential campaign.

Roosevelt Stand Given.

Before the Friday night deadline, both President Roosevelt and Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky took the position that the powers would expire at midnight, June 30, without passage of the extension legislation, and that they could not be revived once they had expired without legislation ab initio [from the beginning].

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said the 2 billion stabilization fund, under the law, would revert to the general fund. Senate legal experts now demand to know how the 2 billion dollars can be taken out of the general fund without legislation appropriating it.

$1,000 Promotion

New York, July 3.—(AP)—It took $1,000 in cold cash to boom blonde Betty Hutton to the eminence of "America's No. 1 jitterbug," Band Leader Vincent Lopez told a Supreme court judge today in a written reply filed with the court. Contesting an application for appointment of a receiver for Vincent Lopez Enterprises, Inc., Lopez denied that he spent the corporation's funds to exploit the singer, but said he spent his own money.

Justice Ernest L. Hammer denied the receivership application filed by Mrs. Agnes V. Russell. She charged that Lopez worked at Billy Rose's Casa Manana, now closed, for $1,550 a week when he could have made more elsewhere."

JAPANESE BATTLE TO OUST MONGOLS IN MANCHUKUO

NEAR THE MANCHUKUO-MONGOLIA FRONTIER, July 4.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Japanese forces on the northwest Manchukuo frontier pushed a campaign today to oust soviet-Mongol troops massed near Lake Bor, scene of bitter border fighting for almost two months.

Japanese said the soviet forces numbered at least 3,000 men, but Japanese strength was not disclosed Both sides apparently were well supported by artillery, tanks, and aircraft.

[In Hsinking, the Japanese army announced they had captured a strongly fortified hill along the Khalka river and thirty tanks which were encountered in a dawn battle yesterday at the start of their offensive.]

Japanese accused the soviet-Mongol forces of occupying positions 12 miles east of the Khalka, inside Manchukuo, with two cavalry divisions, two brigades of a mechanized corps, artillery and tanks supported by aircraft operating from bases west of the river.

BABY BOY FOUND IN SHOPPING BAG LYING IN ALLEY

A baby boy of unknown parents slept in comfort yesterday in the County hospital, where he was taken Sunday night by Brighton Park police.

The child was found by Mrs. Marion McBride, 3228 South Wood street, in the alley behind her home. She heard a baby crying, and discovered him in a paper shopping bag under a tree near the back fence.

Physicians at the hospital said the child was about twelve hours old and weighed 8 pounds. There was no evidence that the exposure had been injurious. After eight or ten days in the hospital, police said, the infant probably would be taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

AUTOGIRO TESTS SPEED OF RELAY AIR MAIL FLIGHTS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 3.—[Special.]—In a series of test flights today an autogiro cut to six and one-half minutes the time for delivering mail between Central airport, just outside Camden, N. J., and the Philadelphia postoffice. A mail truck covers the route in from forty to forty-five minutes.

The new autogiro service from the postoffice roof to the airport is scheduled to begin on Thursday afternoon at a ceremony in which aviation and postoffice officials will participate. Philadelphia was chosen for this experiment which may be followed in other cities.

JOURNEY ACROSS MEXICO ISTHMUS A HARD 2 DAY TRIP

Route in Decline Since Panama Got Canal.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VERA CRUZ, Mexico [By Mail.]—Only a few Mexicans and rarely a tourist take the two day train ride across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, the southern neck of Mexico between the Atlantic and the Pacific. The isthmus is 125 miles wide at its narrowest point, but the train ride from Vera Cruz is 300 miles.

Heavy line locates rail route across Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

The trip is not recommended for comfort. There are no motor roads all the way across and no air service, so the combination train—half freight and half passenger—is the only transportation.

The train leaves Vera Cruz at 9 a. m.—or about that time—and heads southwest along the Atlantic shoreline. Behind an antiquated small steam engine are four freight cars, a mail and express car, two second class and one first class passenger cars. The first class car corresponds to the day coaches on our inland southern railways. The second class cars have wooden seats.

Once a Busy Road.

It is week-end travel and the coaches are about half full. Before the Panama Canal was built two passenger trains daily and a freight train every hour started across the isthmus from each coast.

Now the line is carrying about 200,000 tons of freight yearly—mostly fruit and salt from Salina Cruz—while at least 450,000 tons would be needed to keep the road out of the red.

The effect of the collapse since the Panama Canal took away trafic is not noticed so much at Puerto Mexico; there is oil business there; nor at Vera Cruz, which has the Mexico City trafic, but it is at Salina Cruz, the ghost town terminus on the other side of the isthmus.

Years ago Salina Cruz was a booming trafic center of 30,000 population; now it has less than 5,000. Sleep, beer drinking, billiards, and domino playing are the principal occupations. The Chinese who manages the hotel is the champion domino player, while a Japanese shopkeeper is accorded the billiard honors.

Frequented by Japanese.

An American who has gone native by marrying an Indian girl reports that small groups of Japanese frequently visit Salina Cruz for a day or so and depart. Many cameras are always in evidence.

The scenery along the train route is semi-jungle and not attractive. Occasionally, near the center of the interior, the heavy vegetation opens up and offers some quite attractive level expanses of grass, with goats, sheep, and cattle tended by gaily dressed herdsmen.

Once in a long while one may see a Mexican caballero on a small mangy pony with serape, large sombrero, and guitar. The train stops frequently at small grass hut villages.

In midafternoon of the first day, the train reaches Loma Bonita, the pineapple center of Mexico. Two and four ox carts jam the ways as their cargo is loaded into the freight cars.

Another little town is a banana shipping point. Here pack burros bring the bunches of fruit to the train. Each little animal has two or three bunches tied to a pack saddle.

Peddlers Plentiful.

Food peddlers and beggars are plentiful at all stops. One has a three legged dog tagging along when he comes through the car begging food. He scoots when the train begins to move. The most effective worker is the blind man who rides from one station to the next, making a speech for donations en route.

Nearer the west coast, coconuts are the product rather than pineapples or bananas. No one seems to eat the meat, but the milk is popular.

All day long and on through the night the train meanders at about 15 miles per hour. The crew is inefficient but courteous. The inevitable guard of five soldiers are asleep along the benches in the first coach.

Women Wear Distinctive Dress.

Ixtepec is reached at 4 a. m. and there is a 12 hour wait. A fairly equipped, little hotel helps pass most of the time. The town is thoroughly Mexican, with a population of 12,000.

From Ixtepec to Salina Cruz is three hours by train, or if one wants to risk it, there is a bus line running over this section. The two sizeable towns of Tehuantepec and Juchitan of about 15,000 population each, are along the way. The two places are rivals to the extent of their women wearing distinctive clothes.

On the return the traveler has the alternative of leaving Salina Cruz at 6 a. m. by train and staying in Ixtepec from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m. or catching the bus at 2 p. m. and riding across country for five hours to Ixtepec. Taking the bus is recommended for persons seeking new experiences—comfort not counted.

A Bus Ride in Mexico.

The bus is a small American car with home made body having two longitudinal benches seating eight persons each. There are thirty-two persons aboard. Bags, baskets, junk, and bundles are piled chest high. A slight move is impossible.

As the ride begins, rain comes in torrents. The much overloaded bus slides about over the road that is no more than a lane. Some little ponds and then veritable lakes appear. The water gets deeper. The engine stalls. First it is because of a disconnected fan belt. It stalls again. Out go the wrenches and something else is done.

The chauffeur now has his assistant, who also carries a rifle and acts as guard, wading ahead to test the depth. A third stall and more tinkering. Water is now covering the TOP of the front fenders. Kids begin to yell. Night is closing in. Mile after mile of deep water.

The novice American rides in amazement. By far the most expert car handler this traveler ever met was the little Mexican boy chauffeur who brought his cargo through to Ixtepec.

TWO GROUPS MAY REAP WINDFALL FROM SALES TAX

$1,912,700 Set Aside by Legislative Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 3.—The passage of a bill to appropriate $1,912,700 for sales tax refunds has given emphasis to a peculiarity in administration of the 3 per cent levy which may allow building contractors and optometrists to reap a profit on the tax, a great part of which was paid by consumers.

The bill was one of a large batch whipped through the closing days of the 61st general assembly and now being examined for legal defects by Attorney General John E. Cassidy and his staff pending their presentation to Gov. Henry Horner for his signature.

The refunds for which the appropriation was made are claimed under a Supreme court decision of 1937, which held that building contractors and optometrists need not pay the sales tax.

Portions Ruled Illegal.

The court held the tax illegal on that portion of the business of optometrists and building contractors which consists of services rendered rather than goods sold. In ordering refunds the court acted on the theory that the tax is an occupational tax imposed on the seller and not on the buyer, though it really is paid by the buyer. Therefore the refund is considered a windfall to the contractors and optometrists.

The proposed appropriation provides $912,700 for refunds claimed to date by 830 companies and persons, and an additional $1,000,000 to meet similar claims which are expected to be presented later.

When the bill was introduced by Senator Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski] it called for only $170,000, but in the final week of the session it was plastered with amendments which increased that sum more than eleven times.

Attorneys Solicit Fees.

It was reported that after the bill was introduced, potential claimants were solicited by attorneys and others who offered to present a claim in return for 10 per cent of any refund eventually obtained. Under this stimulus, an originally modest list of claimants swelled to 830.

S. L. Nudelman, director of finance, said there was no need for claimants to employ agents to get refunds. His department never has required or advised that claims be filed through intermediaries, and none will receive special consideration, he said.

Senator Hubbard said today that nearly all claimants requested the total amount of their sales tax payments. The department of finance would have to audit the claims in the light of the court decision to determine how much money is owing.

Inasmuch as the tax refund bill appropriates $1,812,700 above the amount apportioned for this purpose in the tentative budget, it will receive close attention by Gov. Horner, who is determined to top $8,000,000 from appropriations to bring them into balance with expected revenue for the biennium.

Two Ex-Convicts Arrested Trying to Rob Liquor Store

Two ex-convicts were seized yesterday by Fillmore street police while attempting to rob a liquor store at 3346 Madison street. They are Edward Mulligan, 32 years old, and George Derington, 38. They gave their address as 1513 Adams street. A neighbor called Policemen Michael Fleming, Murray Rover, and William Tyrell to the store. They said they found Derington inside filling empty pillow cases with bottles of whisky and Mulligan keeping watch on the outside.

GUARD FREEDOM, NATION WARNED BY CHURCH GROUP

Demagog Peril Cited in July 4 Proclamation.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Chicago Church federation issued a Fourth of July proclamation yesterday which asked the country not to buy security from demagoguery by selling its freedom. It asked churchmen to look at the history of American independence to see forces now at work which in time will wreck it.

The proclamation, made in behalf of the 1,060 churches belonging to the federation, was prepared by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield of Irving Park Methodist church, federation president. Indifference toward the problems of free government and leaning on government instead of service to government were described as the chief destroyers of liberty.

Greatness Rests on People.

"America's greatness will not rest on the gold and silver hoards buried at Fort Knox and West Point, or on vast domain and fruitfulness of soil," sad Dr. Wakefield. "America's greatness and freedom, as in the past, will rest on the moral fiber and character of the American people.

"Our fathers established broad bases of our liberties in the constitution, but to tyrants in hours of crisis constitutions become scraps of paper. Assurances of freedom written in the basic law will be unavailing when, in weakness, people yield the glory of freedom for a demagog's assurance of security. Liberty is a sensitive flower that will not long bloom on the stock of an indifferent citizenship."

The proclamation said that present day Nathan Hales might reverse the declaration that their only regret is that they each have but one life to give to their country and, instead, plead for a couple more governments to lean on.

Ideals of Service Cited.

"Never in our history have men individually and as organized groups sought so much from government rather than to give proper devotion to government," said the proclamation. "Washington left a life of ease and gave life and fortune to sustain the cause of American freedom. Haym Salomon gave his fortune to liberty's cause and died almost in want."

The proclamation closed with a plea for more men like District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri and others who give without stint to the building of righteousness in the commonwealth, irrespective of personal causes.

EDUCATORS OBSERVE CENTENNIAL OF FIRST TEACHERS' COLLEGE

San Francisco, Cal., July 3.—[Special.]—The 100th anniversary of the nation's first state teachers' college—founded at Lexington, Mass.—was observed tonight at a dinner attended by delegates to the 17th annual convention of the National Education association here.

Rose A. Clark.

Earlier in the day thousands of teachers from every state in the Union heard Reuben T. Shaw of Philadelphia, president of the association, keynote the convention with a plea that the federal government provide financial assistance for schools.

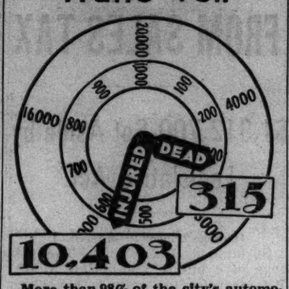
Miss Rose A. Clark of Chicago, supervisor of high school art for the Chicago board of education, is chairman of the nominating committee of the association's department of art. Among candidates on the slate to be presented to the convention is Miss Clara MacGowan, associate professor of art at Northwestern university, for president.

W. G. Cruden Reappointed as Jury Commissioner

Judges of the Circuit, Superior, Probate, and County courts yesterday reappointed William G. Cruden to a three year term as a jury commissioner. Mr. Cruden's term expired Saturday. There are three jury commissioners.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1939 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

DRIVER, 17, GETS 30 DAY TERM FOR FLEEING CRASH

Casimir Janusik, 17 years old, 1709 Kimball avenue, was sentenced yesterday to thirty days in the county jail by Judge Eugene J. Holland in Boys' court for leaving the scene of an accident on June 26. Janusik failed to stop after his automobile struck Richard Hartl, 9, in front of the latter's home at 1723 Crystal street. Witnesses testified that Janusik tried to chase a group of boys off the street by driving his car at them, and struck the Hartl boy. A motion to vacate the sentence was continued until Friday.

WEEK-END AUTO DEATHS TOTAL 172 FOR NATION

Automobile accidents over the weekend killed 172 persons in the United States, according to records compiled yesterday by the Associated Press. Motorists were warned again that the Fourth of July holiday usually takes a heavy toll.

A total of 110 persons were killed last year in trafic accidents over the holiday. Nine were killed in Illinois.

Miss Sadie Nagel, 43 years old, died in the People's hospital yesterday of injuries when she was struck by an automobile at 16th and Canal streets. She lived at 2125 Cullerton street. The car was driven by Joseph Burkhart, 34, of 306 North Menard avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 406 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. During the same period 315 were killed and 10,403 injured in Chicago.

ORDER JURY QUIZ IN WILL COUNTY JUDGESHIP RACE

Circuit Judge James V. Bartley instructed the Will county grand jury in Joliet yesterday to investigate rumors that gambling and vice syndicates interfered with the June 5 judicial election. He also instructed the jurors to find out whether the syndicates had been helped by connivance of officials. The grand jury also was ordered to investigate charges that illegal acts were performed in the attempted settlement of the cases of Herbert and Ben Jones, former county treasurers, who were accused of forgery in a shortage of county funds.

SMITH'S FLIGHT TOLD BY FORMER GOVERNOR LECHE

Surprised at the Action of L. S. U. Chief, He Says.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baton Rouge, La., July 3.—Former Gov. Richard W. Leche tonight gave his version of the operations of Dr. James Monroe Smith, ex-president of Louisiana State university, who is under indictment on charges of embezzling $100,000 of university funds.

The former governor declared he was responsible for the investigation of Dr. Smith's income tax returns by the United States department of justice.

Leche, who has retired to his country estate at Covington since he resigned as governor last week and was succeeded by Lieut. Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey P. Long, still is Democratic national committeeman.

Denies Being in WPA Scandal.

Some political groups conjecture he may control the Louisiana delegates to the 1940 convention. He favors a third term for President Roosevelt, and a month ago had a long talk with Postmaster General James A. Farley at Hot Springs, where he was treated for arthritis.

Leche today denied that WPA labor or materials had been used on his estate in St. Tammany parish, a few miles outside of Covington. His name was among others mentioned in a general affidavit read into the senate committee record on June 21 by Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.].

In this affidavit, six men charged dishonesty and corruption in the use of PWA funds at the university and at private homes of some of the officials.

Refers to Nation's Gold Hoard.

"If I wanted to rob Uncle Sam," said Leche, "I wouldn't do it through a couple of WPA workers. I'd hire a steam shovel and move in on Fort Knox, Ky."

More than 15 billion dollars of the nation's gold hoard is stored at Fort Knox.

Leche said he engaged George Caldwell, who was forced out as construction superintendent at the university today, as a private contractor to build his barns and paid for them by check. He said he had no knowledge of where Caldwell got the labor or the materials.

Smith Had Salary of $18,000.

Dr. Smith had a salary of $18,000 and perquisites, such as a car and driver, a fine home, free gas and electricity. As to the 2 per cent cut on construction costs authorized to Caldwell, by board resolution, rescinded this week, Leche said he knew nothing about it. Smith, as secretary of the board, prepared the minutes and he had a free hand at the university.

A year or so ago Leche said he heard rumors that somebody was getting a cut on building appropriations. So he called in W. A. Cooper, state collector of revenue, and asked him to investigate. Leche said Cooper put auditors to work and reported the university had grown so fast and that the system of accounting had become so antiquated that any one handling cash was in a position to help himself, if inclined.

"We learned," said Leche, "that a man in the university book store would take a sack of money to the university auditor. Nobody knew how much should have been in the sack."

Tries to Hire State Auditors.

According to the former governor, Cooper told Leche that Dr. Smith was offering the state's auditors higher pay to come to work for him. When it was brought to the attention of Leche that Dr. Smith was trying to hire the accountants from Cooper, Leche said he sent for Rufus Fontenot, collector of internal revenue, and told him he had suspicions of Smith.

"I asked him to make a thorough investigation," said Leche. "And he told me 'all right, but I can't be responsible for where the chips may fall.' I said 'Go ahead, let the chips fall where they will.'

"Mr. Fontenot went ahead and it was the result of that investigation that furnished the basis for the federal investigation now under way into Dr. Smith's income tax status."

Speaking of the resignation of Dr. Smith as president of the university Leche said on Sunday, June 25, Dr. Smith telephoned from New Orleans asking for an appointment. He showed up at the mansion at 1:30 p. m., Leche said, and remarked he had "done a very foolish thing, borrowing $200,000 without authorization of the board."

Leche said he was amazed at this disclosure, and told Dr. Smith to "go home and rest up until we look into the matter."

The governor then sent for Attorney General David M. Ellison and Cooper. Supreme Court Justice John B. Fournet came later to the governor's mansion.

Later, Leche said, Dr. Smith returned and admitted that in addition to the unauthorized borrowings he [Smith] had "opened a trading account on behalf of the university." [Supposedly to build up an endowment by cornering the wheat market.] After this disclosure by Smith, Leche said he asked him: "Well, Doc, do you want to get out the hard way or the easy way?"

Smith said he would resign. Leche said he instructed an assistant attorney general to write out a resignation. Smith said he would sign it, but only if it "contained nothing else." When he signed Smith left.

Doesn't Think He Is Criminal.

As to the two hours or so of start Smith obtained before the state police started their search, Leche said: "I did not order the arrest of Smith, and I haven't ordered it since. I didn't know he had become a criminal and I don't know it now. If the attorney general is right that the loans made from the banks [there were $500,000 of these] were invalid, I don't see where the state or the university lost anything.

"I certainly didn't expect Doc. Smith to run away. A Dillinger or a Capone might have some chance to run, but not an amateur like the Doc—he was known from one end of the state to the other."

Leche's Blood Pressure Soars.

After Smith signed his resignation and left the mansion, Leche said Cooper went to his office and discovered the "assets" of Smith's marketing operations [in wh'ch he is estimated to have been shorn of $500,000] were on his state income tax return. Then, Leche said, Attorney General Ellison asked Gen. Louis Guerre, head of the state police, to arrest Smith. The hunt was on.

Leche said the experience sent his blood pressure up 16 points, according to his physician.

Revelations that Mrs. Smith had written a day by day account of Dr. Smith's financial troubles and that he had been writing a 100 page story of his life and difficulties at the university have stirred political and L. S. U. circles. The documents, which are in possession of Louisiana officers, might well blow the political lid off. However, no inkling of the contents of the writings has been made public.

She Gets Hit

MRS. ALICE ORAS.

Their wedded life was happy, Mrs. Alice Oras, 22 years old, testified yesterday, as long as she kept her husband, Andrew, in spending money. But when she objected, said Mrs. Oras, who lives at 3638 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, Oras struck her. Judge Robert C. O'Connell granted her a divorce.

THREE WINNETKA YOUTHS RESCUED AS KAYAK UPSETS

Three shivering youths were hauled into a coast guard speedboat yesterday a half mile off Winnetka after their 12-foot kayak capsized. With their boat in tow, Boatswain's Mate Albert Delamater brought them to shore. The rescued are Karl Humphrey, 19 years old, owner of the boat, who lives at 520 Ash street, Winnetka, and is the son of H. K. Humphrey, chairman of the Winnetka Trust and Savings bank; Mason Gaffney, 15, of 525 Ash street, son of Matthew Gaffney, superintendent of New Trier High school, and Donald Haase, 605 Cherry street, Winnetka, son of Edward C. Haase, president of the First National Bank of Winnetka.

THETIS SURVIVOR TELLS OF HEROISM ON SUNKEN SUB

Praises Men Who Tried to Close Torpedo Tubes.

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—A survivor of the submarine Thetis disaster gave a calm account today of how one after another of the 103 men aboard her tried and failed in efforts to bring up the craft.

Try to Close Torpedo Tube.

He said the craft plunged to the bottom after water flooded two forward compartments through a torpedo tube and volunteers tried to enter the bow to close the door that somehow caused the disaster.

One was an officer who put on the Davis apparatus and tried to work into the compartments through an escape chamber. The water pressure dizzied him.

Lieut. H. G. Woods, another survivor, then volunteered. A seaman who went with him was overcome by pressure in the escape chamber. Woods tried again with another seaman, but the pressure was too much for him, too.

The scheme to close the door and pump out the water so the submarine could raise herself then was abandoned.

Praises Men's Gallantry.

Throughout the night, Oram went on, officers and men tried to find a feasible plan to save themselves.

Oram's voice broke for the first time when he was asked if there was evidence of panic among the men.

"I would like to make known the very gallant behavior of the men on board," he said. "I saw no sign of panic at any time. When there was any work to be done the men sprang to help. I heard men talking and joking until the foul air caused them to keep quiet. They showed quiet bravery of which memory will live with me forever."

Sir Donald Somervell, attorney general, brought out in a statement at the start of the hearing that although rescuers found the Thetis the morning after the dive, they lost her for six vital hours that night after a cable slipped.

C. C. C. BOYS FROM CHICAGO INJURED IN PICNIC CRASH

Cedar City, Utah, July 3.—(AP)—Twenty-three civilian conservation corps enrollees were injured, one critically, as their truck overturned today on a mountain road near this southern Utah town.

John Frank Balcius, 19 years old, of Chicago, suffered a skull fracture and was reported in a critical condition at a hospital. Others in the group of 25—bound on a Fourth of July outing—who were seriously injured were Russell Halley, 19; Edward Bakenowicz, 18; Arthur Carlseon, 20, and Felix Budrick, 20. All were from Chicago or nearby suburbs.

YOUNG HOLDUPS FACE A COURT CALL; GLOVES PUT FINGER ON THEM

Two Kansas City, Kas., youths who tried to "take" Chicago and failed because one wore gloves will be arraigned tomorrow in the Felony court on robbery charges. They are Donald Grider and Stanley Billips, present address the Summerdale police station.

They left Kansas City a week ago Sunday with $50, spent $30 for train fare and arrived here with about $20. Both had guns, so they decided to go into the holdup business. Their first victim was Wellington J. Allaway, 220 South Cuyler avenue, Oak Park. They asked him if he had any money. He told them he had $5. So they took that and his car, abandoning it when they saw a squad car.

Next they held up Edward Vihon, 1353 Estes avenue. They asked him if he had any money and he said he hadn't. So they went away. In both cases, since Chicago was so confusing, they spent cabfare to get back to their loop hotel. Their final venture was Thursday. They went into a tavern owned by Thomas Garrity at 5610 Broadway. Grider wore gloves to avoid finger prints and Billips drank with a napkin wrapped around his glass, Garrity called police. The two confessed.

Ecuador Finds Italy Sold It Second Hand Armaments

STRICKEN ON VISIT TO AILING WIFE; BOTH NEAR DEATH

Mrs. Adaline Henry, 74 years old, has been near death for many days in the County hospital. Her husband, William, in spite of the heat, has come each day from their home at 1207 East 63d street to see her. They haven't told him she can't live.

Yesterday he reached the hospital only to suffer a heart attack there.

Last night Mrs. Henry was dying in one ward. She didn't know her aged husband was near death in another. And he didn't know she was near the end. Hospital authorities were afraid the news would hasten the passing of each.

Huey Long's Son and His Bride in City on Honeymoon

Russell Long, 18 year old son of the late Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, and his bride of one month, the former Katherine Mae Hattic, stopped in Chicago yesterday on their honeymoon trip to Alaska. They will return to Baton Rouge in August. Long, who was recently graduated from Louisiana State university, will return to study law there. Mrs. Long will enter her senior year at the same school.

MAGNA CHARTA—MODERN STYLE

By CALEB

SEVEN hundred and twenty-four years ago, at Runnymede, in England, was sealed the "Great Charter of English Liberty," which the rebellious barons of that day extorted from their ruthless King John. Throughout the centuries since it has represented, to Britons, the right of men to be men, and not pawns on a tyrant's chessboard.

What that momentous instrument secured to the feudal lords of the thirteenth century was explicit limits to their obligations to the Crown—immunity from jail sentence without trial—"that justice should not be sold, refused or delayed"—and "that none should suffer fine, imprisonment or exile, but by the judgment of his peers."

Just five hundred and sixty-one years later, another bold group of English-descended patriots — not barons and overlords, but men of equal station resolved on government of, by, and for themselves—drafted a modern Magna Charta that ratified itself. The Declaration of Independence became, in fact, an even greater and farther-reaching certificate of freedom than its ancient predecessor . . . for out of it sprang the richest, most powerful, and most rightly independent, of world nations.

Pinnacled banners, parades, pyrotechnics, and pleasurable holidaying, therefore, are the merest superficials of Fourth of July's significance. The basic blessings inaugurated when a weary Continental Congress had endorsed the "Declaration's" immortal phrases, have been blurred by a hundred and sixty-three years of familiar use. We seem to think that Americans have always had a free press, free speech, representation in government, inviolability of home and person. But the time was when these had to be scrupulously aligned, defiantly affirmed, and bitterly fought for—and that time, those events, must never be eclipsed by the colors of a Roman candle or a day's escape from a busy office.

As it took thoughtful, determined, and future-considering Americans to draft a new world's Magna Charta—so it devolves on that same type of citizen to guard its heritage, left to his honor and industry for undiminished maintenance. The land of the free and the home of the brave imposes as many obligations as it confers privileges. The first and greatest is to keep America as independent—for individuals, and among nations—as our forefathers fashioned it!

UNMASK OUTLAW AS SHIELD FOR DILLINGER GANG

Gunman Tells of Helping Van Meter Escape.

An armed bandit captured after a gun battle Sunday morning was identified yesterday as an outlaw who served two years in the federal prison in Leavenworth for harboring Homer Van Meter, one of the chiefs of the old Dillinger gang.

The prisoner is Fred Patrick Fernsdorf. He was using the alias of Thomas F. Kirwin when he was sentenced for aiding the Dillinger gangster.

Fernsdorf, who is 59 years old, has a 31-year record as a safe blower and robber. He has served terms in half a dozen prisons.

Threatens Motorist with Gun.

Fernsdorf was captured because Charles C. Richardson, a Purdue university football player in 1932, resented the profanity the outlaw used in the presence of Richardson's wife after Fernsdorf's car almost collided with that of the Richardsons at 63d street and the outer drive. The Richardsons were on their way to their home in Indianapolis.

Richardson chased Fernsdorf and forced him to stop. Fernsdorf began cursing and threatened the football player with a shotgun. Fernsdorf then raced on, with Richardson in pursuit.

The Richardsons saw Motorcycle Policeman Matthew Boland of the park system at 47th street and the outer drive and told him what had happened.

Policeman Fells Outlaw.

Boland went in pursuit. The policeman and the outlaw fought a continuous gun battle in a ten mile chase through the south side. At Kenwood avenue and 52d street the gunman wrecked the stolen car which he was driving. Boland knocked him down as the outlaw was leveling a rifle at him.

Four ounces of nitroglycerin were found in Fernsdorf's car. Police said fourteen drops is enough to blast open a medium size safe.

In addition to the rifle and the nitroglycerin, police found a shotgun and a complete set of burglar tools.

Tells of Plan to Rob Safe.

Fernsdorf, a former Chicagoan, declined to tell how long he has been back in Chicago or where he has been staying. He admitted, however, that he was desperate for money and that he was planning to rob a safe.

The prisoner first identified himself as Tom Jones. Later he admitted he was Fernsdorf.

Questioned yesterday by Sergt. John Hanrahan of the detective bureau, Fernsdorf confessed that he had helped Van Meter escape after the Dillinger gang was routed from its Little Bohemia hideout near Mercer, Wis., in 1934.

Fernsdorf said he took Van Meter to a cottage at Leech lake, 100 miles northwest of St. Paul.

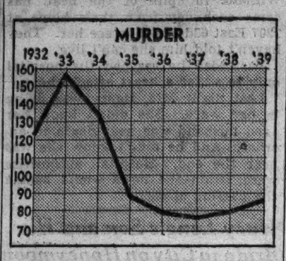
John Hamilton and Thomas Carroll, members of the Dillinger gang, also came to the cottage, he said.

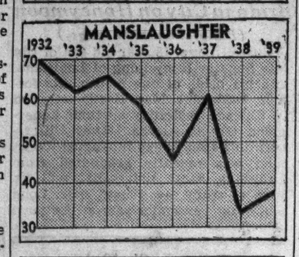
Van Meter was shot to death in a police trap in St. Paul later in 1934. A short time later Fernsdorf was sent to the federal prison for aiding the outlaw.

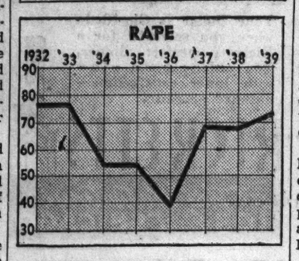
City's Crime Record

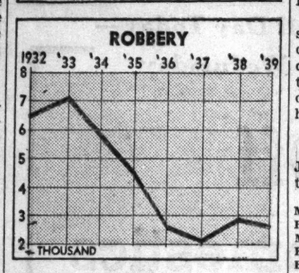
(Story in adjoining column.)

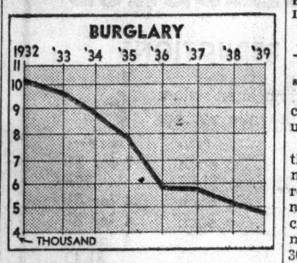
Charts taken from Chicago police records for first five months of the first half of each year since 1932 show trend of major crimes in city.

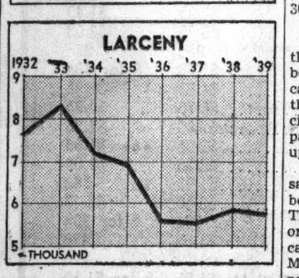












CHICAGO CRIME TOTAL FOR 1939 SHOWS DECLINE

Robberies and Burglaries Reduced Sharply.

Crime in Chicago during the first half of the year decreased 3.42 per cent below the corresponding period in 1938. This report was made yesterday to Police Commissioner Allman by Capt. William Kennedy, chief of the bureau of criminal information and statistics.

Figures issued by Kennedy showed that the number of crimes from January through June of this year was 16,291 as compared with 16,889 last year. Totals for this year, however, a subject to revision inasmuch as the June statistics are not yet official.

Fewer Robberies, Burglaries.

Decreases this year were noted in robberies and burglaries. There was a negligible increase in larcenies. The decline in crime, according to police officials, is attributable to a system introduced by the commissioner early in 1932 which requires that duplicate copies of all offense reports be sent to Kennedy's headquarters in the central police building.

By this practice, department heads have been able to study trends in certain types of crimes and have succeeded in concentrating more police protection in neighborhoods and areas where these crimes are most likely to occur.

This year's figures for murder, manslaughter, and rape show slight increases. Ninety-eight slayings have occurred so far in 1939, four more than in 1938's first six months, but only half the number in the first half of 1932.

Crime Totals Compared.

Total crimes for the periods from January through June in the last two years are as follows:

Crime—	1938.	1939.
Murder	94	98
Rape	77	86
Manslaughter	40	44
Robbery	3,468	3,280
Burglary	6,135	5,656
Larceny	7,075	7,127
	16,889	*16,291

*Total included figures for June, which are subject to slight revision.

Commissioner Allman declined to comment on the statistics. "The figures speak for themselves," he said.

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court recently commended the police department for reducing by nearly 50 per cent the number of crimes committed in the city since 1932. In the first six months of 1932 there were nearly 30,000 crimes.

Outlaws Gaining Elsewhere.

Despite the increase in murders this year, Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, declared that the trend in Chicago crime is decidedly downward, whereas in other parts of the country it is on a steep upgrade.

"Of the murders committed," he said, "only a small percentage can be classed in the preventable type. There were three during robberies, one labor slaying, and a few which can be construed as gang slayings. Most of the others were murders of passion, the results of petty quarrels, or, as in one case in which nine Negroes lost their lives in an apartment building fire, the act of a demented man."

with a parade of 500 members of Illinois National Guard units from Maywood, Joliet, and Chicago. The sham battle will be next.

Col. McCormick's address and talks by members of the county's centennial association will follow. A concert will be given by massed high school bands and massed church and school choruses of Du Page county. This part of the program will be directed by W. G. Pohlmann, superintendent of choral music in the Downers Grove High school.

A pageant in which hundreds of the county's citizens will portray famous scenes from the history of the United States will conclude the afternoon show. A spectacular display of fireworks will occur in the evening.

WPA CLERK AND 4 PALS ARE BOOKED AS ROBBERY GANG

James Shorter, a WPA clerk, and two men and two women were booked yesterday on charges of robbery after giving statements to Lieut. John Kelly of the state's attorney's stolen automobile detail. The five were arrested last week and accused of stealing cars, robbing filling stations and liquor stores, and committing holdups.

Shorter, 20 years old, 4405 Armitage avenue, was a WPA clerk in the vaults of the Criminal Court building. He said that he examined court records of men sent to prison and thus got the idea of leading a robbery gang.

Shorter, Wilbur Sotola, 20, of 1630 North Tripp avenue, and Mrs. Grace Greenwald, 20, of 4626 North St. Louis avenue, were booked on six charges each. Five charges were placed against Mrs. Bessie Fastre, 20, of 2674 Madison street, and one charge was placed against James Basile, 22, of 2719 Polk street.

Youth Reaches N. Y. Fair from Milwaukee in Boat

New York, July 3,—(AP)—Harry Meyer, 22 years old, Marquette university student, who left Milwaukee May 29 to follow the water route of the early day trappers to the sea, put-putted into the world's fair boat basin today in his outboard motor equipped 17 foot canoe. Meyer's travels took him through the Great Lakes, into the New York state barge canal and down the Hudson to New York to "see the sights." Two hours after he arrived he left for parts unknown.

Beware of Fireworks, Victim Pleads

Bob Freemole is blind.

He's been blind thirteen years—ever since some fireworks went off unexpectedly. He was 9 years old then.

That's why Bob's Fourth of July message carries weight. He says: 'Play safe! Go see the experts shoot off fireworks at public events. It's more fun shooting them yourself, but it's not worth the risk."

Bob lives at 44 West 112th street.

For those who ignore Bob's warning experts have compiled these safety and first aid admonitions:

DON'T throw firecrackers or torpedoes at passing autos. It may startle the driver and cause a crash.

DON'T use fireworks near a building, or near anything likely to catch fire.

But if you do use fireworks, and you do get hurt, remember these things:

DON'T use a strong antiseptic, such as iodine, on a burn. If the skin is broken, first use plain soap and water, and give it a good scrubbing, no matter how it hurts. Then leave the wound open to the air, or, if it is very deep, use a 5 per cent solution of tannic acid—two teaspoonfuls of the acid to twenty-five of water is close enough—and spray, daub, or drop it on the wound until a thick crust is formed.

DON'T use oil or a greasy salve on a deep, open burn. Exposure to the air helps to kill the lockjaw germ. The oil or salve is all right on a burn that does not cause the skin to break.

POPE INDUCED TO TAKE THREE WEEKS OF REST AT HIS SUMMER VILLA

VATICAN CITY, July 3.—(AP)—Prelates said today Pope Pius had been induced to take three weeks of complete rest from the strain of his position.

The pope's efforts to promote peace in Europe along with the heavy duties of the pontificate to which he was elected four months ago had begun to tell on him, associates said. He is expected to go to the summer villa at Castel Gandolfo about July 8 or shortly afterward with the intention of resting until August before resuming his duties.

Vatican associates reported the pope's physicians advised him to go to bed at midnight, an early hour for him, and prescribed a diet of raw vegetables.

PHILIPPINES FIRE 48-GUN SALUTE TO OPEN FOURTH

MANILA, July 4 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The Philippines, most distant outpost of the United States of America, launched its celebration of Independence day promptly at midnight.

These islands west of the international dateline started their celebration some thirteen hours before the mainland's observance got under way. At midnight guns mounted near Luneta park, fronting on Manila bay, barked a forty-eight shot salute, one for each state in the Union.

Both Americans and Filipinos participated in the day's programs, starting with a military and civic parade. Other events included the annual convention of the Philippine department of the American Legion.

BOY HOLDS FORT AS POLICE SEIZE 2 STORE BANDITS

Two men, one of whom is on probation for robbery, were captured last night in a wild chase in the loop after they tried to rob an Andes candy store at 176 North State street. They are Anthony De Chartino, 20 years old, 428 South Leavitt street, who is on probation, and Vincent Baffa, 18, of 1118 South Western avenue.

Johnny Sedlak in patrol wagon.

Miss Twalla Lange, 1533 East 65th street, clerk in the candy shop, screamed, and the bandits ran out. Trafic Policeman Francis Stanton pursued them. The chase was seen by Policemen William Hansen and John Mahon who had picked up a lost boy and were waiting in their patrol wagon for a stop light at State and Lake streets. The boy was Johnny Sedlak Jr., 8, of 2437 South Kedzie avenue.

Hansen and Mahon left him in the patrol wagon and joined the chase. Hansen caught De Chartino, who was armed, and Mahon and Stanton caught Baffa.

TWO GIVE CLEW IN SEARCH FOR OREGON METEOR

Portland, Ore., July 3.—(AP)—Two men who reported they saw the actual explosion of a meteor that jolted Portland and the surrounding countryside provided a clew tonight in the search for fragments.

Cross lines drawn from positions of the two witnesses indicated particles of the exploding meteor probably fell in the desolate Wind river section, forty miles northeast of here. Search of the region began immediately as science sought proof of the meteor theory for yesterday's phenomenon.

Thurston Skei, Portland, said he was climbing Mount Adams, Washington, eighty miles northeast of here, when the object appeared. Skei said he was at 8,000 feet elevation and the explosion appeared to be below him. Avon Sutton, Mount Hood rancher, verified Skei's story.

The explosion was heard and felt over a radius of forty miles from Portland. Concussion broke windows, cracked a store wall, and knocked down a stone wall here. Persons 200 miles east of here said they saw the object. The meteor was sighted first near Eugene, 100 miles south of here.

ATWATER SUED BY DOROTHY LEE FOR A DIVORCE

Dorothy Lee, film actress, filed a divorce suit yesterday in the Superior court against A. G. Cox Atwater, vice president of the William Wrigley Jr. company and a brother-in-law of Philip K. Wrigley. The suit charged cruelty.

Miss Lee, who is 28 years old, is appearing in a loop theater. She and Atwater live in the Ambassador West hotel. They were married March 7, 1936, in a Crown Point, Ind., elopement.

Atwater is Miss Lee's fourth husband. She was born Marjorie Millsap, daughter of Homer C. Millsap, a Los Angeles, Cal., attorney. Miss Lee divorced Marshall Duffield in Reno, Nev., in November, 1935. She previously had been married to James Fidler, a Hollywood columnist. The name of her first husband never was made public.

Atwater's first wife, the former Betty Ann Bergmann, divorced him Feb. 11, 1936. She obtained the custody of their daughter, Claire Blanche, 6.

KEEPING COOL ALL IT TAKES TO KEEP COOL

Just Forget About the Hot Weather—if You Can.

BY MARCIA WINN.

All your friends are talking about it, of course, and so, probably, are you. But if you're smart you won't. You won't even think about it. The heat, that is.

The surest way to become hot in July is to think you're hot or to think that if you aren't hot you soon will be. When you think that, you become excited. And then you really are in trouble.

Perhaps you huddle down for a nice, frosted mint julep—so cooling, so refreshing. It's one of the quickest methods of getting hotter. Did you know that? Liquor generates heat rather than decreases it.

A Snare and a Delusion.

Or maybe you hurry to the tub for a quick douse in water as cold as you can get it. That's bad, too. It also generates heat. What you need is water around body temperature, 98 degrees; a pleasant, tepid soaking.

To be truly comfortable this summer [and the days are certain to become hotter], be anything other than a thermometer-gazer, Dr. Irving S. Cutter, health editor of THE TRIBUNE, advised yesterday. Forget the heat. This may sound like necromancy, but if you apply a few simple rules to your hot weather living, it is possible.

Add, for example, a teaspoonful of common table salt to your daily diet. It replaces the body salt lost in perspiration.

Drink Water; Eat Sparsely.

Drink as much water as possible, and eat sparsely. Eat less than you want, and eat salads and such vegetables as green beans. You may lose a few pounds, but, Dr. Cutter says, you will be repaid in comfort.

Wear loosely woven clothing, porous, so that air has free circulation around the body. The clothing should be light in color, as white reflects the heat while black absorbs it.

Holding your wrists under a tap of cold water is a fine cooling method. A touch of baking soda in the baby's bath reduces its prickly heat. If you can't sleep at night place a cold cloth on your forehead; drink something cool, water or milk, before retiring, or sprinkle the undersheet of your bed with a cup of water.

Close Windows; Draw Blinds.

To keep your home cool, close the windows and draw the blinds [preferably dark green] early in the morning. Don't worry about ventilation; you still will have enough.

If you have an attic, an exhaust fan placed there will draw the hot air up out of the house. If you have a clean cellar, keep the cellar door open. It will shoot cold air up.

Still another method, if you have a home complete with lawn and garden hose, is to connect the hose, turned to a soft spray, outside a window. This cools the incoming air.

If you're hot in spite of all this, get a book on Alaska, or try to remember how cold those lake winds were last winter.

SEEKS ARREST OF SUITOR SHE WON'T MARRY

Judge William V. Daly in the Racine avenue court issued a warant yesterday charging Robert Frederick Tarrant Jr., wealthy stockholder in the Felt & Tarrant Manufacturing company, with assault and battery. The warant was obtained by Miss Alice Reeser, 32 years old, of 1223 North Shore avenue, who appeared in court with her attorney, Samuel A. Rinella.

Alice Reeser.

Miss Reeser told Judge Daly that she and Tarrant first met in February, 1938. They became engaged, but recently she told Tarrant the engagement was off.

Last Friday, she said, he invited her to his apartment at 3750 Lake Shore drive to "talk things over." After some conversation, she said, Tarrant displayed a revolver and threatened to end his life unless she promised to marry him. When she refused, Miss Reeser asserted, he beat and choked her and twisted her arm.

Baby Born in Ambulance on the Way to Hospital

Mrs. Anna Perek, 29 years old, 4506 South Honore street, was on the way to the County hospital in an ambulance Sunday night. The attendants, Walter Smith and William Vander Hayden, were forced to top at Pershing road and Ashland avenue. There they assisted at the birth of Mrs. Perek's son. Later at the hospital he tipped the scales at 8 pounds.

BANKER ADMITS TAKING $126,178 IN SOCIAL FLING

Money Spent in Market Plunges, He Says.

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—[Special.]—Inability to keep up the social pace of his friends on his $6,000 salary was ascribed by Walter P. Jacobs today as the reason he embezzled $126,178 from the National Bank of Adrian. Jacobs, a former Chicagoan, was president of the bank for six years.

Jacobs said he began taking money from the bank in 1937 to speculate in the stock market. At first he was successful. Then the market broke and he drew money from dormant accounts of depositors to cover his losses.

Tells of False Entries.

Jacobs said he covered the withdrawals with false entries on the books. He said he later resorted to forging notes against the accounts of depositors. In desperation he finally sold securities which had been given to the bank as collateral on loans.

First suspicion was directed at Jacobs two weeks ago when an out of town customer went into the bank to withdraw $50. When the customer remarked casually to the teller that the withdrawal left $5,200 in his account the teller replied that $50 was the entire account. The customer and teller went to Jacobs, who explained there had been an error in bookkeeping.

Jacobs later explained he had gambled on the account being inactive because the customer lived in the upper peninsula. He said he had taken the $5,200 and credited the man with only $50.

Seized by Federal Agents.

Jacobs was arrested Saturday by federal bureau of investigation agents. Before he was brought to jail here he turned over $63,000 in securities to the bank. He was bonded for $50,000.

Jacobs is 41 years old. He was born in Chicago, attended Northwestern university, and married Margaret Smith of Chicago in 1921. They have three sons and a daughter.

In Chicago Jacobs was employed from 1917 to 1926 by the Continental and Commercial National bank, since merged into the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company. He also was a director of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Banking in 1925 and 1926.

Husbands Lose

Mrs. Margaret Taylor and daughter, Dorothy.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]
MRS. EVA BARLETTA.

Mrs. Margaret Taylor, 35 years old, couldn't keep her husband, James E. Taylor, home nights. Mrs. Eva M. Barletta, 25, couldn't get hers, Louis Barletta, to go out. Yesterday Judge Robert C. O'Connell granted the wives a divorce.

Mrs. Taylor, who lives at 6447 Stewart avenue, said she left her husband on May 22 after he struck her during one of their many quarrels. It concerned her lament, Mrs. Taylor said, that her husband would dress quietly while she slept, sneak out, make the rounds, and then try to return undetected.

On the other hand, testified Mrs. Barletta, she tried and tried to get her husband to leave their home at 817 North Trumbull avenue for an evening's gayety. But Barletta preferred the joy of a warm hearth, slippers, and a good book. When they argued, said Mrs. Barletta, he hit her.

1,500 ANGRY MEN STOP TEARING UP OF RAILROAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HEART'S CONTENT, Newfoundland, July 3.—Fifteen hundred men from the south side of Trinity bay today prevented the government from tearing up a branch line railroad once used for the hauling of paper.

Wrecking crews were withdrawn when justices of the peace notified the government that they feared riots would result if the crews pulled up the rails. The justices also advised that no police be sent to protect the workers, believing such action would aggravate the situation.

The line was built from the main line at Whitbourne in 1914 to cater to winter shipments of newsprint from the London Daily Mail plant at Grand Falls. About five years ago, however, shipments were diverted to St. John's with a great loss of revenue to the line. Decision to tear up the line was taken by the government last Friday.

DR. DAFOE MUST SHOW CONTRACTS LINKED TO QUINTS

NORTH BAY, Ont., July 3.—(AP)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician to the Dionne quintuplets, said today he had been given documents requiring his presence at the next meeting [July 7] of the girls' guardians. He must also produce contracts in which his name is linked with those of the quintuplets. Various contracts through which the quintuplets receive royalties for use of their pictures and advertising indorsements enabled them by a year ago to amass assets of $500,000.

Dr. Dafoe said he had no comment to make on the filing at Nipissing district courthouse of a notice to produce requiring the doctor's presence at the meeting with the contracts. The notice was filed on behalf of Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets.

The board of guardians meets monthly and Judge J. A. S. Plouffe examines and passes recent accounts of the quintuplets' estate. Scheduled to attend Friday are Dr. Dafoe, Dionne, Judge J. A. Valin—all guardians—and Business Manager Keith Munroe. Percy D. Wilson, official guardian representing Ontario, also may attend.

3 ARABS KILLED, 17 HURT BY BOMB BLAST IN A CAFE

Explosion at Haifa Wrecks Shops.

HAIFA, Palestine, July 3.—(AP)—Three Arabs were killed and 17 injured, seven seriously today, when a time bomb exploded in a large Arab café. The blast destroyed the building and shops in the vicinity. Red Cross squads carried away the wounded. All roads through the area were closed by police and military authorities.

500 Danzig Jews Detained.

JERUSALEM, July 3.—(AP)—Five hundred Jews from Danzig arrived at Haifa today in a ship they had bought and manned themselves, but they had no entry papers and all were detained. The ship flew the blue and white Zionist flag. Yesterday a Greek ship bearing 350 Jews, mostly from Danzig, and also without papers, was stopped by authorities near Gaza.

Praise Island as Haven.

MANILA, July 3.—(AP)—Three members of the New York Jewish refugee commission returned to Manila today from a six weeks' inspection tour of Mindanao Island, proposed site of Jewish immigration.

"We were greatly impressed by the fertile soil, magnificent scenery, immense virgin forests and the splendid climate of Mindanao," one of the commissioners said.

Some authorities contend Mindanao could take care of 14,000,000 homesteaders.

With the aid of the American government, the commonwealth government has advanced tentative plans to settle 10,000 Jews on the agricultural and minerally rich island, part of which is dominated by Japanese settlers.

CONTINUE SLAYING INQUEST.

An inquest into the slaying of Frank Cordisco, 45 years old, who was shot Friday by Guy DiGiovanna, during a quarrel over being evicted from the latter's building at 852 Sedgewick street, was continued yesterday until 11 to allow police to complete their investigation.

ANOTHER FOURTH.

The form of government for which the way was prepared by the Declaration of Independence 163 years ago is the only one which has survived that period without convulsive change or essential modifications. Even Great Britain was obliged to remodel its political system. Its governing class yielded so slowly and reluctantly that it narrowly avoided a revolution. Elsewhere the record is one of spasms with a progressive deterioration in the status of man in the largest area of what is called the civilized world.

The most hopeful view of present conditions is that they are transitory, but even that hope does not perceive the answer. Transition to what? It is easy to imagine that these are new dark ages which are to have a rebirth. But is man incapable of economic freedom? If so, his political liberties were established upon false premises and they never were valid. They never were more than ephemeral incidents deriving their temporary sway from exceptionally fortunate circumstances.

The United States was dedicated by its declaration and subsequently by its constitution and bill of rights to the idea, then young and vigorous, that men freed from the exactions and impositions of government could work out their own lives with a greater degree of satisfaction than under any other conditions. This scheme of living was then worth fighting for. It had historical justification. In other ages men had found government their greatest enemy, their persecutor and defier.

Counsel of despair at the present time urges that this is not true. Men are told that now, in the time of greatest individual achievements, their insistence upon individual life and accomplishment is wrong. They are told that they must submit to governmental controls that they may live at all. Debt and despotism have become the twin gods of persons who even twenty years ago would have called themselves first line defenders of the freedom of which the declaration and the constitution were the charters.

This change of philosophy must concern us all. The new idea is the ruling doctrine of much of Europe and where it prevails this planet has become a cattle yard. From observation of these results Americans must study their own case. So far they have come along to the envy of all other peoples.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S BRAND OF NEUTRALITY.

Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy burst upon the country just as the disclosure was made that his first appointee to the Supreme court was, or had been, a klansman. If Mr. Roosevelt when he made the Chicago bridge speech wanted to take his mind and the mind of the country off Mr. Hugo Black, now associate justice of the Supreme court, he came later to like, for its own sake, the rôle of protector, Tribune, and censor in world affairs.

Mr. Stimson's adventure in Manchuria had proved that Europe and the league of nations did not intend to jeopardize self-interest against Japan. Mr. Ickes' oil embargo against Italy in Ethiopia had proved that the sanctionists would not cut off sales. Mr. Roosevelt's conference at Brussels was one large entrance and twenty small exits. The conferees did not even hang up their hats.

These experiences might have revealed convincingly that the United States was expected to follow its European associates and should not bother to try to lead them. Mr. Roosevelt has been allowed to hold the moral front while Mr. Chamberlain has dictated strategy and tactics. Mr. Roosevelt talks of chastisement but Mr. Chamberlain of appeasement. Mr. Roosevelt talks at Hitler but Mr. Chamberlain with him.

Mr. Chamberlain is able to offer friendship to Germany and Italy with, as an alternative, a conflict in which the United States will be with Great Britain. After the Chicago speech Mr. Roosevelt sent American cruisers to the dedication of the Singapore dock. The American were the only foreign warships there. The United States is the only foreign nation allowed the use of the base. In the agreement the United States is treated as an ally. When the American fleet recently had its stay in the Atlantic abruptly cut short and was sent into the Pacific the inspired British comment was that Mr. Roosevelt had acted to hold Japan in check if Hitler made another violent move.

Mr. Roosevelt made possible the purchase of airplane supplies by France and Great Britain and scolded the members of the senate military affairs committee when they tried to investigate the part he and Mr. Bullitt played in this. He also gave them a good scare. He now wants the neutrality act amended in accordance with British and French wishes.

When Mr. Roosevelt toasted the king at the state dinner he chose two small Pacific islands as his special topic. The American and British governments have established a joint administration in them. The British insisted on a condominium and Mr. Roosevelt rejoices in it. It would be better if he could rejoice in a condominium in Bermuda and the other British isles off our coast. Then he would be getting somewhere. He has guaranteed the security of Canada and by inference the security of all other British possessions in this hemisphere. Recently American marines were landed with British and French to check the Japanese on an island where the United States has no particular interest although the French and British have.

We are already more involved than we think. Amendments to the neutrality law may drag us further in.

PRAIRIE TO SLUM TO PRAIRIE.

The legislature has voted for a lottery in Illinois to raise money with which to reclaim the slum areas in Chicago. The lottery was approved, but the public service housing corporation bills were allowed to die. They were intended to encourage private capital to undertake the task of rebuilding the rundown areas without financial help from the government.

Resort to the lottery plan may be taken as an indication of the legislature's belief that the problem is a desperate one, calling for extraordinary measures. And indeed it is. There is much reason to fear that the so-called blighted areas can never be revived.

The early cities were walled inclosures. The burghers needed protection against marauding raids, whether by feudal armies, outlaw bands, or—in this country—savages. Chicago itself was for a time a trading post in the shadow of Fort Dearborn.

When the Indian was no longer a menace to life and property our cities remained pretty well concentrated. Because freight had to be hauled to and from the railroad yards by horse power, business establishments could not be located at any great distance from the depots. Local transportation was also primitive, with the result that people could not live more than a few miles from their places of business. Walking to work was a widespread custom.

The improvement in street car services permitted a certain widening of the radius, but it was still rather sharply limited. The introduction of suburban services on the railroad lines brought the so-called dormitory villages into being, many of which, like Kenwood, Woodlawn, and Ravenswood, have long since been incorporated within the city, but these communities and their later prototypes farther out from the center of the city were populated largely by the more prosperous families. The ordinary man found it more convenient to live fairly close to his place of employment.

A striking change came with the introduction of motor trucks and motor cars. The trucks made it possible for many business establishments to locate at much greater distances from the freight depots and the markets than had formerly been deemed economical. The passenger automobile, of course, opened up miles of countryside to suburban development. The airplane and particularly the helicopter, with its vertical climb and descent, can be expected to increase the radius still farther.

But even without resort to the airways, if only the present trend continues, the metropolitan population will be spread more thinly over a much wider territory. We shall then have a central core containing large mercantile establishments, financial institutions, theaters, museums, and offices, surrounded at a considerable distance by small residential and manufacturing communities. For residential purposes these towns will have many attractions, including independent school systems, relatively inexpensive public improvements, and correspondingly low taxes.

If that happens—or, more accurately, if it continues to happen—the present slum neighborhoods will tend to become valueless in private ownership. The tax delinquency in the rundown neighborhoods is already very high. As income from property in these areas declines the ability of the owners to pay taxes necessarily diminishes. At the same time the tax rates must rise, because less and less property is available to share the costs of government. In the end the community will have no choice but to take the delinquent properties for taxes and turn them into parks or commons.

The process is already well advanced. The suburbs are growing far faster than the city. Every day more buildings within a few miles of the downtown area are being torn down to save taxes. The miracle which saw a city of millions rise within a few decades on raw prairie land and swamp is now being reversed. Perhaps not even the millions which might be raised if the lottery were a success can reclaim the slums for private uses.

Editorial of the Day

SQUAWK OF THE CENTURY.

[Washington Post.]

Really, to judge by the appalling dither into which the London press has been working itself over the defeat of Sydney Wooderson at Princeton, you might think that Mr. Blaine Rideout had wrapped the poor fellow up in a high voltage wire or had slipped one of those Fenian bombs inside his running trunks.

To be sure, it was a bit unfortunate that Messrs. Rideout and Wooderson should have had that gentle collision when they took the last curve around the Palmer stadium. Sydney was thrown off his stride. But the opinion of the most competent witnesses seems to be that had the accident not occurred, Sydney would, at best, have finished fourth instead of last in a field of five. And there are those [including Mr. Rideout] who say it was not so much a case of the American bearing in on Sydney—who had been taking the turns pretty wide—but of Sydney bearing out on the Americans. But either way it would be evidence of no more malignant intention than to win a foot race.

Nor does the fact that his showing in the race was such a sorry anti-climax to the elaborate edifice of publicity he has received necessarily indicate that Sydney isn't still the greatest miler in history. Any number of things more plausible than the allegation of a foul could be advanced to explain his unimpressive showing. For instance, there is the fact that he was running on an unfamiliar type of track in an unfamiliar type of contest and in weather that had the hardiest natives begging for mercy. Anybody who could run a mile in any time last Saturday is, ipso facto, a superman.

Perhaps the only thing the race proves is, what has been proved over and over again by the Olympic games and the Davis cup matches, namely, that international sports can be almost as great stumbling blocks to international concord as tarif walls and armament races. But somehow it is difficult to believe that if the British empire is fated to go the way of Ninevah and Tyre it will be because Sydney Wooderson lost the race at Princeton.

Unexpected Stage Appearance.

Last Friday evening, during the performance of My Dear Children at the Selwyn, a little dog wandered onto the stage, examined the audience for a moment, then solemnly walked off.

"My new leading lady," observed Mr. Barrymore.

The dog was Zeppo, the miniature schnauzer of Richard Myers, producer of the play. Later Barrymore told Myers of an incident that occurred when he was playing Hamlet in London. A black cat appeared on the stage just as he started the soliloquy.

To be or not to be . . . began Barrymore. The black cat, sinister symbol, jumped onto his lap and remained there for the remainder of the speech.

He gladly would have had the cat a permanent member of the cast, Barrymore said.

Once the entrance of a cat added so much to a play of Channing Pollock's that the incident was made part of the stage business. The play was Little Gray Lady. On the opening night in New York, according to a story Pollock once told, he sat in the balcony and saw his play slowly failing. There wasn't a single laugh during the first act. Then suddenly the theater cat bounded over the back yard fence of the set into a property ash can. Finding it empty the cat jumped out again and wandered off the stage. The audience howled with appreciation and the incident was responsible for a more receptive mood that meant the success of the production. On following nights a trail of chopped meat was prepared and the cat released at the proper moment.

* * *

Felinophile Carl Van Vechten, in his book on cats, The Tiger in the House, tells of the Belasco comedy during which, on opening night, the theater cat wandered onto the stage and seated itself before the property fireplace. It was so heartwarming a touch that every performance thereafter a mouse on a cord was kept in a hole near the fireplace to entice the cat to the spot.

Overheard on the Bus.

Two women sat in front of a girl named Helen Hathaway on a department store bus. They were trying to decide what movie to go to and as they passed McVicker's, which was showing Union Pacific and Lucky Night, one said to the other: "Wonder what lucky night is like."

"Something like bingo," answered the other.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI.—Though Japan makes no distinction between Jews and Aryans in her policy toward immigrants to either Japan or sections of China occupied by Japan, the continued influx of Jewish émigrés from Europe into Shanghai is causing alarm among the residents of the Hongkew district.

With effective business methods, the Jews are doing well north of Soochow Creek in the Japanese administered areas, better than the thousands who have found an asylum but not a livelihood in the international settlement.

According to Shanghai Japanese newspapers the Jews are becoming a serious problem to the Japanese community. In Hongkew, where the Japanese had an undisturbed reign in every sphere of business, the Jewish immigrants have set a new high in shopwindow display and business methods in 823 establishments—32 dress shops, 29 cafés, six shirt shops, 11 hat shops, six beauty shops, 14 tailoring shops, 19 grocery stores, 194 doctors' offices, 377 small manufacturing plants, nearly a hundred small retail shops of miscellaneous goods, five jewelry shops, a sausage factory, two laundries, and one pawnshop.

Jewish doctors in the Japanese areas can practice as consulting physicians; though the fee for each patient is small in the majority of cases, the income is sufficient.

At present there are over 10,500 Jewish refugees from Europe in Shanghai. More are arriving at the rate of several hundred each week. It is estimated there will be a minimum of 20,000 before the end of the year. They travel mostly in German and Italian ships because they have no foreign currency to buy passages in foreign ships.

A very small percentage appears willing to live for more than brief periods on the charity of the local organization which has been formed to try and do something for them, and which will, in cases of need, pay a monthly allotment.

Many are endeavoring to enter commercial establishments. Others open small shops and restaurants in the settlement. But lack of capital is the most serious problem faced by the majority, for they have escaped with little more than the clothes they wear. A few managed to carry cameras or expensive wardrobes from German and Italian ports, and there are many unemployed men walking Shanghai streets in clothes which were purchased in the most exclusive shops of Vienna.

These possessions are being sold largely through a thrift shop started by the international refugee committee and which attempts to get a fair price for the goods and make certain the seller does not pay too much commission for the sale.

A WORMY SUBJECT.

DURING the summer season we are far more likely to indulge in underdone food. Picnic sandwiches, the roadside lunch counter, or the hot dog stand may supply improperly cooked meats, setting the stage for infestation with worms which have no business anywhere within or about the body.

How do these "varmints" gain access to the system? Soiled fingers may convey their eggs to the mouth; they may be imbibed in polluted drinking water, and a few species may burrow through the skin or be inoculated by insects. Our most pernicious pests, however, are swallowed with our edibles and this is one fountain head of supply that can be eliminated easily. We can eat pork loaded with trichina without the slightest ill effect if it is thoroughly roasted or boiled. The same is true of beef.

While hookworms are not common in all sections of the country, in some areas they are abundant. A pale, anemic child always should be examined for their presence. They destroy great quantities of blood cells and, in consequence, the youngster is unable to develop normally or to gain weight. If the condition is recognized, the first job which the physician faces is to build the circulating fluid back to normal. As soon as improvement is observed drugs such as tetrachlorethylene or caprokol may be used to kill the invaders.

The round variety [ascaris lumbricoides] occur everywhere. They resemble the earth worm and often give rise to colicky pains and loose bowels. Here again caprokol [hexylresorcinol] is the remedy of choice. It is nontoxic and will rid the alimentary tract of these outlaws. It is far more potent than the older prescription—the oil of chenopodium.

Still another type of round worm, known as strongyloides, may occasion intermittent diarrhea with digestive disturbances and the discharge of considerable mucus. This particular form will flee before an aniline dye—gentian violet. The preparation is given in specially coated tablets so that it will pass through the stomach unchanged. When the bowel is reached, however, solution takes place, whereupon the chemical attacks the parasites.

The ever present pinworm, sometimes called seat or threadworm [oxyuris], lives in the wall of the small bowel, in the appendix, and the first part of the lower intestine. When the females are about to lay their eggs they migrate along the tube until they reach the skin about the rectum, where they deposit their ova. Carelessness may lead to contamination of the digits, which in turn may be carried to the lips or to some article of food, such as a bit of bread. This reëmphasizes the oft-repeated caution that the hands should be washed thoroughly and frequently. The elimination of these unwelcome guests involves scrupulous cleanliness of the anal region, washing the parts with soap and water after each evacuation, enemas of caprokol or gentian violet, or caprokol by mouth. Once they are annihilated, reinfection may occur unless every member of the family is cured.

The whipworm, another undesirable tenant, may be found in large numbers in the colon, and sieges of vomiting, diarrhea, and various nervous disorders have been traced to its existence. The recommended vermifuge is milk from a fig tree found in Central and South America [higueronia]. This is usually administered on retiring and its ingestion is not attended with discomfort.

Tapeworms are worldwide in their distribution, but no one need harbor them if meat—their principal source—is prepared for the table at a sufficiently high temperature. Once they have taken hold treatment must be supervised by a skilled doctor who will study his patient and then determine the specific preparation to be employed. No matter how many linear feet of the segments may be expelled, regrowth will take place unless the head is dislodged. At the outset it is desirable to place the victim in a hospital, as complete control is thus obtainable.

No one will be obliged to play host to any of these zoölogical specimens if hygienic habits have been well established and if the one who presides in the kitchen is aware of the responsibility.

NOT DURING AN ATTACK.

Mrs. J. J. B. writes: Do you advise X-ray treatments for a 9 month old baby for whooping cough? What does this treatment do for the baby?

REPLY.

Not advised for prevention or during an attack. After the acute phase of the illness has passed, glandular swelling can be relieved by X-ray treatments directed to the root of the lung.

IT SHOULD BE REMOVED.

A. B. writes: Please tell me what is a dermoid cyst? Is it harmful? Should something be done?

REPLY.

A dermoid cyst is a tumor mass which may contain many tissues. All such growths should be removed surgically, particularly if attached to the ovary.

THE CITY'S BIGGEST HEADACHE.

Chicago, July 1.—Some say Chicago's biggest headache is suffered by passengers in the monoxide laden air of the local buses. On the contrary, the largest Chicago headache develops these hot summer days on the promenade from Oak street along the shore northward to the park.

How the north siders allowed the park system of Chicago to get away with a motor car road practically flush with the promenade gets me. You set yourself down on the uncomfortable benches or sit along the equally hard sea wall that begins above Burton place—it does not matter. You can corral in one hour a monoxide headache that outlasts a rum headache.

North siders, this may explain why you seem to arise of mornings with a face that only an undertaker can improve. You get that way because the city officials, park and otherwise, are out to serve the motorist first and the pedestrian or unmotorized last.

On top of it all the promenade is fenced off at Burton place and Schiller street. Beach visitors must trek to North avenue or Division street in order that our dear speeding motoring public may not be disturbed on the straightaway they have made of Lake Shore drive. It is fine for rainy days and late at night when it aids the footpads.

HEADACHE.

IMPUDENCE ON THE "L."

Chicago, July 3.—I have been a resident of this city for the last seven years and am not in the habit of making complaints about anything or anybody. I have found most people who serve the public to be courteous and pleasant.

But it seems that only ill-mannered and impudent women are eligible for jobs in the "L" ticket stations, particularly in the loop.

My sister, who had been in Chicago only three days, asked the woman at the Randolph and Wabash station if she could change for a particular train at that station. She was told that she could—in a very annoyed voice. [The ticket seller was reading a love story magazine.]

After waiting for twenty minutes my sister began to wonder if she hadn't misunderstood her. In asking her again she was answered with "I told you once," and continued with her magazine.

Only a couple of weeks ago I heard this same woman tell some boy of about 15 to "get going" after she had answered a question reluctantly.

It seems a shame when so many women would be glad to give out information, with a smile, and mean it. MARIAN.

WOULD BANISH THE PIGEONS.

Chicago, June 30.—My pulse and temperature are at the exploding point. Today was my first day to wear a white dress. I was one of the unfortunates, like Marion Smith, whose letter complained about the dirty pigeons. The dress was a mess, and to make matters worse I was on my way back from lunch. This happened near Dearborn and Washington streets.

I don't know what good these pigeons do. Let the pigeon lovers take them home and keep them under cover in their own back yard. I am not an animal hater—I like animals, but like everything else there is a place for them.

When we have cleanup week these pigeon "hangouts" are overlooked. These pigeons do anything but "Help Keep the City Clean." Isn't there some one who can rid the downtown section of this nuisance? A. K.

MOVING UP WITH THE PUPILS.

Chicago, June 30.—"Yes, daddy, I'm glad I passed, but I am going to be sorry to lose my teacher, Miss Scanlan, because she is just wonderful to us. When we are wrong she explains it to us. Gee, I'll miss her."

The above from my 7 year old son has set me to thinking. I would like to hear some views expressed pro and con concerning what I have in mind.

Why can't the teachers in our schools follow the class through the various grades until they graduate? They start to mold them at the outset in their first grade. They learn the best method of approach to the pupils and also their ability to learn their lessons as they want them to.

Under the present system it seems to me that considerable time is lost both by the teacher and the pupil every time they advance until each becomes acquainted with the other. I know there are arguments about not having the teacher move with the class, but do not the many advantages to be gained by both outweigh these other objections?

ALFRED HART.

A QUESTION FOR "THINKERS."

Chicago, June 30.—I wonder how many persons are as amazed as I when they meet others who really believe government ownership of business is the best thing.

To these "thinkers" I would like to ask one question: Did you ever try to get a city, county, state, or federal job during the last six years? If you can show me how it is possible without the right "pull" or paying several hundred dollars, I will change my opinion.

As one of those who "don't know anybody," give me private business any time, where one can get a job on experience and merit, regardless of "pull" or payment, be he Democrat or Republican.

MARCELINE DUVALL.

OVERWORKING WPA PEOPLE.

Chicago, June 26.—The fair labor standards act of 1938 was passed to prevent the exploitation of labor. Why, then, should a government which passes such a law itself exploit labor? I refer to the administrative WPA located in the Merchandise Mart.

For the last several weeks the accounting department—women included—has worked night after night. How come such conditions? Because certain individuals are out to make a good showing for themselves—at somebody else's expense—of course.

I'll bet you don't print this because it disproves your assertion that all WPA workers are shovel leaners. A. C.

LEANS TO TOWNSEND PLAN.

Maywood, Ill., June 30.—As a reader of your valuable paper for about forty years or more, I write you as follows about the Townsend plan. As your paper scarcely ever mentions it unless to ridicule it or poke fun at its members, what better plan could you suggest for our national government and states to take care of our people, whom our economic system of business prevents from accumulating enough for a comfortable existence in their declining years? If you and other great private organizations can pay good pensions to your employés, why could not a system be worked out that our national government could do this, after we reach a certain age, after paying taxes direct and indirect for forty years or more? This would relieve you as well as all other private enterprises of paying large pensions. Can you give a good, honest answer? B. B. COONS.

"PULL" IN WPA.

Chicago, June 30.—For four years Chicago's WPA directors have permitted married women who have employed husbands to hold good paying jobs on projects, jobs which if filled by persons on relief, as in practically every instance they could be, would have effected enormous savings to the people who have to pay for our city's WPA and relief. Instead of placing the neediest and most deserving people in WPA jobs, these directors have in countless instances given WPA employment to persons in least need of it merely because the latter had some pull. FAIR PLAY.

CONTRASTING TWO NATIONS.

Oak Park, Ill., July 1.—Here is a short item from the Lutheran Witness, dated June 27, 1939:

"As this is written, national honors are being paid to the rulers of a country which has been defaulting in war debt payments at the rate of $200,000,000 a year. Finland is paying her debts to the United States and is the only indebted country that is not swindling us out of our loans. Finland is practically all Lutheran. G."

ERNEST T. LAMB.

WHO VOTED WHICH WAY.

Chicago, June 30.—As father of a boy of military age I wish to know who were the members of congress who voted for the treasonable bill to end American neutrality.

If space permits please print their names and also the honest Americans whose votes for the time defeated them. A FATHER.

CANADA TO TAKE OVER CONTROL OF RADIO STATIONS

Face Loss of Revenue from Advertising.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 3.—Following the bare announcement that all privately owned radio networks in Canada will be taken under the control of the Canadian Broadcasting corporation, the government's radio men refused today to reveal many details of the move.

An attempt to clamp down on the indiscriminate use of the air for political purposes in the next Canadian federal election was read into the action by political observers. But corporation officials deny this.

Privately owned systems have been notified that the new policy will go into effect on Sept. 24 and that the corporation will take control of all network programs, including advertising matter.

Might Lose Revenue.

"It is being done in accordance with a recommendation of the parliamentary committee," said Maj. Gladstone Murray, general manager of the C. B. C. "It was recommended last session that there should be a system of subsidiary hookups under the general direction and control of the corporation."

Maj. Murray declined to discuss the advertising phase of the matter, although he admitted that the taking over of private networks might result in a loss of advertising revenue.

Meantime, Ottawa unofficially suggests that this is a move to curb advertising time on Canadian chain programs.

Private stations will not be permitted to negotiate with advertisers.

Will Get Lower Rates.

A few details of the new control system have still to be worked out. In general, however, those stations agreeing to join will hand over a percentage of their time to the C. B. C. and receive a basic rate, for the most part lower than that at present charged to advertisers.

It is reported unofficially that to compensate for the loss of advertising revenue and time the independent stations will be assured of a higher standard of programs which will have its effect on the sale of the balance of their time. Production costs also will be cut and the C. B. C. will assume liability for the chain program.

There are twenty-six private stations already functioning in coöperation with the C. B. C. as a subsidiary chain. These, it is understood, will not be affected directly by the new control. Between twenty and thirty independent stations already have been notified of the impending move.

Under existing arrangements individual permission must be obtained from the corporation whenever privately owned stations desire to broadcast over a network hookup. There is only one network in Canada at the present time. Under the new arrangement a permanent association of stations for network broadcasts can be created.

AMY LESLIE, 90, EX-ACTRESS AND CRITIC, IS DEAD

Wrote Chicago Drama News for 40 Years.

Amy Leslie, for forty years a drama critic and before that a well known actress, died last night in her home at the Parkway hotel after a long illness. She was 90 years old, according to Dr. A. H. Waterman, her physician for twenty-eight years.

Miss Leslie conquered Broadway back in the days of Gilbert and Sullivan. She was a friend of Edwin Booth, Sarah Bernhardt, Beerbohm Tree, Julia Marlowe, E. H. Sothern, Lillian Russell, and John Drew. She was born in West Burlington, Ia., and christened Lillie West. She went on the stage in light opera at an early age and starred in "The Mikado," "Pinafore," and "The Pirates of Penzance."

Gives Up Stage as Son Dies.

While playing Fiametta in "La Mascotte" Harry Brown, an opera singer, won her hand. They married and trouped together all over America. Then a son, Frankie, was born. Miss Leslie was immensely fond of him. At the age of 4, Frankie died of diphtheria and she was grief-stricken. Although then the prima donna of "Castles in the Air" with DeWolf Hopper, she gave up her career and came to Chicago to nurse her grief.

She began contributing to The Daily News, signing her stories with the pen name of Amy Leslie. Eventually she became drama critic of that paper in 1890. She retired in 1930.

Marries Again in 1901.

Miss Leslie was divorced from Brown. In 1901 she married Frank H. Buck, a bell captain at the old Virginia hotel. At that time she gave her age as 45 years. Brown said he was 23. Miss Leslie earlier had said she was born in 1860. She was believed by her closest friends to have been about ten years older than she admitted.

She was divorced by Buck in 1916, two years after he had sued on charges that she was cruel, that she nagged, and that she made him the object of humiliation in public places. Miss Leslie filed an answer to the suit but was not represented at the hearing.

NEWSPAPER ITEM BRINGS JOYFUL NEWS TO VISITOR

Robert Peden, 21 years old, realized his long cherished ambition yesterday. A telegram from the United States war department in Washington, D. C., arrived at the University of Chicago—Peden's temporary address here—informing the young man that he had won an appointment to West Point Military academy. A money order for traveling expenses was attached.

Peden, whose home is in Dallas, Tex., came to Chicago, intending to enter the university if the West Point appointment fell through. He had been receiving his mail at the university office. Yesterday there appeared in The Tribune a brief item informing Peden the police were looking for him with the glad news of the appointment. Peden was at the university shortly after daybreak, took the telegram and the money order and then boarded a plane for the military academy.

LUTHARDT DEATH QUIZ CONTINUED; RITES TOMORROW

An inquest into the death of William H. Luthardt, former police chief secretary, whose body was found Saturday morning in the vestibule of a building at 1536 67th place, was continued yesterday until Aug. 2 to allow police to investigate.

Luthardt, who lived at 1417 East Marquette road, left his home at 10:30 p. m. Friday night to buy a paper. When his body was found six hours later his watch, revolver, wallet, and $100 were missing. A chemical examination is being made of his blood to determine the cause of death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 316 West 63d street. The body will be sent to Baltimore, Md., for burial.

American Flyer in Holland Dies in Fall Downstairs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 3.—John A. Rose, one of six American pilots for the Royal Dutch Airlines, died today of a brain concussion suffered in a fall down a stairway in the Scheveningen hotel. Rose, 23 years old, was a native of San Antonio, Tex., and formerly was a pilot for United Airlines. He was engaged to fly the European routes of the Dutch company this year. His widow and two children are in America.

Heir Who Spent His Million in 4 Years Dies Obscurely

New York, July 3.—Halsey Corwin, who inherited $1,000,000 at the turn of the century and spent it all in four years, died today in obscurity at the age of 72. When the wealth was spent he took a job as subway ticket puncher at $12 a week.

Retired Shoemaker Dies at 101 in Lawrenceville

Lawrenceville, Ill., July 3.—(AP)—John C. Smith, 101 years old, Lawrenceville's oldest resident, died at his home here tonight. He was born near Albion, Ill., April 17, 1838. For more than half a century he followed his trade as a shoemaker, retiring about 30 years ago. The funeral will be held Wednesday at his old home at Bone Gap, Ill.

ROB GIRL CASHIER ON STREET.

Miss Gertrude Casico, 21 years old, 4924 Iowa street, cashier in her father's meat market, was robbed of $198 yesterday by two young bandits who threw her to the ground, grabbed her purse, and fled. She was taking the money to a bank.

One Newly Bought

Families of three of the nine persons who lost their lives in the grain elevator fire on May 11 have received checks from the Federal Life Insurance company under Tribune policies, it was announced yesterday. The three were:

Ernest H. Lindgren, 8411 Cregier avenue, weighman, who had had his policy, costing only 10 cents a month, since last December. His widow was paid $1,000.

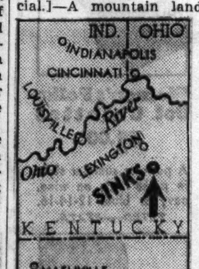
Henry V. Kreil, 2909 East 99th street, whose policy dated from March 2, 1935. His widow was paid $1,400.

Ernest Berg, 6429 South Honore street, insured since Nov. 17, 1928, whose widow received $1,500, the maximum for this type of death. Beneficiaries of about sixty readers have collected on Tribune policies for deaths by fire.

A memorial service for Linn M. Keefer, another victim of the fire whose body has not yet been found, will be held Thursday at 2700 East 75th street at 8 p. m.

THREE TRAINMEN KILLED BENEATH MOUNTAIN SLIDE

Mount Vernon, Ky., July 3.—[Special.]—A mountain landslide killed three trainmen today and buried their heavily loaded freight train under thousands of tons of rock. The engineer, fireman and a brakeman were crushed by the locomotive, which was hurled into a creek.



Arrow points to scene of wreck.

The train was a Louisville and Nashville freight on the main line between Knoxville, Tenn., and Cincinnati, O. It was struck by the avalanche of rock and earth as it approached the village of Sinks, near here.

The slide was said to have been the largest in many years along the line. Huge slabs of rock derailed ten cars filled with merchandise. Some of the rocks were so large wrecking crews had to blast them with dynamite before they could be removed from the tracks.

COUPLE HURLED IN LAKE DURING ROW OVER FISH

A fishing outing at Navy pier almost ended in tragedy last night for Rudolph Kremske, 36 years old, and his wife, Alice, 32, of 2553 South Harding avenue, when a disgruntled acquaintance pushed them into the lake.

The two had caught six perch. Louis Kochan, 49, of 2450 North Rockwell street, and Edmund Coda, 38, of 2212 Palmer street, approached them and Kochan demanded some of the fish. Kremske refused. Police said Kochan then pushed Kremske into the water. Kremske accidentally carried his wife in with him. Coda dived for Mrs. Kremske and saved her, and a motorboat pilot saved Kremske. Inhalator squads revived both. Mrs. Kremske was taken to County hospital. Kochan was arrested, and Coda also was held when police learned that he is an ex-convict.

Toledo Pigeon Trainer Dies; Birds Used to Carry News

Toledo, O., July 3.—[Special.]—Fred Scott, 70 years old, whose homing pigeons were used by the Toledo Blade 30 years ago to carry pictures and stories of the Interlake regatta at Put-in-bay, died today after an illness of two years.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Lucy Owen.

Mrs. Lucy Owen, widow of William Bishop Owen, for many years president of the Chicago Normal college, died yesterday. She was 71 years old and lived at 306 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth. Mrs. Owen was a member of the Woman's City club and was associated with various charitable and civic organizations. She is survived by three sons, Roberts and Anderson, who are attorneys, and William, a commercial artist, and five grandchildren. Funeral services will be held in the Congregational church of Winnetka at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

Lawrence Burns.

Lawrence Burns, who was president of the Illinois Central division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, for 20 years, died at the age of 81 yesterday in his home, 6514 Kimbark avenue. Mr. Burns, who had been retired for ten years, was an engineer for the railroad for 40 years. Surviving are his widow, Ida Jane; three sons, Jack, Lawrence Jr., and George; and seven daughters, Kathryn Haynes, Helen Smith, Lola Eddy, Lona Hudson, Blanche Johnston, Goldie O'Hara, and Opal Moore. Services will be at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue.

Dr. George A. Parker.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 3.—(AP)—Dr. George A. Parker, 82 years old, dean emeritus of the college of fine arts, Syracuse university, died tonight. He had been ill five days with pneumonia. Dr. Parker had been associated with the college since its founding in 1882 and resigned as dean in 1923 after serving in that post for seventeen years. He was born in Kewanee, Ill., and received his early education there. He studied music in Chicago and then spent four years at the Royal conservatory at Stuttgart, Germany. He also studied in Berlin.

Mrs. Edith Houdek.

Mrs. Edith Houdek, wife of John Houdek, former assistant general cashier of The Tribune, died yesterday. She lived with her husband, now head of an accounting firm, at 2351 East 74th street. Other survivors are three brothers, E. Wayne and W. Earl of Chicago and Roland D. Whitlock of Los Angeles. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday in the chapel at 8944 Commercial avenue. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery.

Lawrence E. Coughlin.

Lawrence E. Coughlin, 72 years old, 434 Spring street, Aurora, chief engineer of the Aurora water works department, died yesterday in St. Joseph Mercy hospital. He was born in Aurora in 1866 and was an employé of the city for 47 years. Surviving are his wife, Nellie, and four sons. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in St. Mary's church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

NAVY TOWS HUGE PONTOONS OUT TO LIFT SUNKEN SUB

Portsmouth, N. H., July 3.—(AP)—Speeding its salvage work to a 24-hour basis for the first time, the United States navy tonight towed two pontoons to the watery grave of the submarine Squalus, ready for the first attempt to raise the submersible.

With preparations for lifting the Squalus nearing completion, Rear Admiral C. W. Cole, commandant of the Portsmouth navy yard, remained at the disaster scene overnight, in personal charge of the salvage operations, which continued despite the Fourth of July holiday. However, officials at the navy yard said it might be several days before the lifting operation is attempted.

A huge chain was taken alongside the rescue ship Falcon, anchored 15 miles off Portsmouth over the Squalus and its 26 dead men. The Falcon has been at the scene since the Squalus went down on May 23.

110,000 Ffamilies GET 15% SLASH IN RELIEF QUOTAS

A 15 per cent reduction in monthly allotments to 110,000 families on relief in Chicago went into effect yesterday. The curtailed schedule will give families $22.50 for July, compared with $25.32 for May and $25.50 for June. Leo M. Lyons, relief commissioner, said the cut was due to the failure of the state legislature to appropriate as much money as in the last two months. The appropriation for July is $4,000,000. For the two preceding months it was $4,400,000 each. The reduction permits allocation of only 65 per cent of family needs, Lyons said.

Hold Lobster Lunch at Lake Geneva Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE famous lobster quadrille of "Alice in Wonderland" had no more lobsters assembled in it than the Lake Geneva Country club will have today for its famous July Fourth lobster luncheon. Lobster hot and lobster cold, lobster salad and lobster a la Newburg are served to more than 100 members and guests every Fourth.

It is a time honored get together, started in 1899 by the late Charles L. Hutchinson and the late Tracy Drake, and held annually ever since. The same recipes are used each year. Before luncheon, and after, if it is physically possible, there will be tennis and golf tournaments.

The new tennis courts were opened with proper ceremonies Saturday. A handsome new marquee in the club colors, blue and gold, was finished last week, and adds greatly to the charm of the courts, our correspondent at the lake writes. The first dinner-dance of the season was held Saturday.

A son of Mr. Drake, the Rev. Francis A. Drake, will be among those lunching at the club today, for Dr. and Mrs. Drake are visiting at Flowerside farms, the summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin of New York.

Dr. Drake spent most of the summers of his childhood at the lake at Aloha lodge, the summer home of his parents. Dr. Drake, who is a minister of the Church of Youth, First Congregational church, in Los Angeles, was the guest speaker Sunday morning at George Williams college camp on the north shore of Lake Geneva.

Miss Dorothy Warner Will Be Debutante.

The Rawleigh Warners' hospitable big home at Lake Geneva is filled with young people every summer, but the family's special Fourth of July weekend guests this year are Mr. and Mrs. Warner's friends, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Dawes, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leonard.

The Warners are planning a tea at home in Winnetka on Sept. 8 to introduce to society their second daughter, Miss Dorothy Warner. There will be dancing on an outdoor platform, weather permitting, and it will be the same jolly sort of a debut the Warners gave for Miss Mary Warner.

Miss Dorothy was graduated from the Northampton School for Girls, and entered Sarah Lawrence college last year. She will continue at Sarah Lawrence this fall. Rawleigh Warner Jr. will return to Lawrenceville in September for his last year.

The Warners' niece, Miss Sally Haskins of Cranford, N. J., will be with her cousins in Lake Geneva until the middle of July, when Miss Dorothy will leave for Dallas, Tex., to visit her roommate, Miss Anne Lewis. Susan Warner attends the North Shore Country Day school, and will not be a debutante for about three years.

Lake Geneva Garden Club Meets Tomorrow.

Mrs. William H. Emery will be hostess to the Lake Geneva Garden club at her home, Stone Gates, near Cedar Point park, on the north shore of the lake, tomorrow. Mrs. Mahlon Ogden Bradley of Highland Park will discuss flower arrangements. She will illustrate the talk with fresh flowers from Mrs. Emery's garden.

Miss Edith Kohlsaat, president of the garden club, has left with the William F. Petersens to motor to Denver, where she will visit some of the famous gardens of that vicinity. Dr. and Mrs. Petersen and their three sons will go on to San Francisco to see the fair. They will return to Lake Geneva early in August.

Ellen Douglas Jaeger Becomes Bride.

The former Mrs. George Jaeger Jr.'s many Chicago and Lake Forest friends will be interested to learn of her marriage on June 28 in Valparaiso, Ind., to Gregory Williamson of New York.

The bride, formerly Ellen Douglas of Cedar Rapids, Ia., has a daughter, Margot, who is about six. Mr. Williamson and the then Mrs. Jaeger have known each other for a number of years, having met when he was in the bridal party of her sister, Barbara, and Gail Burck, who now live in Pasadena.

Mr. Williamson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory Williamson, live in San Francisco. Mr. Williamson is a graduate of Leland Stanford university. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are temporarily in New York, but they will live in Noroton, Conn.

Dennehy Family to Have Picnic.

The Dennehy family will have its usual Fourth of July picnic on the Thomas C. Dennehy farm near Waukegan. All the children and grandchildren will be there.

The William Bartholomays' friends will drive to Barrington this evening for the Bartholomays' annual July 4 supper and barn dance.

The Stuart Otises have rented the Heyworth place at Desbarats, Ont., for the summer. The Stanley Morrills, who have a place at Desbarats, went north last week. Mr. Morrill is staying only over the Fourth, but Mrs. Morrill and the children will spend the summer there. The Corson Ellises went to Desbarats last week to occupy the Robert Thorne place.

Sidney F. Fairlee is expecting a visit from his niece and her bridegroom, Count and Countess Lorenzo Paolozzi of Rome. They will spend a week with him in Kenilworth while on their way to California. The Paolozzis landed in New York on June 29 and went to the Adirondacks summer camp of her mother, Mrs. William S. Spaulding of Boston.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photos.]

This is the "bustle" hairdress, created to complement the bustle gowns that are forecast for fall. Over the forehead a large soft curl is rolled under. At the sides there are single plump curls held high and the chignon of four curls is topped with a big satin bow. If hair is short in back, new and beautifully made hair pieces can accomplish the illusion. A new device called a "hair bustle" can be tucked inside the curls to keep them puffed and intact. These modern descendants of grandmother's "rats" are hollow cylinders of wiry thread, air-conditioned and efficient, around which you twist your real or false curl and pin it in place. The bustle hairdress is already a favorite in the east. And so are false hair pieces!

Welcome Motto in Cross-Stitch Is Pretty Framed

BY NANCY CABOT.

Of the many forms of welcome none is more heart-warming than this sincere greeting embroidered in cross-stitch and encased in a narrow, natural colored wood frame. With the motto omitted one has a dainty wall picture to be hung in one's own or the guest room.

For the hot iron transfer of the welcome motto, No. X-596, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Doris Anne Roessler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Roessler of 8247 South Ada street, and John E. Nielsen of 7929 South Morgan street will take place at 5 o'clock Saturday at the Faith Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mr. Nielsen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nielsen of St. Paul, Minn., and his bride will make their home in Auburn Park.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. David Adler of Lake Shore drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Perle Helene, to Leonard Allen Rosenberg, son of Mrs. Moe Rosenberg of Independence boulevard. Miss Adler attended the University of Illinois and her fiancé the University of Michigan.

A Supper Spoils but These Brave Kids Can Take It

"Oo-oo! Mario, Rosemary, Eugene, Johanna, come up! It's spaghetti for supper," sings Mrs. Theresa from the kitchen door.

Four pair of feet storm up the narrow wooden steps to the second floor flat above the little grocery, a flat of four small but scrupulously neat rooms. So long as scrubbing, planning, and devotion can help the relief budget, Mamma Theresa's children will have a nice home.

There is a splashing of water in the kitchen sink, a tussle over the towel, a pushing up of chairs to the table. That happy noise of her brood settling for supper is beautiful music to Mamma Theresa.

A sudden hush warns her of something amiss. The children's faces have drooped like wilted flowers. Mamma Theresa winds a thread on her fork and tastes. Four pair of troubled eyes see tears fall on her dish of spaghetti.

"It's okay, mamma. We're not hungry, honest!"

Mario—he is 14, and the oldest—is the spokesman. At his stern glance even Johanna, the baby, cuts short her wild wail of disappointment.

The little tragedy of night before last in the widow Theresa's household—spoiled food and supperless youngsters—is being repeated with a thousand variations in the homes of the city's poor.

"Can't you get us some ice right away," calls a physician. "It's a heart case and we need ice packs. The family is desperately poor."

THE TRIBUNE again reminds its readers of the Free Ice fund sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc., and administered by the United Charities. Mother Theresa was made happy yesterday with ice provided from the fund.

Western Electric company	$25.00
I. D. Goss	15.00
Mrs. Annie R. Piatt	10.00
The Delta Phi club	10.00
A friend	5.00
Anonymous	5.00
Vacationist	2.00
J. McKinlay	2.00
Mamie F. Strauss	2.00
Billy Corley	1.00
Anonymous	1.00
Mrs. Farrell	1.00
V. A. L.	1.00
Helen K. Ford	1.00
Total	$81.00

With $59.50 in previous donations in the fund the total is now $140.50.

A contribution of $25 for Camp Algonquin, received yesterday from I. D. Goss, brings the total in that fund to $281.77. Camp Algonquin, also maintained by the United Charities with the aid of TRIBUNE readers, is a vacation spot on the Fox river for needy mothers and children.

Cavallo's Band Gives Grant Park Concert; Two Programs Today

Cavallo's Symphonic band, Peter A. Cavallo conducting, made its first 1939 appearance in Grant park last night. The occasion was the third concert in the series of 67 which the Chicago Park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians are presenting free on the lake front.

In excerpts from "Aida" and "Madam Butterfly", such standbys as the "Blue Danube" waltz and the "March Slav," and light marches and comedy pieces of the "Ragging the Scale" variety, Mr. Cavallo and his men succeeded in doing a great deal more than merely piling up the sonorities for which bands are famous. There was crisp cleanness in the highly rhythmic pieces, a wealth of expressive inflection in the more reposeful offerings. E. B.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Bob Hope, over at the Chicago, says that Eddie Cantor's been living in a tree ever since he saw "Tarzan Finds a Son."

Guess where Tarzan finds him? Not in a cabbage. Not in a rose. Stork didn't bring him. Nope. Tame in a dweat, bid airypwane when he was a itty bitty baby an de airypwane fah down an do BOOM an' de mommy and de poppy do boom too. [O, Fannie Brice, why WILL YOU . . .!]

Well—the baby's cries are heard by a band of monkeys—which, after a lot of laughable monkey business, lug him out of the plane and up into a tree. Here he is captured by Cheetah, the Tarzans' ape servant, that delivers him unto Tarzan, who transports him home to Wife Jane, who goes into raptures over him. . . .

And so the Tarzans have a son who can holler as loud as papa, stay under water quite as long as his old man, and show the latter a thing or two in the way of getting from tree to tree.

All is very felicitous until there come to the jungle white folks looking for the plane and people who had been lost. Young Tarzan's father and mother had, it seemed, belonged to a wealthy British family and now hunting for them and him are his granduncle, who's on the level, and a pair of other relatives who aren't, but would have him out of the way for good so that they could claim his inheritance.

To the tune of all sorts of thrills—animal fights, elephant charges, native todoes—there's one fine old jitterbug demonstration!—and chases, pursuits and killings of varied nature, the plot unwinds—to the sort of ending you'll like.

John Sheffield, as the son, is a wonder. What an athlete, that lad! And WHAT a voice!

Of course, you understand, the exploits of the character created by Edgar Rice Burroughs are not for the blasé. But for the blessed who retain within themselves the eternal child—they're swell entertainment. And for youngsters they will never stale.

See you soon.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

How would you like it if the style for hair "long enough to sit on" were revived? Don't be alarmed. We hear no rumors of such revival, and we have large suspicions that our women would stage a revolt were the idea even suggested seriously. Our theory is that you'll never get women to adopt extremely long hair as a vogue any more than you can get them into long skirts for street wear again.

Goodness knows, attempts have been made without success in recent years to extend the hemline to Victorian prudery length. And the reason women of our era rebel is that the lengthened skirt not only makes for an older appearance but it simply does not fit into the modern woman picture. And the same may be said about long hair. Its weighted look added to the head succeeds in piling on years as well as creating infinite trouble tending it, which does not fit in with our anti-leisured lives.

Probably the only place for long, long hair of the Seven Sutherland vintage is exactly where one such head is being exhibited now. In the Strange As It Seems attraction at the world's fair you can see a young woman, Polish born, with hair that touches the floor. It is seven feet long. It so happens in Miss Hanka Kelter's life that her hair turned into a scheme of livelihood. Prior to her coming to America, we're told, she had attained some prominence as a concert pianist. Upon arrival in America Miss Kelter found the music field overcrowded. Every one she met in this country remarked on her amazing hair, which is beautiful long hair, indeed. Eventually the very nice young woman realized that there was more money to be made in displaying nature's gift than in pounding ivory keys.

On the street, or when not displaying her trailing crown of glory to her audience, she wears her hair in two long braids that would scrape the ground if allowed to do so.

Water Under the Bridge

Hollywood, Cal., July 3.—You think of other July dates in the career of Jack Dempsey, as you see by the papers that the ex-champ is waging a winning fight for his life at New York's Polyclinic hospital. For the active life of Dempsey is a water under the bridge document that mirrors amazing changes in screen history, politics, aviation, and everything else.

At 3:55 p. m. July 4, 1919, Challenger Jack Dempsey climbed into the ring at Bayview Park, Toledo, O., for his twelve round fight with Champion Jess Willard. The championship fight divided page one interest with the news that President Woodrow Wilson, returning to America on the S. S. George Washington, would use for the first time at sea the wireless telegraph. His July 4 address would be heard aboard all army transports within a radius of 300 miles. . . . Other page one stories on July 4, 1919: London's Daily Mail reported that the former Kaiser Wilhelm would be imprisoned in the tower of London and put on trial as a murderer. . . . The British dirigible R-34, first lighter-than-air ship to cross the Atlantic, was reported over Newfoundland. . . . The movie stars of 1919 included May Murray, Edna Purviance, Priscilla Dean, Pauline Frederick, Zasu Pitts, Tom Moore, Ethel Clayton, Colleen Moore, Bessie Love, Eddie Polo, Charlie Chaplin, Bill Farnum and Tom Santschi, Betty Compson, J. Warren Kerrigan, and H. B. Warner.

In that fight in 1919 Dempsey won the heavyweight championship in four rounds, when Willard failed to answer the bell. The new champion got $27,500. Willard got $80,000 in Liberty bonds and $20,000 in cash.

Two years later, July 2, 1921, the scene shifts to Boyle's Thirty Acres, at Jersey City. Champion Dempsey is booed as he enters the ring to defend his title against Challenger Georges Carpentier in a fight barred from New York state by Gov. Al Smith. Dempsey wins by a knockout in the fourth round. . . . A new generation of movie stars has developed: Veteran Mary Carr, Mabel Normand, Sessue Hayakawa, Eva Novak, Wanda Hawley, Elsie Ferguson, Alice Joyce, Ben Turpin. Wallace Reid. Larry Semon, Dorothy Phillips, Hobart Bosworth, William Faversham, Eileen Percy, Florence Vidor, Seena Owen, and Lois Wilson. . . . In Nevada, the lawyers were debating the legality of the Mary Pickford-Owen Moore divorce. . . . At Washington, D. C., Postmaster General Will Hays announced that hereafter film companies could ship their film by parcel post, an advantage heretofore denied them because of the fire hazard. . . . In Chicago, two years after the crime had been committed, the Chicago White Sox had been brought to trial on sensational charges of "throwing" the 1919 world series to Cincinnati.

On July 2, 1921, Dempsey's K. O. of the Frenchman predominated over all other ringside news, but most amusing is this description of a preliminary fight on the card: "Two big scared stiffs bored every one at the ringside by stalling through seven rounds. The referee, to the relief of every one, finally decided that the more scared of the pair, Soldier Jones, had been knocked out, and gave the decision to the other stiff, Gene Tunney." . . . Five years later, Sept. 23, 1926, "the other stiff" was to win the title from Dempsey.

Sept. 22, 1927, at Soldiers' field, Chicago, Dempsey was cast as the challenger for the first time since the Toledo fight. In the seventh round Dempsey came within a whisker of regaining his championship, Tunney getting all the better of a referee's blunder that echoes down the years —"the long count." . . . Tunney's terrific finish in the last three rounds retained the title for him. . . . On the night of the fight, Chicago theaters were offering "What Price Glory," with Edmund Lowe, Dolores Del Rio, and Victor McLaglen; Clara Bow in "Hula," and Director Frank Borzages' "Seventh Heaven," in which two "unknowns," Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell, didn't even get mention in the advertisments.

A few days after the Tunney-Dempsey fight, Movie Star Norma Shearer's Beverly Hills wedding to Irving Thalberg, M.-G.-M. assistant producer, was buried in coast papers because of the reception of Col. Charles Lindbergh, returning from the trans-Atlantic flight that made him a hero. . . . At New York, Ruth Elder was preparing to hop for Europe with Capt. George Haldeman in her plane, the American Girl. . . . At Boston, Babe Ruth hit his fifty-eighth homer and tied his 1921 record. . . . Another new crop of movie stars had arisen—John Gilbert, Lon Chaney, Lew Cody, Rod La Rocque, Clara Bow, Norma Talmadge, Jobyna Ralston, Lila Lee, Bebe Daniels, Esther Ralston, and Jack Mulhall.

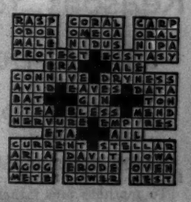
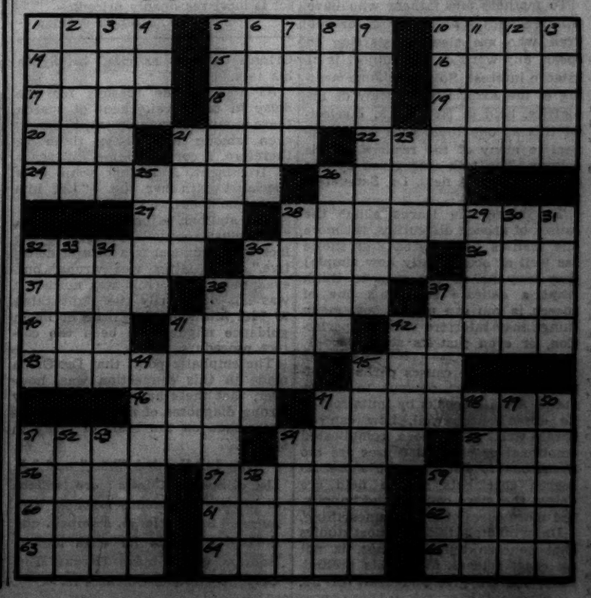
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





Good-bye To Vienna

By Olga L. Rossmanith

(Copyright: 1939: By News Syndicate Company, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

An American girl and her Viennese sweetheart, Franz Gruenwald, in a café in Vienna hear a radio announcement of Hitler's entry into Austria. The girl, Marian Taylor, has been staying in Franz's house, studying voice. Franz fears for his foster father, Prof. Josef von Plasy, author of a recent anti-Nazi book. He refuses to flee the country and leave his wife, Gisela, and son Johann, who has the mind of a child. Leopoldine, a pro-Nazi woman surgeon in love with Franz, warns him to send the American girl home. Her brother, Karl, is a Storm Trooper. Von Plasy is taken off to jail to die from shock. In order to take Gisela's money out of the country to deliver to her friend, Emil Wiedermann in Riga, Marian invests it in rare stamps. Herr Speyer, the stamp merchant, guesses her purpose, but is sympathetic and asks her to deliver a picture to a friend of his in Riga, a Mme. Lonska. Marian leaves without telling Franz her purpose. Franz loses his job. When Leopoldine secures one for him he accepts it for the sake of his dependents. Marian learns Herr Wiedermann is in love with Gisela and wants to arrange for her and Johann to come to Riga. He takes her to call on Mme. Lonska, who insists that Marian stay with her. Marian realizes that Mme. Lonska is a spy and that she thinks Marian also is one and that the picture from Herr Speyer was a message in code.

INSTALMENT XX.

TRAGIC HAPPENINGS.

Marian got into Vienna the day following her departure, but the train from Warsaw ran in late and it was nearly midnight. She resisted the temptation to call Franz on the telephone. It would be better fun early in the morning than to wake them all up. She called Frau Radovic at the Kai apartment to warn her that she was on her way, because that lady would certainly be in bed.

However, this time she was not. Marian arrived to find her packing feverishly in a dismantled apartment. "I'm going to Bulgaria to live with my husband's people. I don't think much of Sofia, but it's better than this. Such goings on I never did see in my life." She added sharply—"there's some milk heating on the gas for you. Why didn't you let me know you were coming? You have a home in a civilized country. You must be a lunatic to come back."

"Just the same things from day to day are enough to make it worse because it means that more people are homeless, terrified, and miserable. Imagine it! That dear old Jewish lady who keeps the stationery shop thanked me with tears in her eyes for stopping to speak to her. She was grateful because I was not ashamed to be seen with her on the street."

Marian could think of nothing to say to this, the situation was overwhelming. Her thoughts had been too full of Franz to think about her professional future, but she decided it now in one clear far-seeing minute. "I hate the thing as much as you do. I wouldn't dream of staying. I came back for Franz Gruenwald. My father will get him out. We will marry and forget all this over in America."

Frau Radovic laughed harshly. "Go back where you belong and thank God for your birthright. How many people do you think are in Vienna—in Austria—in all Germany who wouldn't give their ears, their eyes, their right hands to stand free and privileged as you do tonight? And in Russia too and in Italy. Gott in Himmel, what's the time?"

Marian heard the old clock wheeze its last stroke. She looked at her wrist watch. "You might well ask. It's three o'clock."

"Run along and get some sleep then. You'd better go back to the Reichsratstrasse. I'm leaving the city tomorrow. I mean today," she added opening a cedar chest and producing some blankets. "And that's not soon enough."

She helped Marian fix her bed. "Two Storm Troopers called here to see you the day after you'd gone. I wouldn't call Herr Gruenwald on the telephone if I were you. They'll know at once that you've returned to Vienna."

Marian had a sinking sensation at the pit of her stomach. What on earth could they want her for? The very mention of the fact that they had called on her produced an immediate heart searching, an illogical feeling of guilt.

She slept uncomfortably in fitful snatches and took her bath a few hours later, feverishly wakeful. She said good-by to Frau Radovic and left her handbags in the care of the janitor to be called for later. Then set out by streetcar to the Reichsratstrasse feeling a thousand years old.

Although she arrived shortly after eight Franz had already left for the hospital. Gisela drew her into the apartment wide-eyed, joyful, and incredulous.

"I cannot believe it. I could not believe you had gone away. You were so quick." She lowered her voice although no one was within earshot. "You heard what happened about the Storm Troopers. O, that was a wonderful thing you did for me."

Marian knew the glory of having achieved something difficult for somebody else.

"More wonderful still. I have got it all safely through and your money is waiting for you in safe keeping."

Gisela held her hands and stared at her with something like fear in her eyes. "No Marian—no. That is really impossible. I cannot believe it. But come—I will quickly get you some frühstück."

Marian sat down at the familiar table with its yellow pottery and immaculate damask cloth. Gisela set the fresh coffee in front of her and said—"now quickly—tell me—I cannot wait."

Marian recounted the story of the great idea, the old stamp collector in the Prinz Eugen Strasse, the ordeal on the train, her anxiety about the authenticity of the stamps, and finally the good news from the Riga dealer. "I thought of you as little more than a child. You are a woman—a brave woman of resource." Her lip trembled a little. "Now the future is like a long tunnel—far away it shows a light."

"I thought Herr Wiedermann perfectly wonderful. He will help you go to Latvia."

"No," said Gisela promptly, "not Latvia. No."

"But that is so simple Gisela. Why not?"

"It is too difficult to explain to you."

"Perhaps I understand. I mean I know he loves you."

Marian saw the color stain Gisela's pale skin, and a stubborn implacable look alter her face from its habitual gentleness. "Yes that is the reason I cannot allow him to help me."

Marian felt herself divided from this woman by a gulf wider than that between generations—it was a whole world of different feeling and thinking.

"But that is the very reason you should naturally look to him for help. He is the one who will most enjoy doing things for you."

"You don't understand Marian. If I cannot give I cannot take."

"O, but that seems to me so silly—" Forgive me," she cried as she saw Gisela wince. "But it is—don't you see? If you let him assist you it will make him happy. You are independent of financial help. You have your own money."

Gisela nodded gravely, but her mouth was still stubborn. "Thanks to you."

"Well then, Gisela. He is a good friend—a marvelous, generous, kind man. He has not married because of you—no one else could take your place. He told me so. He expects nothing from you. I know that the giving would be all on your side if you let him help—it would make him so happy."

Gisela twisted her heavy old wedding ring. "You are young. You don't know men. He would watch me and wait. He would reason that some day I might forget Josef. It would be a cruelty on my part to go. He would say nothing. But he would hope for it."

This was so true that Marian felt beaten. "Where then would you think of going?"

"America. I have news from Hilde. She is happy. She is safe. She is going to be married."

"O, that is good news. I wonder who. Did she say? Is it somebody I know?"

Gisela smiled. "You are the child again. And so is she. I know nothing more—I have only a crazy telegram. I must wait at least a week to get a letter."

Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The urge to bake or eat a chocolate cake comes around at least as often as the yearning to make or buy a new dress. Chocolate cake is the favorite of all cakes with most of us.

There are chocolate cakes to suit every whim and fancy which a cake-eater could possibly develop. I'm not referring to changes of frosting and filling, but to variations in the cake itself. Here are two chocolate cakes as unlike as two cakes can be, but both are extremely good to eat and unmistakably chocolate. The first is a butter cake, the second a sponge type, with cocoa.

Sour Cream Devil's Food

[Two 9 inch layers]

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or other fat
1¼ cups sugar
1 unbeaten egg
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup thick sour cream
¾ cup sweet milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, add soda and salt, and resift three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until fluffy and light. Beat in egg, then add chocolate and mix well. Add a small portion of flour, then the sour cream. Beat well after each has been added. Alternately add remainder of flour and the sweet milk, beating the batter until smooth after each addition. Add vanilla and spread batter in two greased pans. Bake at 350 degrees for half an hour. Fill and frost with boiled frosting, butterscotch confectioners' sugar icing, or peppermint frosting.

PEPPERMINT SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING

[Delicious on devil's food]

2 unbeaten egg whites
1½ cups sugar
5 tablespoons water
1½ teaspoons light corn sirup
Few drops of peppermint
Few drops red coloring, if desired

Combine egg whites, sugar, water, and corn sirup in the top of a double boiler, beating with rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook, beating constantly, for 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from heat, add flavoring and enough color to tint a pale pink. Beat until thick enough to spread.

CHOCOLATE CREAM ROLL

[15 by 10 inch pan]

6 tablespoons cake flour
6 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sifted sugar
4 eggs, beaten separately
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Sift flour before measuring and resift with cocoa, baking powder, and salt three times. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored, and fold into whites with vanilla. Fold in flour mixture last, using quick strokes with the spatula. Pour batter into pan which has been greased, lined with heavy paper to within a half inch of the edge, and again greased. Bake 13 minutes in a hot oven. Cut off crisp edges immediately when baked and turn cake out onto a slightly damp cloth to cool. Remove paper. When cold, spread with whipped cream. Roll jelly-roll fashion.

This cake may be spread with seven minute frosting and rolled while hot, as are jelly rolls. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar when finished.

Peppermint flavoring is wonderfully good with this kind of cake, too. A few drops of peppermint extract or oil of peppermint may be added to whipped cream or frosting. Crushed peppermint stick candy may be folded into the whipped cream if desired. No other sweetener is needed for the filling.

July 4, 1939.

Calvin Coolidge was born July 4, 1872, and he was an excellent example of the 4-birthday type. They do not make friends easily and are rather indifferent to worldly success and wealth.

Togs for the Great Outdoors

WOMAN'S AND MISS' PLAY TOGS.

Sketched at the left, a beach or active sports dress for women and misses. With its accompanying bolero it may make informal public appearances. Without its jacket it goes to picnics on the beach and is worn by fair tennis and golf players. The neckline in front is like that of a trim dress, but the back is strapped to allow the sun's rays to penetrate. The shoulder is cut out in raglan fashion. The waistline is slim and encircled by a self-fabric or leather belt. While the skirt molds the hipline, it develops plenty of essential flare toward the hemline. Pockets, if you like them, grace the skirt. All types of cottons and linens, both plain and printed, make up beautifully and inexpensively. The collar should be a contrasting note.

At the right, a suit of togs for the younger, and slimmer, generation. The slacks are in the latest mode, molded at the hips, tailored to perfection, with full but well cut trousers. Suspender straps make of them an overall ensemble, part of which is a contrasting shirtmaker blouse. The scheme suggested is a good one: plain color overall slacks and a striped blouse.

Style No. 3380 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2⅝ yards of 35 inch material, with ⅝ yard of contrasting for the collar and ⅞ yard for the bolero.

Style No. 2736 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, and 16. Size 12 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material for the slacks, and 1¼ yards of contrasting for the blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Men Will Rule World Today at Country Clubs

If any one doubts that this is a man's world, let him consider the programs which the country clubs have planned for the Fourth of July. Men and children first is the order of the day.

Almost without exception the clubs have scheduled golf tournaments for today. And these tournaments will be for men only. At the Onwentsia a 36 hole medal play match will be held for the John H. Hamline memorial cup and club championship.

The Exmoor has arranged a 54 hole match, which started Saturday, for the club and class championships. And the Knollwood, even stricter, planned an Independence Day trophy game restricted to ex-service men. Gen. Nathan William MacChesney has donated the trophy for this event.

The Barrington Hills club weakened slightly. The men will hold a flag tournament, but the ladies, carefully tucked away in a corner, will be allowed to participate, among themselves, in a putting contest.

Of course, the ladies may play bridge or they may watch the special events planned for the children. Many of the clubs will entertain their young guests with water pageants, pony rides, foot races, and, in the case of the Glen View, a marionette show of "Snow White." The Knollwood will look after its feminine members starting at 5 o'clock when there will be a concert on an electric organ. Later in the evening there will be movies of sports at Sun Valley.

Finally will come the fireworks displays in the evening.

Want to Cheer Sox? Rush Note to Sally, Kids

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Have all the fun you want today, boys and girls, but for goodness' sake, be careful!

This should be a day of happiness for you, not one of tragedy such as it becomes when youngsters are careless and are badly burned or blinded. Remember, our big movie party is only two days off, and Thursday, July 6, is also the deadline for letters about our baseball party. That's to take place on July 13, and 100 lucky boys and girls will see the Chicago White Sox play Philadelphia.

If you haven't already sent in your letter, better get busy. All you have to do is tell me why you'd like to be included in this happy group, and if it seems to me that you are a genuine fan and really anxious to come, maybe you'll see your name listed with the winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

However, to be in that list you must also remember to include three little items in your letter. They are: Your full name, your address, and your age.

If you forget a single one of those things, out you go! You can tell me anything which you think might help you to win, but you must write that letter all by yourself, with no help from any one. No one else may write for you.

Those rules are simple enough for any boy or girl to understand, so if you want to come, get a move on and send that letter off to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Charles Peets Return Today After a Year in Europe

Today will be the occasion for a special celebration in the Robert J. Thorne family. Their youngest daughter, Narcissa, and her bridegroom of a year, Charles L. Peet, are arriving from Europe. They have been abroad since their marriage last July 23. The Peets will spend a few days in town with the Thornes before going to St. Paul, where they have leased a house. The James Ward Thornes went to New York on Saturday for a brief visit to the fair.

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	6 hearts	[final bid]

"West opened the spade jack and dummy won with the ace. South proceeded to draw trumps and then took one diamond finesse. I sat East and I won with the king, hoping that the false card would tempt South into taking another diamond finesse. Seeing no better lead, I returned the spade queen. This was won with dummy's king and South returned to her hand by ruffing a spade. She then took the second diamond finesse and, of course, was set one trick. As you can see, the only line of play that will make the hand is a double squeeze, and that will fail if East should return a club when he gets the lead. If East returns any other suit South can bring about this situation by careful manipulation:

NORTH

WEST

♣ J 8 7

SOUTH

"South now leads her last trump. If West discards a club the spade is discarded from dummy and East is on the spot. He also must unguard the club suit or let go the diamond queen, establishing South's diamonds. If West discards his spade the small club is played from dummy and the rest of dummy's cards are good.

"The question is this: Do you think the hand was played in the manner most likely to succeed? Would a master player have gone out for the double squeeze or the double finesse? Your analysis of this hand and remarks should make interesting material for one of your daily articles.

"L. F., North Carolina."

I have written so much about brilliantly executed squeezes that it is a genuine relief to be able to say that, in this case, declarer would have had to take a deliberate peek into the opponents' hands to adopt that technique, instead of the simple, repeated finesse in diamonds. The end position suggested was ingenious and, of course, practical—that is, it would have worked against the lay of cards actually encountered. But to maneuver for this position it was necessary to abandon the hope that the diamond honors were divided between East and West which, according to all percentage and probability, they figured to be. If East had very foolishly doubled the final contract there might have been some justification for declarer's going out for a squeeze, but with East remaining discreetly silent, the straightforward and simple line of play was by all odds the best.

No expert would fulfill this contract in actual play. The only way he might make it would be if he knew in advance there was something tricky about the hand.

College Prexy Gives Students List of Rules

BY DORIS BLAKE.

(Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

"About this time a year ago, there appeared in your columns ten rules for students written by the president of Stephens college," writes J. T. "I, along with a group of students, would appreciate deeply your reprinting them. More, I believe they would interest an audience far and wide."

1. As a college graduate, you will be judged not so much by what you know as by what you can do and how well you do it.

2. Be sparing in your criticism of others. There is enough snobbishness in one's nature without deliberately cultivating it.

3. Do not let your emotional life control you, unless you have first learned to control your emotions. Feel deeply, but think clearly.

4. To look your best you must be your best. Poise and personality are nine points of "good appearance."

5. Be able to do something useful and do it well. Even if you never have to make your own way financially, you will experience a deep sense of satisfaction in being equipped for independence.

6. Choose a man you can respect for his ability and character. The way he wears his manners is more important than the way he wears his clothes.

7. Learn to converse intelligently and pleasantly. Small talk is useful at tea parties, but is a questionable diet for daily conversation.

8. Don't pay too much for popularity. Think honestly; maintain a high sense of values, and set your standards accordingly.

9. Keep your confidence in yourself you will need it not only while you are in college but much more after you graduate.

10. Don't be afraid of an intelligent inquiry into the religious values of life. Whether you know it or not, you are constantly developing a spiritual creed. And your ultimate philosophy of living will be your religion.

10 RUN FOR $10,000 ARLINGTON PURSE TODAY

MIZE AND CARDINALS WHIP CUBS, 5-3; SOX WIN, 8-3

Dumps Champs Back Into 4th Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Johnny Mize knocked two homers, a triple and a double off Bill Lee in four times at bat in Wrigley field yesterday to hand Big Bill his ninth loss of the season and dump the Cubs back into fourth place. The Cardinals won, 5 to 3, and Mize scored three runs and drove in one. The run in which Johnny had no part was a homer with which Stu Martin led off the ninth inning.

Until Mize smashed his second home run of the game, his fourteenth of the season, with Jimmy Brown on second and one out in the eighth, the Cubs seemed in a fair way to skin by with one of their powerless exhibitions. But they didn't get their usual quota of bases on balls after the first inning, so might got them in the end.

Little Dick Acts Big.

One Cub did some hitting. Dick Bartell fattened up his .226 average by having a perfect day with a double, two singles and a walk. But the rest were a meek lot, indeed, unless you want to mention Gabby Hartnett's double in the ninth, which was too late to do any good.

The Cubs made four other hits. One of these was a tap several feet in front of the plate, another was a pop fly which twisted away from Shortstop Brown, and another was a pop fly by G. Russell which Mize lost in the sun. Augie Galan wasted a well hit single in the third inning.

From the fourth to the ninth the Cubs made no hits. They kept praying and praying for some bases on balls, or hit batsmen, to give them one of their rallies, but two walks, one intentional to pave the way for a double play, was all the free passage they got during the hitless span.

Cards Move Up.

Hartnett's double off Bob Bowman led off the ninth. Bryant ran for Hartnett and clung to second on Russell's tap to Gutteridge. Bartell knocked his third hit, a single to left, Bryant stopping at third. Bob Mattick went to first to run for Bartell. Curt Davis replaced Bowman and Carl Reynolds batted for Lee. Davis fanned Reynolds. Hack ended the game with a fly to Slaughter.

The Cardinal victory, in addition to restoring the Cards to third place and dropping the Cubs 6½ games behind the leading Reds, served the purpose of giving Lee a loss total equal to all his setbacks in 1938. He has eight triumphs to date. Last year Lee won twenty-two and lost nine. To be as good as he was last year it therefore is apparent he must win fourteen straight from now on.

It was the fourth licking the Cubs have taken from the Cards in nine games, but the first whipping not administered by Lon Warneke.

Powerless Attack Produces.

The Cubs, having learned in the first and last games of the Cincinnati series how to score runs without using their bats to any considerable extent, got two runs in the first inning with no more power than a tap

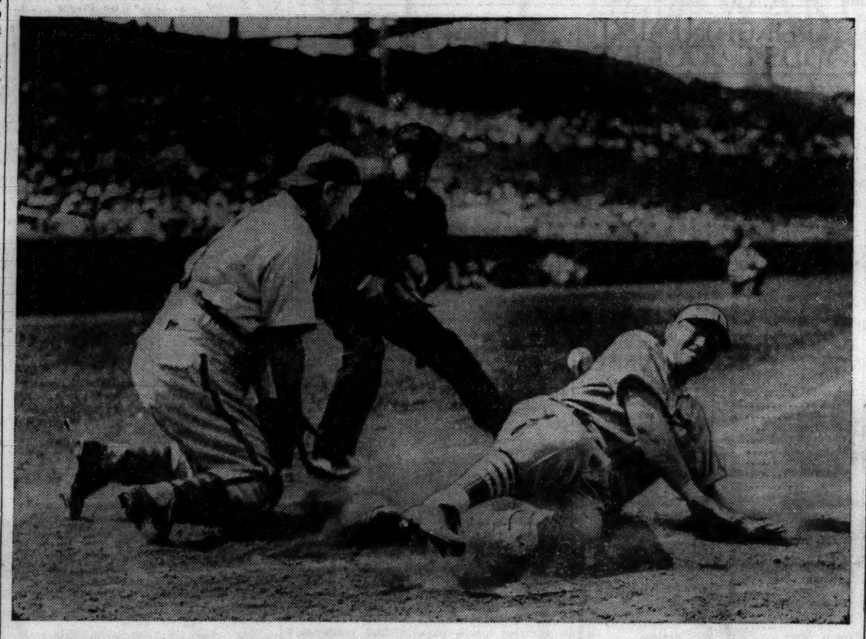
When a Perfect Throw Becomes Only an Error



Johnny Mize, a very rowdy young man at bat yesterday, slides home with the Cardinals' first run against the Cubs in the second inning. He had doubled and came in on Joe Medwick's double. This is the play on which Billy Herman automatically received an error on a perfect throw. The ball (bounding to left) struck Mize in the back before Catcher Gabby Hartnett could reach it. The umpire is Ballanfant. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

SOX GET 17 HITS TO BEAT BROWNS; FIVE FOR M'NAIR

Tresh Adds 4 in Attack on Three Hurlers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—Before a roaring crowd of 863 paid and Manager James Dykes, who was in the grand stand at the request of the league president, the White Sox took the tail end Browns apart, 8 to 3, without much trouble today. The Chicagoans amassed a five run lead at the outset and thereafter everything was quiet except for another disturbance involving Umpire Cal Hubbard in which, surprisingly enough, the Sox weren't a party. Hubbard tossed out three Sox in Detroit yesterday, but this afternoon he varied the procedure by ejecting the same number of Browns.

The Sox sewed up the game by cutting short the appearance of Bob Harris, who recently subjected them to a six hitter. By a healthy application of base hits they removed him from the scene before anybody was retired in the second inning and this margin proved sufficient for Johnny Marcum to register his third victory in a row since joining Dykes' troupe, two of the decisions being over his former Brownie companions.

McNair, Tresh Lead.

The big portion of the hitting was taken care of by Eric McNair and Mike Tresh. In five appearances McNair dispatched as many singles, but the first of the five, with which he started the second inning, was the only one involved in the run production. Tresh was the author of four hits and only one of this batch assisted in the run getting. His helping blow was a triple which hurried Harris' departure in the second and also assisted in making the inning's efforts worth three runs.

Hubbard's troubles didn't arise until the seventh. Roxie Lawson, Harris' successor, tossed his glove into the air and the rosin bag into the grand stand as a protest over what Hubbard called a ball. Lawson was banished. Manager Fred Haney came out to dispute the matter and he was told to follow Lawson. Vernon Kennedy barked loudly from the dugout and Hubbard made it a trio. Mr. Dykes immediately dusted off the adjoining grand stand seat, anticipat-

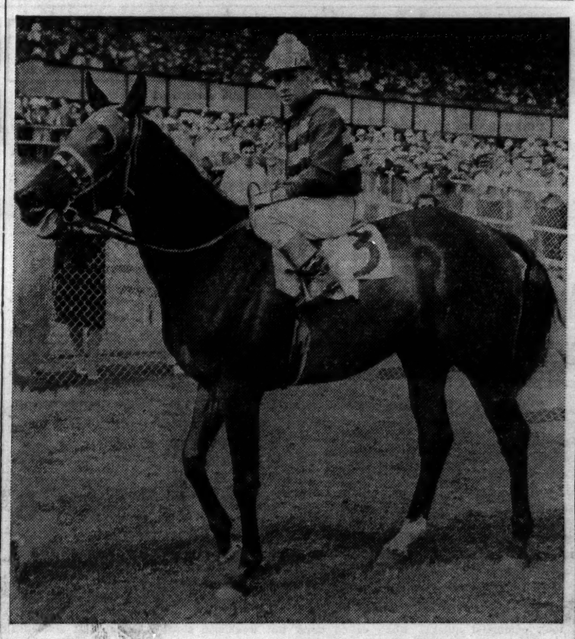
The Odds Are Short on Drudgery



Winston Guest's Drudgery, which won the Arlington Inaugural handicap, last night was installed the favorite in the betting for today's running of the Stars and Stripes handicap. Opening odds on Drudgery are quoted at 3 to 1.

DRUDGERY MADE 3 TO 1 FAVORITE IN HANDICAP

Handicap Field

Horse and jockey—	Wt.	Prob. odds.
MUCHO GUSTO [Roberison]	116	6-1
EAGLE PASS [G. Martin]	111	8-1
BURNING STAR [Yarberry]	116	8-1
CHIEF ONAWAY [J. Barba]	104	20-1
SOME COUNT [J. E. Oros]	103	15-1
DRUDGERY [No boy]	116	3-1
COUNT D'OR [J. Longden]	106	7-2
CHANCE RAY [P. Ryan]	103	20-1
HER REIGH [T. E. Ward]	109	20-1
TAXES [C. Kurtsinger]	106	4-1

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Ten highly rated distance runners will go to the post in the $10,000 Stars and Stripes handicap this afternoon at Arlington Park before the biggest crowd of Chicago's racing season. Twenty-two thousand poured into the plant to watch yesterday's events, buying up every program and newspaper on the grounds.

Winston Guest's Drudgery, winner of the Arlington Inaugural, is expected to draw considerable betting support in the Stars and Stripes. Close behind him in public favor probably will be Mrs. John Hertz's Count D'Or, which ran brilliantly in winning an allowance event last week. Two veterans—Mrs. Kirby Ramsey's Mucho Gusto and the Nash Brothers' Burning Star—will be in the field. Among the other speedy contenders will be Warren Wright's Taxes, E. F. Woodward's Eagle Pass, and Mrs. Emil Denemark's Some Count.

Seeks Third Straight Victory.

Upon Some Count Mrs. Denemark will be resting her hopes for her third consecutive victory in the Stars and Stripes. Last year her War Minstrel beat Seabiscuit in this event, and in 1937 her Corinto made a successful effort.

The first of the special race trains will leave the North Western station at Canal and Madison streets at 12:15 p. m. Trains will continue to run at frequent intervals until 1:25, the last one reaching the track fifteen minutes before post time.

The Woolford horses, trained by Ben Jones, continued to show strength, Joe Schenck winning the Springfield handicap, a six furlong allowance event, which headed yesterday's program. Finding an opening along the rail as the field came around the turn, Warren Yarberry sent Joe Schenck past Night Editor and the tiring Dora May.

Draws Away Easily.

When straightened out in the stretch, Joe Schenck drew away easily. He was so far in advance at the eighth pole that he was able to coast home two lengths ahead of the fast finishing Tiger, from the Milky Way farm stable. Another Woolford horse, Robert L., was third.

Joe Schenck paid $4.20, $2.80, and $2.80, the entry being the favorite. Tiger was the surprise of the race, paying $10.20 to place and $4.80 to show. Joe Schenck's time for the six furlongs was 1:13.

The long shot players made a good start as Spanish Belle scored at nearly 30 to 1 odds in the first race. This bay filly, which had been unable to win in nine previous starts, got in at the light impost of 99 pounds and was lucky in finding racing room along the rail so as to save ground all the way.

Drives Through on Rail.

Fans, Baseball Pay Tribute to Gehrig Today

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Between games of tomorrow's doubleheader with the Washington Senators, the New York Yankees will join the multitude in paying tribute to their courageous captain, Lou Gehrig.

It will be Lou Gehrig Day. The man who played through 2,130 consecutive American league games to establish an amazing record of endurance, but now, because of a spinal affliction, is unable to play, will be the center of attraction. It marks the first time in his long career that he ever had a day designated in his honor.

He Shuns Adulation.

Always modest, Lou, through his brilliant seasons as an outstanding performer on pennant winning, record smashing Yankee teams, made it a point to shun the spotlight. Now, more than ever before, he prefers to remain in the background.

Between games he will be escorted to the home plate and given praise and gifts. He will be cheered long and loudly by all the fans the Yankee stadium can accommodate.

Among the dignitaries who have made known their intention of being present are Postmaster General James A. Farley and Mayor Fiorella H. La Guardia. Jimmy Walker, former mayor, also will be present. Edward G. Barrow, president of the Yankees, will present a gift from the Yankee organization. There will be a plaque, appropriately engraved, for Lou, a present from his comrades.

Gift from Giants, Too.

League barriers have disappeared for this occasion. Members of the Giants are going to send Gehrig a gift, and there will be another from members of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and Will Harridge, president of the American league, will be there, too. The league paid one tribute to Gehrig when it named him captain of its all-star team which will play the National league a week from tomorrow. This year's American league all-star squad is the first from which Lou has been missing as one of the active players since the series was inaugurated in 1933.

Lou today did make it known that he was immensely pleased when he learned members of the 1927 Yankee team were going to attend the party. Among them will be Babe Ruth, Joe Dugan, Waite Hoyt, Benny Bengough, and Bob Shawkey.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

RIGGS STEPHENSON, former Cub outfielder, is on the loose again. . . . He recently was released as manager of Montgomery, Ala., in the Southeastern league. . . . Bob MacLeod, Dartmouth's star half back, is recovering from a recent nasal operation at his home in Glen Ellyn. . . . Johnny Howell, former Nebraska quarter back, will marry Miss Jane Barbour, his college sweetheart, Aug. 23. . . . The Phillies have sold radio rights to their games for the next five years for $200,000. . . . Pepper Martin was christened John Leonard Roosevelt Martin Jr. . . . Last year was one of the best seasons financially Clark Griffith has enjoyed with his Washington Senators. . . . This has been one of the worst. . . . After watching Tony Galento plant several hard lefts on Joe Louis' head and body, Lou Nova moved among the newspaper men at Yankee stadium last Wednesday night, saying, "Shake hands with the next heavyweight champion." . . .

Sid Luckman, whose expert forward passing was a feature of eastern football last season, was born and reared in Brooklyn. . . . He recently turned down an offer to coach Long Island university, which is returning to intercollegiate football. . . . Noble Kizer of Purdue, who is vacationing in northern Wisconsin, was chagrined to learn that the muskie limit is one a day. . . . The United States Lawn Tennis association has held national tournaments every year since 1881, except in 1917. . . . The first thirty-four were held in Newport, R. I. . . . No player has hit more than one triple in the All-Star baseball game. . . . Tulane, Northwestern, and St. Mary's of California are getting the heavy play in football's "summer book." . . . Frank Frisch, former manager of the Cardinals, is pleased with his job as radio announcer in Boston. . . . "I wish I had thought of this two years sooner," he says. . . . More pictures were published last fall and winter of Davey O'Brien than of any other two college football players combined.

Among the trees . . . like fairy bulbs appear;
With lights that come and go . . . they onward soar

Beneath a sky adorned with shining stars
The fireflies glimmer in among the cars,
Like particles of meteors, ablaze . . .
To light the travelers . . . on Great Highways.
The fireflies swing their lanterns to and fro,
But travelers must hasten on, you know. —Maude Mac.

Of Thee I Sing!

Going on across the sea
Is to realize as never before
The meaning of Liberty.

To live in a land like America
Where bondage of mind is unknown
To call one's soul one's own.

Now, I say, if never before
We should ponder and ponder well
That Independence over here

Thank God for good old America
Where Freedom is more than a dream,
Long may her star-gemmed emblem furl,

Australians Sweep Davis Cup Series with Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 3.—(AP)—Australia completed a sweep of its first round Davis cup series against Mexico today when Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich won the concluding singles matches. The Australian team left tonight for San Antonio, Tex., where it will play an exhibition Wednesday. Its second round cup series with the Philippines is to be played in Long Beach, Cal.

Dykes Draws Suspension; Asks Hearing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—James Dykes, the White Sox manager, is back in the American league doghouse for a three day visit. What's more, it will cost him $50. He received notice to this effect today from President William Harridge as the result of alleged use of coarse language when he was tossed off the field yesterday in Detroit.

Dykes has demanded a hearing at which he will recite to the American league boss a few of the names he has been called by umpires.

Dykes observed today's activities from the right field pavilion and it probably was well that he was that far away because Umpires Eddie Rommel and Cal Hubbard, with whom he had the trouble at Detroit, were present. Billy Webb, coach, is in charge of the Sox during Dykes' absence.

MAC PHAIL RILED

New York, July 3.—(AP)—Larry MacPhail is going to take baseball's most colorful feud—between his Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants—to the board of directors of the National league for an airing.

The Dodger president accused President Ford Frick of the league of overlooking some vital incidents in connection with Sunday's game when Zeke Bonura of the Giants and Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers clashed. MacPhail cannot understand, he says, why Durocher should be fined for taking a punch at Bonura, after Bonura heaved a ball at him and chased him into right field. Bonura claimed Durocher spiked him. Durocher was fined $25 and Bonura $50.

At the same time the National league president's office announced fines of $25 each against Casey Stengel, manager of the Boston Bees, and Merrill May of the Phillies for fighting, and against Johnny Mize of the Cards for rowdy language and other recent rule infractions.

Louis Retire? Bring 'Em All On Until About 1942

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—(AP)—Retirement? Don't mention the word to Joe Louis. Speaking for the heavyweight champion, Manager John Roxborough today said: "Sure, Joe'll quit—about 1942. He's thinking of taking on everybody that wants a chance until about the winter of 1942. If he's still champion by that time, he'll retire undefeated."

Spanish Belle through on the rail to win by a length. Wrinkle beat Perfect Maid by a head for second place. Spanish Belle returned $61.80, $15.60, and $9.60.

Another favorite, Red War, was beaten by a neck in the second race when Explosion, the 9 to 2 second choice, came up fast in the last sixteenth to get to the front in the closing strides.

Another long shot came home on top in the fourth race. This was Easy Sailing, an 8 year old mare which had won a distance event at Lincoln Fields. In yesterday's seven furlong sprint she was outrun during the early stages, but closed powerfully in the stretch. She caught the leaders fifty yards from the finish and drew out to win by two lengths, Lady Infinite being second and Royal Blue third. Easy Sailing paid $27.80, $9.40, and $4.80.

Record early reservations indicate that more than 500 luncheons will be served on the enlarged Cloud Terrace dining room on the top of the promenade of the enclosure section at Arlington Park today. More than 300 parties have made arangements for luncheons in the Post and Paddock club.

Play increased approximately 8 per cent and the attendance was up about the same amount for the first week of the Arlington Park meeting over last year.

Entry blanks for the 1941 Classic Stakes, for 3-year-olds, at a mile and a quarter were distributed to breeders and horsemen yesterday. In the 1941 Classic the supplementary entry clause has been abandoned. Generous breeders awards are included in the conditions with the breeder of the winner getting $1,000, $500 to second place and $250 to the breeder of the third horse.

Check Proxies in Fight Over Narragansett

Pawtucket, R. I., July 3.—(AP)—A check of thousands of proxies with the official Narragansett Racing association stockholders' list was being made tonight prior to the counting of ballots in the showdown meeting of a battle for control of the $3,000,000 horse racing establishment.

Heading two principal factions at the stockholders' meeting were James E. Dooley, president of the association, and Walter E. O'Hara, who resigned as president and managing director in 1938. Dooley succeeded O'Hara as track head and O'Hara is seeking reinstatement.

Petition for Master Dismissed.

The check of proxies submitted by holders of the track's 350,000 shares of stock was started this afternoon after Superior Court Judge Alexander Churchill, in Providence, dismissed a petition by the O'Hara forces asking that he appoint a master to conduct the stockholders' meeting.

Judge Churchill said he lacked jurisdiction and that points at issue had been covered in injunction proceedings filed in federal District court in Boston by the Securities and Exchange commission against the Walter E. O'Hara election commission.

The O'Hara election committee entered the meeting under federal injunction forbidding use of proxies received after June 15 in answer to a letter of solicitation sent out by the O'Hara group June 10. Judge George C. Sweeney ruled the letter "violated the rules" of the SEC.

Dooley Slate Candidates.

Three directors and new officers of the association were to be chosen at the meeting. Candidates for director on the Dooley slate are William Ames, now a director; W. A. Lamarine of Central Falls, and William A. Smart of New York.

The director candidates on the O'Hara ticket are Walter E. O'Hara, his brother, Neal O'Hara, who seeks reelection to the board, and James H. Connors of Boston, former president of Suffolk Downs race track.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 3-5, 1:00 2-5, 1:07 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Spanish Belle, $61.80 straight, $15.60 place, $9.60 show; Winkle, $3.40 place, $3.00 show; Perfect Maid, $6.40 show. Winner trained by W. J. Pultz. Went to post at 2:16; off at once. Start good for all but Pinky's Sister from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

SPANISH BELLE shipped through on the inside of the leaders in the last eighth, won driving out. WINKLE swerved under mild pressure, but held on fairly well and outfinished PERFECT MAID. PERFECT MAID took command with a rush, saved ground on the turn but swerved out in the stretch and weakened in the late stages. PINKY'S SISTER, a very poorly and probably best, remained far back to the last quarter, where she came with a rush.

SECOND RACE—Three-quarters of a mile. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 1-5, :46 3-5, 1:13 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Explosion, $11.80 straight, $4.80 place, $4.00 show; Red War, $4.20 place, $3.60 show; Teddy's Girl, $4.40 show. Daily double paid $246.80. Winner trained by S. W. Ward. Went to post at 2:48; off at once. Start good for all but Polly Taur from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

EXPLOSION, steadied when unable to improve her position early, lost ground on the stretch turn, closed fast through the final three-sixteenths and, wearing down RED WAR, was ready to draw out. RED WAR forced the early pace under light restraint, took command quickly when called upon but weakened sharply in the last sixteenth.

THIRD RACE—Seven-eighths of a mile, out of chute. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 1-5, :47, 1:12 2-5, 1:25 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Easy Sailing $27.80 straight, $9.40 place, $4.80 show; Lady Infinite, $3.80 place, $2.80 show; Royal Blue, $3.60 show. Winner trained by G. A. Ury. Went to post at 3:46. At post 1½ minutes. Start good for all but Count Pan from permanent stalls. Won easily; place driving.

EASY SAILING closed with a rush and won easily. LADY INFINITE, close up from the start and shaken up several times in the early stages, wore down ROYAL BLUE in the final strides. ROYAL BLUE saved ground the last three-sixteenths and weakened after drawing clear in the final eighth.

FIFTH RACE—Three-quarters of a mile. Purse $1,500. Net value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50.

Winner trained by B. A. Jones. Went to post at 4:16. At post ½ minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

JOE SCHENCK, taken to the inside after being blocked in the first quarter, moved with a rush on the turn, forced his way through next to the rail when taking the lead entering the stretch, was taken under light restraint after opening up a commanding lead and probably had something left. TIGER, away slowly and raced wide after the first quarter responded stoutly when straightened out in the stretch.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $800. Claiming. Two year olds. Five and one-half furlongs. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :22 3-5, :47 1-5, 1:00, 1:06 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Billie Day, $13.00 straight, $7.20 place, $4.60 show; Darby Dallas, $6.80 place, $4.40 show; Maenerva, $3.00 show. Winner trained by J. Balmton. Went to post at 4:45½. At post 1 minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

BILLIE DAY took command quickly, made the pace under restraint until straightened up in the stretch, swerved out slightly when punished but hung on stubbornly. DARBY DALLAS, never far back, secured room on the inside throughout, made a determined bid under strong handling but failed to get up. MAENERVA weakened slightly.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $800. Claiming. Three year olds. Six furlongs. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :24 3-5, :49 2-5, 1:15 1-5, 1:41 2-5, 1:55 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Flaming Play, $10.00 straight, $5.20 place, $4.60 show; Queenie, $4.80 place, $4.00 show; Silver Fleet, $7.20 show. Winner trained by M. Visour. Went to post at 5:47. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

FLAMING PLAY, taken back slightly several times while racing under strong restraint in the final quarter, closed with determination under good handling and, wearing down QUEENIE, was ready to draw out. Latter slipped through on the inside on the final turn, stood a drive with fine courage but was not good enough.

COOKE DEFEATS AUSTIN EASILY AT WIMBLEDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3.—Today was another big day for the United States in the Wimbledon tennis tournament as two of the invaders battled their way into the men's singles semi-finals and the women representatives continued winning.

Brightest of the Americans was Ellsworth Cooke of Portland, Ore., who accomplished the elimination of Henry [Bunny] Austin, pre-tournament favorite. British experts who gave the 24 year old American no chance to win were amazed when he beat Austin, 6-3, 6-0, 6-1.

Riggs Win Easily.

Bobby Riggs of Chicago ended his match with Ghaus Mohammed of India almost as decisively, winning, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. In tomorrow's semi-finals he will play Ferenc Puncec of Jugo-Slavia, who won from Gene Smith of Berkeley, Cal., 6-0, 6-2, 6-2. Smith was handicapped by an arm injury. Cooke's opponent will be Henner Henkel of Germany, who defeated Franz Kukuljevic of Jugo-Slavia, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan won to enter the women's singles quarter-finals. Miss Marble, seeded No. 1, disposed of Mrs. A. Halff of France, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Jacobs whipped Margot Lumb of France, 6-2, 7-5, and Mrs. Fabyan eliminated the 1937 champion, Mrs. D. L. Little, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2. Results:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Quarter-final Round.

Ferenc Puncec, Jugo-Slavia, defeated Eugene Smith, Berkeley, Cal., 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

MILLS TO MEET SPENCER COALS IN TWO GAMES

The Mills will play their north side rivals, the Spencer Coals, in a double-header for the Tri-State semi-pro baseball league lead in Mills stadium this afternoon. The Coals lead with five victories and one defeat. The Mills, in second place with six triumphs and four defeats can move into first place if they win both games.

MACK CONTINUES TO GAIN BUT SLOW RECOVERY SEEN

"Dad's still a very sick man," said Roy Mack, son of the 76 year old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. "He's still running a little temperature, but he has shown a slight improvement over last night. We are pleased with his condition."

Mack's illness, diagnosed as a recurrence of a gall bladder ailment he suffered two years ago, is not as serious as in the fall of 1937, his son declared.

"His recovery will be slow," Roy explained. "The main thing is to conserve his energy. No visitors are allowed. Mrs. Mack and a special nurse are with him constantly. He is on a liquid diet."

Do You Understand, Professor?

So the professors would like to know the meaning and pronunciation of the word Oompff or Umpff. Well, that's easy. When you see a woman who has plenty of curves in the right places, with a twinkle and a little mischief in her eye, striding briskly down the street we'd say she's got "Umpff," meaning "it," "everything" and "what it takes." Pronounce the word "MMMMFF" with plenty of zip. —C. Janis.

PIKE'S PEAK MILE (IT'S REALLY 12) TO BE RUN TODAY

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 3.—(AP)—The highest foot race in the world—a vertical mile on Upper Pike's Peak—will be run here tomorrow, the finish line being on top of the 14,100 foot high mountain.

Francis Darrah of Boston, unaffected by the rarefied air, won the race last year in 2 hours 8 minutes and 14 seconds and will try to repeat. It is no mere mile jaunt. The runners must negotiate a course 12 miles and 200 yards long up the automobile highway. More than half the distance is above timberline.

Another entrant is Willie Dreyer of Barrington, Ill., who, like Darrah, hopes to win a place on the American marathon team in the 1940 Olympics.

DEMPSEY GETS KISS, ROSE FROM HIS DAUGHTERS

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey, gaining steadily in his recovery from peritonitis, was able today to see his two daughters—Joan, 6, and Barbara, 3—for the first time since he went to Polyclinic hospital last Thursday for an appendicitis operation.

Each took him an American Beauty rose. "We gave him a big kiss," reported Joan as she left the hospital.

Mrs. Dempsey called later and reported that Jack looks much better and feels much better. He is getting fidgety, though, and wants to get up.

Cards, Mize Knock Cubs Back to 4th

in front of the plate. Hack walked, paused while Herman flied to King, then stole second. Galan also walked. Then came the inning's quota of power. Leiber tapped in front of the plate for a scratch single and when Cooper threw the ball over Mize's head, Hack and Galan scored and Leiber reached second. Gleeson and Hartnett went out on easy flies.

It took a lot of power for the Cards to tie the score. In the second, Mize led off with a double to left and scored on a double to right by Medwick. Medwick reached third when Herman's relay hit Mize as he slid across the plate. Herman threw out Padgett, then S. Martin tapped to Bartell and Medwick was trapped off third, Bartell to Hartnett to Hack to Hartnett. Martin reached second during the run down, but the inning ended when Lee threw out Myers.

Mize Begins Operating.

Mize tied the score by leading off the fourth with his thirteenth home run of the season. Medwick followed with a single to right, but Padgett hit into a double play started by Lee, and S. Martin was out, Russell to Lee.

The Cubs resumed the lead in their end of the fourth. After Hartnett had struck out, Russell was credited with a single when Mize lost his pop fly in the sun. Bartell then doubled to left, his second hit, scoring Russell. Lee and Hack were easy outs.

Mize made a bid to tie the score with two out in the sixth. He tripled, but didn't get home because Gleeson executed the greatest circus catch of the season when he made a one-handed diving grab of Medwick's low liner tagged as a triple to right center.

That Mize Man Again!

The Cubs were leading 3 to 2 going into the eighth. Brown opened with a single to right and advanced on Slaughter's sacrifice. Mize drove his second homer of the game into the right field bleachers, scoring behind Brown with the winning run.

Whitehill and Passeau to Face Cardinals Today

The Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals will play a double-header in Wrigley field this afternoon. Claude Passeau and Earl Whitehill are scheduled to pitch for the Cubs and Curt Davis and Fiddler McGee for the Cards.

Errors of the kind chalked against Billy Herman in the second inning of yesterday's game, arbitrary under scoring rules, generally are considered the most unfair black marks in baseball because they involve no lack of skill on the part of the player charged with the error. In this instance Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, who had doubled to score Johnny Mize, reached third when Herman's good throw to the plate hit Mize as he slid home. When a thrower hits a player and any runner gets an extra base, the thrower automatically gets an error.

The Cubs will set out for Pittsburgh at 10:15 o'clock tonight. They will play the Pirates tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday before taking off for Cincinnati.

Pitcher Clay Bryant, who was left home when the Cubs went on their last eastern trip, probably will be taken along on the impending six city tour to take care of George Stainback's old job, running for Manager Gabby Hartnett.

Indians Beat Tigers, 4-2, on Homer in 8th

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—(AP)—Young Bob Feller didn't have his strikeout ball working today but still managed to beat the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 2, thereby enabling the Cleveland Indians to improve their hold on third place in the American league.

Feller, who fanned 54 men in his last four starts against Detroit, whiffed only two today—his smallest game strikeout total since entering the majors in 1936. His previous low mark was four.

In achieving his thirteenth victory of the year, Feller yielded five hits and got noteworthy assistance from Bruce Campbell who lined a homer into the right field stands in the eighth to send in three runs and break a 1 to 1 deadlock.

Ben Chapman, Indian center fielder, equalled a modern major league record when he slammed out three triples. He now shares the mark with six other players.

It was Feller's fourth straight victory over Detroit this season. Score:

Sox Hammer Three Brown Hurlers, 8-3

Sox Start Right Out.

The Sox succeeded in scoring their two first inning runs despite a double play. The show started with Hayes walking, but he was doubled trying to steal second as Kuhel fanned. Kreevich then walked and went as far as third on Radcliff's single to left. The Ripper went to second on the throw in and followed Kreevich home on Walker's single between short and third. Appling's pop to Berardino concluded the inning.

Three batters, all of whom hit safely, finished Harris in the second. McNair singled to left and scampered home on Tresh's triple into right center. Marcum's single to left scored Tresh and Harris was withdrawn. Lawson induced Hayes to pop to Clift for the first out, but there was trouble immediately ahead. Kuhel lined a drive against the right field screen, but was cut down attempting to stretch it into a double. Marcum stopped at third, but was propelled plateward a moment later by Kreevich's double to center. Radcliff fanned for the third out.

Sullivan Busts One.

The only hits Marcum allowed in the first three innings were two harmless singles, but the next safety was neither a single nor harmless. It was a homer into the left field bleachers by Sullivan to start the fourth.

Half of Marcum's four run lead vanished in the fifth. Spindel led off with a single and Berardino followed with a homer, his second of the season. Before the inning ended Sullivan collected his third straight hit, but Marcum escaped further shrinkage of his 5 to 3 margin.

After frittering away scoring chances, the Sox finally got themselves together in the eighth and gave Marcum a bit more security. The inning opened with McQuinn missing Marcum's grounder. Hayes singled to center and Kuhel endeavored to bunt them on their way, but instead forced Marcum at third. The bases were filled on a pass to Kreevich. Radcliff singled against the right field screen, Hayes and Kuhel scoring and Kreevich going to third. Kreevich then scored on a passed ball.

P. WANER ASKS $50,000 IN RADIO SLANDER SUIT

Dedham, Mass., July 3.—(AP)—Paul C. Waner, Pittsburgh Pirates' outfielder, filed suit through counsel today in Superior court, seeking damages of $50,000 from John J. Stevens, a commentator, for alleged slander May 1 during a broadcast over a chain of New England radio stations.

The suit was based on the allegation that the broadcast falsely criticized his playing as a member of the Pittsburgh baseball team, had injured his reputation and had exposed him to public hatred, contempt, and ridicule.

Waner's action was followed by the entering of two similar $50,000 suits in Boston against the Yankee Network, Inc., and Bayuk Cigars, Inc., a Maryland corporation with a place of business in Boston, sponsor of the broadcast.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 3.—(AP)—United States government issues declined sharply in an inactive bond market today. The total transactions of $2,536,800 were estimated as the smallest for a five hour session since April 16, 1923. This compared with $5,766,300 last Friday.

Most corporate loans held to a firm line and some rails showed gains running to a top of around 2 points on moderate buying attributed to rising car loadings and favorable estimates of July revenues.

Turnover was fair in treasury 2¾ of '47-'45 and 3⅛s of '49-'46, but other treasuries and in the guaranteed groups, it was merely a case of establishing quotations on small odd lot trades. Closing prices were down 1-32d to 24-32ds.

Foreign loans were mixed, with late heaviness appearing in some which have been sensitive to disturbing events in Europe.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved unevenly, with losses predominating, in dull trading yesterday. Commonwealth Edison maintained its position as volume leader, closing at 29⅛, or ⅛ higher than on Saturday, on a turnover of 3,950 shares.

Walgreen was in demand as a result of last week's action of the directors in ordering a higher dividend. The stock closed at 22, up ¾ over Saturday's final level.

Of the sixty-six issues traded, twenty advanced, twenty-four declined, and twenty-two closed unchanged. Trading aggregated 13,000 shares.

Quotations on Chicago bank stocks were unchanged yesterday. Trading was at a minimum.

FOREIGN OWNED GOLD IN CANADA DOUBLED IN MAY

Dominion Is Gaining as Depository.

Gold held in Canada under earmark for foreign account more than doubled during May as a result of the most extensive storage operations conducted in the dominion in recent years. This was disclosed yesterday in figures published by the Bank of Canada in the current issue of its monthly statistical survey.

The bank's statement showed that 4,721,000 fine ounces of gold, worth $165,235,000, were set aside for the account of foreign holders during May. The May gain, added to the 4,702,000 ounces already under earmark at the end of April, raised the total to 9,423,000 fine ounces, worth $329,805,000.

Canada a Leading Depository.

On the basis of the bank's statistics, Canada now ranks as one of the world's major depositories for foreign-owned gold. Its total, however, is much less than that held in the United States and probably is less than such holdings in London.

Most of the Canadian increase in earmarked gold resulted from shipments from England. In the last three years British authorities have sought to accumulate a working gold reserve far removed from the scene of potential hostilities, the bank's statement said. It was pointed out a gold reserve in Canada would aid British authorities in financing the purchase of war materials without the risk of making bullion shipments during wartime.

Result of New Trend.

A large part of the earmarked metal formerly held in London was for continental account and was transferred to Canada for greater safety, according to the bank. Such a movement would have been unheard of a few years ago, the bank observed, but it now is part of a general trend for the Canadian financial and industrial structure to expand as activities are transferred there from England.

Canada does not forbid foreign firms or individuals to hold gold

under earmark within the dominion. This contrasts with the American policy permitting only foreign central banks and governments in addition to the United States government itself to store metal here. If foreign firms or individuals brought gold here they would have to sell to the United States treasury and would receive only dollar balances. In Canada, however, foreign owners are able to maintain title to their holdings.

Foreign Currencies Firm.

European currencies were steady to higher in terms of the dollar at New York yesterday. Sterling closed unchanged at $4.68¾. The French franc, Belgian belga, and Swiss franc rose fractionally. The Dutch guilder was unchanged. The New York Federal Reserve bank reported $8,000,000 gold was engaged in England and $700,000 in Holland for shipment to this country. The bank said arrivals of gold during the day totaled $26,533,000.

Leading bullion brokers in New York failed to post a quotation on foreign silver because the United States treasury withheld purchases till Wednesday because of the Fourth of July holiday. The silver market in London was firm. The spot price was fixed at the equivalent of 38.32 cents an ounce, up approximately ¼ cent. Two months forward silver was quoted at the equivalent of 37 cents an ounce.

German Note Circulation Rises.

Notes in circulation of the Reichsbank at the end of June reached the highest level recorded at any time since the post-war inflation, the current statement of the German central bank showed. At the same time the reserve ration fell to a new record low.

Total notes in circulation reached 8,731,100,000 reichsmarks, an increase of 835,700,000 reichsmarks over the total of 7,895,400,000 the preceding week. The ratio of gold and foreign exchange to notes fell to 0.88 per cent from 0.97 per cent, a decrease of 0.09 per cent. Gold holdings of the bank declined to 70,700,000, a decrease of 6,200,000 reichsmarks.

Real Estate Improvement Attracts More Brokers

Improvement in the real estate business in Illinois has attracted a larger number of brokers to the field, according to figures obtained yesterday from the state department of registration and education at Springfield. There were 8,780 brokers and 4,448 salesmen registered on July 1, compared with 8,607 brokers and 4,148 salesmen a year ago.

Dollar's Fate Will Hang on 'Spend-Lend'

BY HOWARD WOOD.

In the government's spending-lending program rather than in the present controversy over extending the President's monetary powers lies the key to the future value of the American dollar.

Last Friday at midnight the President's temporary power to reduce the official value of the dollar from 59.06 per cent to 50 per cent of its former gold value expired. Tomorrow afternoon congress is to consider the matter of restoring this and other powers that the President held over the nation's money.

No matter how congress may decide this issue the factor that in the end will decide what the dollar is worth is the condition of the federal budget.

Peg Dollar by Manipulation.

For five and one-half years the administration has been able to keep the dollar at a fixed ratio to gold by manipulating foreign exchange transactions and by prohibiting the holding of gold by individuals.

That this condition cannot last indefinitly, however, is shown by the experience of the nations that suffered from inflation during and after the world war. In each case there came a time when the public lost confidence in its money and thereafter the money was worth not what the government said it was worth but what people were willing to give for it. As the dilution of the currency continued people with things to sell demanded more and more money for a given amount of goods.

Deficit Near Peace Record.

According to estimates the treasury's deficit in the fiscal year ended last Friday was approximately $3,570,000,000. This was the largest peace time deficit ever recorded by the United States with the exception of 1936, when the payment of the veterans' bonus swelled the total. Last year's deficit was nearly triple that for the year ended June 30, 1938.

In the period from June 30, 1932, to June 30, 1939, the administration spent almost 21 billion dollars more than it took in. The federal debt increased from $19,487,000,000 to $40,375,000,000. And even the latter figure does not tell the complete story, because, in addition, the treasury has assumed full liability for about 7 billion dollars worth of bonds issued by such government owned agencies as the Home Owners Loan corporation and the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation.

Spending Starts Inflation.

History has shown repeatedly that the process of inflation starts when a government begins to spend more than it receives in revenues and that it does not end until the budget is again balanced. The price effects of inflation come along after the process itself begins. Usually there is a lag of several years.

Comments of business men and bankers indicate that they regard the action of congress in refusing extension of the President's monetary powers as important largely because it is an indication of congress' intention to reassert its constitutional right to regulate the currency. These same individuals, however, express the opinion that the currency itself will not be definitly and permanently restored to a sound basis until a return to balanced budgets is assured.

TELEPHONE USE SHOWS ANOTHER GAIN IN CHICAGO

Another increase of 226 telephones in use in Chicago during June brought the cumulative increase since Jan. 1 to 11,764, the Illinois Bell Telephone company announced yesterday. The company is a unit of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Economists regard telephone statistics as a gauge not only to general business conditions, but as a measure of the confidence of the individual in prospects for continued employment.

Last month's gain brought to 974,315 the total number of telephone installations in Chicago as of June 30, against 944,060 a year ago and 926,323 two years ago. Last month's figure is the highest in several years, but still below the record level established in 1930.

Although the increase was small, it compared with a loss of 1,220 telephones in June, 1938. More substantial gains were recorded in February, March and May of this year.

Paramount Pictures Calls Debentures for Payment

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—In accordance with the promise made to the stockholders at the recent annual meeting by President Barney Balaban, Paramount Pictures, Inc., today called for redemption on July 31 approximately $1,950,000 of 6 per cent debentures. Redemption of this group marks the retirement of the last of the approximately $26,000,000 par value of 6 per cent bonds issued in connection with the company's reorganization.

Give Up Hopes of Revising Beet Acreage This Session

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—The sugar bloc in congress has given up hopes for consideration at this session of legislation to increase sugar beet acreages. Representative Cummings [D., Colo.], chairman of the bloc, said today members from sugar states would meet this week, probably Friday, as a prelude to drafting legislation for consideration at the next session.

MARKET HOLIDAY

Security and commodity markets in the United States will be closed today in observance of Independence day. Canadian and European exchanges will be open for business as usual.

Wheat Slips; Lowest Since Late in April

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	.68¼	.69⅝	*....
Corn	.46½	.46⅜	*....
Oats	.30⅝	.31⅝	*....
Rye	.44¾	.43⅜	*....
Soy beans	.91½	.91	*....

*Holiday.

Wheat prices on the Chicago Board of Trade declined 1⅝ to 1¾ cents a bushel yesterday to the lowest level since late in April. Heavy selling of wheat futures by commission houses with western and southwestern connections caused the decline. The selling was regarded as hedging against the large movement of cash grain.

Corn was affected by the action of wheat and closed ⅜ to ½ cent lower. Oats declined ½ to 1 cent. There was a lack of pressure on rye and futures closed ¾ to 1 cent higher. Soy beans were ½ cent higher to ⅞ cent lower, the latter on the December delivery, which sold at a new low price for the season.

Speculators Sell Holdings.

Liverpool wheat futures declined 1 to 1¼ cents, with the July delivery selling within a fraction of a penny per 100 pounds of the all-time low price in the English market.

C. M. Galvin, statistician for James E. Bennett & Co., estimated the domestic wheat crop at 709,000,000 bushels. This compared with about 700,000,000 bushels forecast by the department of agriculture on June 1.

Galvin placed the corn crop at 2,518,000,000 bushels, or 24,000,000 bushels less than last year's harvest. The oats crop is estimated at 835,000,000 bushels, or 80,000,000 bushels less than a month ago. A total of 1,054,000,00 bushels was harvested in 1938. Other Chicago statisticians will issue their estimates on the grain crops tomorrow.

Much Hybrid Corn Planted.

Galvin's report indicated a record breaking acreage has been planted to hybrid corn in the farm belt this year. On the basis of an analysis in leading corn producing states, he estimated approximately 53 per cent of the corn acreage had been seeded to the hybrid variety.

The visible supply of American grain showed the following changes from a week ago, in bushels: Wheat increased 12,015,000; corn decreased 2,054,000; oats decreased 136,000; rye increased 171,000; barley decreased 104,000.

WORLD'S COFFEE POT IS A-BOILING; MAY SET RECORD

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Although detailed statistics on world coffee consumption are not yet available for the crop year just completed, it was believed likely here today that the figures, when compiled, will show that a new high record was established.

In the United States, deliveries of Brazilian coffee for the crop year ended June 30 amounted to 9,040,513 bags, a record. Deliveries for the preceding season were 7,453,978 bags, making this season's increase 21.3 per cent.

Exports of coffee from Brazil, the world's largest producer, in the 1938-1939 crop year amounted to 16,840,000 bags, compared with 15,093,000 in the preceding crop season, a gain of 11.6 per cent.

Elect Sylvester Thompson Vice President of Zenith

Sylvester T. Thompson has been elected vice president of Zenith Radio corporation. Thompson joined the company in 1938 and has been in charge of export policies and sales since that time. Zenith has appointed John R. Howland as assistant to the president, effective July 11.

Philadelphia Will Offer $3,750,000 of School Bonds

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The city of Philadelphia, Pa., school district will be in the market on July 26 with an issue of $3,750,000 of bonds, for which bidders are asked to name a rate of interest not exceeding 4 per cent.

N. Y. CURB EXCHANGE SUSPENDS SPECIALIST FOR SPALDING STOCK

New York, July 3.—(AP)—The committee on stock transactions of the New York Curb exchange today announced that the registration of E. P. Sykes, specialist in A. G. Spalding & Bros. first preferred stock, had been revoked for thirty days, beginning next Wednesday.

Commenting on the disciplinary action, the Curb said:

"On July 1, subsequent to the opening, Sykes made a market of 30 bid, offered at 33 in the Spalding stock. Transactions occurred at 30, 28, 26, 20, 16, and 15, in all of which Sykes was the purchaser.

"The committee upon investigation was of the opinion that although the public did not participate in these purchases and the error was made in good faith, Sykes did not use proper diligence in ascertaining the general market condition that existed prior to the admission of the security."

Traded for the first time last Saturday, Spalding preferred opened at 30, then dropped as low as 14.

TEAMSTER UNION OBJECTS TO RAIL TRUCK DELIVERY

West Frankfort, Ill., July 3.—(AP)—The railroads' recently instituted system of delivering freight by truck in southern Illinois has found opposition here, Josh Pierson, business agent for the local teamsters' union, disclosed today.

Pierson said the West Frankfort teamsters had asked three railroads, the Illinois Central, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, to permit local truck drivers to handle all freight in the West Frankfort city limits.

The business agent said the local had a membership of approximately 120 and "it would attempt to tie up freight shipments Friday morning unless the request was granted."

Road Expects Settlement.

Officials of the Illinois Central said last night that the labor difficulties at West Frankfort, Ill., over the handling of local freight deliveries and pickups will probably be handled in conferences between the union heads and the Railway Express Agency. The Railway Express Agency has the contract for handling the local freight movements.

BANKER OPPOSES FEDERAL LOANS AS UNNECESSARY

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's proposed new $3,860,000,000 federal lending program today was termed "entirely unnecessary" as a business stimulant by Harry R. Smith, president of the American Institute of Banking. He is a San Francisco, Cal., banker.

"Such a program would have a tendency further to hamstring legitimate banking enterprise," Smith said in an interview. He is here on a visit.

"Private capital is accustomed to financing such enterprises and it should be given a chance to function. However, it cannot and will not be able to function in the face of continued government competition."

Railway Express Agency's Shipments Show Increase

The Railway Express agency's Chicago division handled 1,615,000 shipments during June, a gain of 8 per cent over last year's volume, A. C. White, general manager, announced yesterday. The cumulative total for the first six months of 1939, reaching 9,896,000, represented an increase of 4 per cent over last year. There was a 27 per cent gain in shipments by air express, which numbered 15,200 last month.

Texas Utility Earnings Rise for 12 Months

The El Paso Natural Gas company, operating in communities in and near Texas, yesterday reported consolidated net income of $2,272,647 for the twelve months ended with May. This equaled $3.60 a common share. Earnings were $1,967,038, or $3.13 a share, in the preceding twelve months. Net income for May rose to $154,233, from $130,805 a year ago.

Net income of the Nevada-California Electric corporation for the twelve months ended May 31 declined to $405,965, after all charges, from $698,468 a year ago. May net income of $77,128 compared with $36,928 a year ago.

Bell Unit Earns Less.

The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania, a unit of the American Telephone and Telegraph system, announced May net income of $867,220, compared with $880,546 a year ago. The cumulative total for the first five months of the year was $4,411,471, against $4,470,424 a year ago.

The Carnegie Metals company and subsidiaries reported a net loss of $177,336 for the fiscal year ended March 31, against a net loss of $96,796 in the preceding year.

Banks Earn Less.

First National bank of New York, $35.26 a share in the June quarter, against $35.89 a share in the corresponding period of 1938; Continental Bank and Trust company, New York, 27 cents, against 30 cents; New York Trust company, $1.29, against $1.32; Bank of New York, $4.09, compared with $5.01, and Kings County Trust company, $32.38, against $34.84.

SATURDAY BANK CLOSINGS BRING NO COMPLAINTS

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Commercial banks in New York City, which closed last Saturday for the first time under a new summer schedule calling for the shortened week, reported today they had received no complaints from their customers. The lines at tellers' windows in many banks yesterday were somewhat longer than usual, but this was caused in part by preparations for the Fourth of July holiday.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported it had not been advised of any inconvenience felt by its foreign customers because of its Saturday closing, nor did it receive any complaints from member banks outside of New York City that did not adopt the Saturday closing schedule.

Saturday's small volume of foreign exchange dealings was handled easily in Boston, Philadelphia, and Chicago, bankers said.

Flour Prices in New York Reduced as Wheat Slumps

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Flour prices, raised several weeks ago when the wheat futures market was advancing, have declined 10 cents a barrel at retail, reflecting the recession in futures, it was learned today.

STOCKS FIRMER, BUT DULLEST IN LAST 17 YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—With volume at the lowest level in 17 years the stock market today idled in a narrow range to close irregularly higher. Turnover of 235,140 shares compared with 224,000 shares on July 3, 1922. In the fourth hour only 20,000 shares were traded.

Cautious investment buying on hopes of business improvement in the next year or so again seemed to account for the most of the gains. Three factors combined to limit interest, observers said. First was the holiday tomorrow, with many traders absent today; second was the confused state of legislative affairs in Washington, and third was the unpredictable foreign situation.

Watch Danzig Situation.

Financial centers on both sides of the Atlantic continued to watch anxiously for the Danzig issue to come to a head, uncertain whether blunt talk of British statesmen meant a showdown on war. Guesses from Wall street quarters mostly were on the side of peace on the assumption Danzig would not be the real spark for a European conflagration. News that the Bank of Danzig had restricted service payments on the city's external debt came after security markets were closed.

Leading steel shares sold fractionally higher despite the drop in the industry's operating rate this week to 38.5 per cent of capacity from 54.3 last week.

United States Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, General Electric, Anaconda, and Socony Vacuum were among the pivotal industrial issues to work higher.

Many Awiations Gain.

A long list of aviation stocks closed fractionally higher. Volume honors went to Aviation corporation. Most merchandising issues gave ground.

Rails held close to Saturday's final quotations. Power and light shares moved in a narrow range. Among the favorites Consolidated Edison, Commonwealth Edison, and Engineers Public Service edged higher. American Telephone and Telegraph spurted 2 points.

Chemicals reflected a slightly better inquiry. Allied Chemical featured with a jump of 12 points, but Union Carbide receded. Westinghouse and Texas corporation were among shares finishing with slight losses.

HEARST RESISTS COURT ACTION BY STOCKHOLDERS

Wilmington, Del., July 3.—[Special.]—A demurrer alleging that the bill of complaint filed in Court of Chancery by two stockholders of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., showed no grounds for action was filed today by American Newspapers, Inc., the Hearst corporation, the Golden Gate Finance corporation, and William R. Hearst. The two who filed the complaint were Robert L. Gossard and William Collie.

The demurrer asserts that alleged grounds for the relief sought occurred from two to nine years ago and that no facts excusing the delay in seeking relief were given in the bill.

The bill asked that the court require the defendant [Hearst] to account in equity for all assets of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., and that the court declare void the transfer of 2,000,000 shares of common stock of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., to the defendant, the Hearst corporation, or any other Hearst organization. It also asked dissolution of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., and appointment of a receiver.

Employment in Britain Improves Over Year Ago

LONDON, July 3.—[Special.]—It is estimated that British employment on June 12 amounted to approximately 12,810,000, an increase of 143,300 over May 15, and an increase of 600,000 over June 13, 1938. Unemployment declined to 1,349,579, off 142,703 from May 15, and a drop of 453,333 from June 13, 1938. The improvement in employment between May 15 and June 12 extended to all but a few industries. It was most marked in building, public works contracting, and agriculture. There was a slight decline in the coal mining industry.

Tribune average net paid total daily circulation during June registered a gain of more than 45,000 over the same month last year—a gain greater than the number of families in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Steps to Widen Chicago Stock Trading Urged

In a search for means to improve Chicago's status as a securities center influential members of the Chicago Stock exchange have renewed efforts to build up their odd lot business in stocks, it was learned yesterday.

Many members have urged the exchange management to resume the Chicago unlisted market, discontinued several years ago. They also have suggested a renewal of the invitation extended last year to leading corporations for the free listing of their securities.

Exchange officials said neither of these proposals had gone beyond the discussion stage, but declared both suggestions had merit. They indicated final action on the plans would be determined by the reaction of important commission house members, as well as the individual traders.

Free Listing Is Aid.

Officials expressed complete satisfaction with the volume of business developing as a result of the free listing of thirty-four important securities between last June and the end of the year, when the offer was terminated.

This brought to sixty-five the number of stocks included in the exchange's optional odd lot system. The primary market in most of these issues is the New York Stock exchange.

In dually listed issues the Chicago price, under the odd lot system, is based on the price at which the next full lot changes hands in New York. A full or round lot is 100 shares in New York. In Chicago the full lot is 100 shares in stocks listed both here and in New York, fifty shares in stocks having specialists, and ten shares where there is no specialist. Other arrangements may be specified by the customer in placing his order.

Helps Maintain Trade.

Inclusion of the New York stocks on the Chicago free list has been the principal factor in maintaining trading volume in Chicago. While trading in all markets has declined, the loss from last year's volume has been relatively less severe in Chicago than elsewhere. Securities and Exchange commission figures for May, the most recent available, show Chicago's decline was 19 per cent from a year ago, whereas all markets combined had a trading volume 37 per cent less than last year.

Exchange officials said that La Salle street brokerage houses are well satisfied with the working of the optional odd lot system, have obtained speedy execution of orders, and have expanded their use of the system.

The proportion of transactions in the odd lot system to total volume has risen steadily from 2.4 per cent in June, 1938, to around 20 per cent at present. The proportion of combined odd lot and round lot trading in the sixty-five issues meanwhile has risen from 32.5 per cent of the volume of all issues to 50 per cent.

Belief System Succeeds.

Exchange members who would like to see the system expanded point to these figures as indicating the success of the system. Many of them believe this is the principal means of obtaining volume so long as SEC regulations make it difficult for smaller businesses to obtain new capital through securities issues.

The expense of registering stocks has been a primary reason for the dearth of new stock issues by corporations which normally would list on one of the exchanges.

In the past Chicago obtained its full share of new issues arising in the middle west. However, many issues which had been listed here and developed into volume leaders have been lost to New York when their markets became nation-wide in scope. Chicago retains many of these issues, but the principal market has shifted to New York. The outstanding exception is Commonwealth Edison, in which a substantial market is maintained in Chicago despite the fact it is listed also in New York.

On the basis of experience to date, Chicago brokers say that the only ones to suffer from an expansion of the odd lot system would be New York odd lot dealers.

GERMAN BUILDING LAGS AS NATION WORKS ON FORTS

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Construction of buildings in Germany in the first quarter of this year fell far below the level of the corresponding period last year, the department of commerce was informed today by the American commercial attache at Berlin.

His report attributed the decline largely to the fact that much effort was devoted to construction of fortifications.

CITY'S BUILDING RECORD BEST IN NEARLY 2 YEARS

BY AL CHASE.

June building permits in Chicago climbed to the highest total since August, 1937, it was disclosed yesterday. According to Building Commissioner Richard Schmidt, permits for buildings of all types valued at $3,534,785 were issued last month. This total compares with $1,933,150 in permits taken out during the same month last year, and with $2,284,550 in May, this year. The June figure is $1,701,635 larger than a year ago.

Richard Schmidt.

Home building again was the outstanding activity of last month's building work. Permits for single family dwellings numbered 325. This was the largest month's total in several years. In June, last year, only 151 permits were taken out. In May, this year, permits were issued for 206 homes.

Number of Permits Increases.

The number of permits for buildings of all types last month also exceeded both the same month last year and the preceding month. Permits for 398 structures were taken out against 198 issued in June, last year, and 266 in May, this year.

The value of buildings of all types for which permits were issued during the first half of this year was nine and a half million dollars larger than during the first six months of last year. So far this year there have been permits for structures valued at $14,540,000. During the same period last year permits totaled $9,037,000.

Home Building Doubles.

Home building in Chicago during the first half of this year was more than 100 per cent larger than during the same period last year. From Jan. 1 to July 1 permits were issued for 1,265 homes. During the first six months of last year permits were taken out for 549 homes.

Nearly all of Chicago's home building is on the fringes of the city, near the suburban area. There is no residential construction in the so-called "blighted areas" and little or none in the old time residential districts beyond the slum areas.

WEEK'S VOLUME OF CHECKS RISES IN MIDDLE WEST

Checks written against individual deposit accounts in banks in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district in the week ended June 28 totaled $1,473,310,000, an increase of 29.6 per cent over the $1,126,622,000 reported for the preceding week. This was disclosed yesterday in the weekly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago covering 159 banks in 41 leading clearing house cities. Compared with the corresponding 1938 week, when the total was $1,011,673,000, the increase was 45.6 per cent.

The total for the Chicago banks alone in the week ended June 28 was $1,019,701,000, against $622,370,000 in the corresponding 1938 week.

A large part of the Chicago gain was attributed to the $121,289,970 check written by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company in connection with its refinancing. Writing of this check caused numerous other checks to be written against deposits.

NEW HAVEN RAIL TRUSTEE IS SUED FOR 17 MILLIONS

Charge Rental Agreement Has Not Been Kept.

Boston, Mass., July 3.—[Special.]—Trustees of the Old Colony railroad today filed a 17 million dollar suit in Superior court against the Bankers Trust Company of New York, individually and as trustee under a mortgage given it by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

The trustees, in their bill, said that the Old Colony leased its property in 1893, together with the property of the Boston & Providence railroad, which it then held under lease of 1888.

The bill contended that on Dec. 9, 1920, the New Haven transferred its leased rights to the Bankers Trust company, with the bank and the road agreeing to pay the Old Colony 7 per cent of dividends on Old Colony stock as rent, and also as interest on the Old Colony bonded indebtedness.

Charges Failure to Pay.

The action charges both respondents had failed to pay sums from Nov. 30, 1935, to June 8, 1936, amounting to $1,564,037. It also charged that they have failed to maintain the Old Colony property, with a resultant damage of $970,000; and also have failed to pay taxes amounting to $1,-104,618.

The respondents failed to return certain properties to the Old Colony, resulting in damage of $4,587,627, the bill sets forth, and failed between Oct. 24, 1935, and June 3, 1936, to operate the railroad, furnish necessary equipment and maintain it in good condition in the amount of $1,-106,317.

Another Rental at Issue.

From January, 1936, to June 3, 1936, the New Haven failed to pay $100,000 as quarterly rental for the Boston and Providence road, the bill states, alleging the latter road was damaged to the extent of $84,191 through lack of necessary equipment and failure to keep the road in good condition.

Other allegations include failure to pay taxes on the Boston & Providence road amounting to $505,740 and failure to pay for permanent improvements totaling $3,101,800.

Eastern Air's June Trafic 53 Pct. Above Year Ago

Eastern Air Lines carried about 19,000 revenue passengers last month, 53 per cent more than in June, 1938, Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, president, announced yesterday.

Investors' Guide

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HOLLAND FURNACE.

Investors' Guide: How are the sales of the Holland Furnace company running so far this year? Is it true the company recently changed its incorporation from Michigan to Delaware and issued new stock in place of the old? What was the basis of this exchange? Is the new stock listed? Has this company been making or losing money in recent years?—L. D. O.

Answer: Sales of Holland Furnace company for the first four months of 1939 were reported 11 per cent ahead of those for the like period of 1938. In the last week of April, the company reported, sales were 34 per cent over those of the corresponding week of last year. Net loss for the quarter ended March 31 declined to $158,644. This compared with loss of $196,412 in the first three months of 1938.

Under a plan of reorganization recently approved by stockholders, a new corporation of the same name was formed. It was incorporated in Delaware last December, succeeding a Michigan company established in 1906. The new corporation was authorized to issue 20,000 shares of $98 par value preferred and 500,000 shares of $10 par common stock. The new stock was issued share for share in exchange for the old company's outstanding shares of no par preferred and no par common stock. Like the old stock, both new classes are listed on the New York Stock exchange.

The company makes, sells and services warm air furnaces for domestic heating. It also manufactures warm air heating systems, and a patented power air unit which converts a warm air heating system into an air conditioning unit. Accessories such as thermostats, automatic regulators, and oil burners made by other companies under Holland specifications are marketed through its sales organization.

Increased activity in the building industry and renovation of old homes returned the company's operations to the profit side in recent years after it showed losses in 1932 and 1933. Sales and net income declined slightly during 1938 after reaching a seven year peak the preceding year. The record for recent fiscal years ended Dec. 31 follows:

	Sales.	Net Income. com. shr.	Inc. per
1937.....	12,290,769	1,421,600	2.90
1936.....	12,184,776	1,383,906	2.87
*1935.....	7,914,597	915,508	1.97
†1934.....	5,641,376	$97,319	$0.40
†1933.....	7,360,527	$2,379,244	$5.76

*For nine months ended Dec. 31, 1935. †Year ended March 31. ‡Loss.

The company now has outstanding 12,590 shares of preferred and 450,442 shares of common stock. An initial dividend of $1.25 a share was paid on the preferred April 1. A smiliar payment was made July 1. On the common an initial dividend of 50 cents a share was paid Feb. 11, and another of the same amount on April 6. A third dividend of 50 cents is payable July 6 to stock of record June 16.

La Salles.
See us tomorrow or any day and pick out a fine La Salle, either a 1938 or 1937, for these are one of the most popular cars built, "according to a recent automotive report," in the market today. They have appearance and performance and the secret of their success is Cadillac engineering. Available are convertibles, coupes and sedans. Prices vary, 1937's as low as $675 and '38's, $945 and up.
